Wheat Down, Gold Up.
China Buys Silver.
Around the World, New Way.
Campaign Gets Queerer.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TODAY'S NEWS for farmers and grain speculators is not cheerful. "December wheat" sold in Chicago at 44⅛ cents a bushel, lowest price on record for all time.

Many farmers that get about twenty-five cents a bushel on the farm before hauling and railroad expenses would be delighted to get forty-four cents.

WHILE WHEAT falls to the lowest price on record, supplies of gold held by central banks and governments of leading countries rise suddenly to an all-time peak, according to the Federal Reserve Board.

In the past quarter, "new gold," meaning gold taken out of the ground, amounted to $120,000,000.

Very cheerful, but you can't eat gold, and, what is even worse, you cannot get any of it, unless you are one of the very few.

CHINA, WITH all her troubles, not paying any attention to gold, has been recently buying silver on a big scale, buying even in New York, which sent China nearly two million ounces during the past month.

The world produces only thirteen times as many ounces of silver as of gold, but an ounce of gold at present prices is worth more than eighty times as much as an ounce of silver. That situation would distress the spirit of the late William Jennings Bryan.

But perhaps things will change, and perhaps China knows it.

There are some wise men in China.

YEARS AGO this column suggested that around-the-world air travel would be conducted as follows:

"Giant lighter-than-air ships will go around the world making repairs in the air, rarely coming down. They will pass over New York, California, Japan, Europe. Passengers for the big cities will step into small, heavier-than-air planes attached to the giant ship, and sail down with their luggage, no need to stop the ship or interfere with its stately course around the earth."

A few years ago that seemed fanciful.

Today Admiral W. A. Moffett, of the Navy Department Bureau of Aeronautics, mentioning that "the United States now leads the world in lighter-than-air ships," writes:

"We have shown that there will be no difficulty whatever in the next airship, which I hope will be of 9,000,000 cubic feet and a commercial airship, carrying an airplane that can land passengers and mail without the slightest difficulty and without interfering with the operation of the airship or any loss of time."

THE IMAGINATION of a few years ago is a reality now. As a preliminary, Congress should pass the McNary-Crosser bill at the beginning of the next session, authorizing the government to take contracts for carrying mail in airships.

IT IS A queer political campaign. Mr. Borah, head of the Foreign Affairs Committee in the Senate, says the most effective speech for President Hoover "was made last night by the distinguished ex-Governor of New York, Mr. Smith."

It was generally understood that Mr. Smith was speaking in support of Gov. Roosevelt, but Senator Borah says it was the best speech yet made for Hoover. Senator Borah denied a published statement that he had said, in consequence of Mr. Smith's speech, he himself, Mr. Borah, would vote for Hoover.

WHAT IS left of England's Labor Cabinet, with MacDonald, a real labor man, who once worked in a coal mine, at the head of it, is puzzled by the labor problem. Even a Labor Prime Minister cannot fight against actual conditions. The idle march on London, a "hunger army" demanding "a bigger and better dole."

Neither labor nor capitalism knows what to do in this world situation.

SOME YOUNG gentlemen of Columbia College, N. Y., think they know what to do.

In a presidential straw vote, Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, got 1,033 votes against 833 for Hoover. Gov. Roosevelt got only 547 votes. There again young theorists will be disappointed. Their candidate, Norman Thomas, will not be elected.

Gov. Roosevelt, in fact, expects to carry 48 of the 48 states, and says so!

BEWARE OF excess weight, especially as you get old. Dr. Barr, professor of medicine in Washington University, St. Louis, issues the warning.

Every pound added to your weight means so many billions of separate cells that must be supplied with food, water, oxygen. The heart of a heavy man is overworked and in old age often gives up and stops. Get rid of as many billions as possible of surplus body cells and diminish the unnecessarily heavy load on your heart.

ALABAMA, yesterday, overriding the Governor's veto, made "imitation beer" legal. Yesterday you could not sell in Alabama anything that even LOOKED like beer.

Now "soft drink" parlors may sell drinks with foam on them and, thanks to human imagination, they expect to do a good business.

ALABAMA, however, refused to "legalize in the state any

Probe Suddenly Shifts From Vast Light Profits Here

BULLETIN.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—Inquiry into the financial transactions of former Public Service Commissioner James S. Benn was begun suddenly today by the Senate Comimttee investigating commission personnel and policies.

Benn, for many years a chief center of Gov. Pinchot's recurrent attacks on the commission, resigned in May, 1931, declaring Pinchot intended to make the commission "A football of politics."

During his first term as Governor, Pinchot lost in the Supreme Court an effort to remove Benn.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—The Duquesne Light Company in the past five years earned from four to nearly five million dollars annually above a "fair return" of 7 per cent, despite a "writeup" of $14,500,000 in 1928, which brought its value for rate-making purposes to $152,000,000, it was shown today in records presented before the state Senate committee probing utility affairs.

The capital on which the company makes a return for tax purposes is $112,000,000, a difference of $40,000,000.

The excess profits over the 7 per cent on $152,000,000 by years were:

1928	$4,000,000
1929	4,667,884
1930	4,532,214
1931	4,945,278

The excess above 7 per cent without the writeup was:

1929	5,810,159
1930	5,678,397
1931	6,103,559

These figures bore out the contention of Oliver K. Eaton, attorney for the committee, that the writeup cost the consumers of Allegheny County $1,000,000 a year.

LAWYER ASKS QUIZ

Miss Kathleen Ainey, daughter of Ainey, former chairman of the commission, did not appear at today's hearing, but w. represented by John P. Connelly, Philadelphia attorney.

Connelly demanded that Mrs. Margaret M. Deasy, of Pittsburgh, who testified last week that Ainey had visited Thompson in his Pittsburgh office of the Philadelphia Company in 1922, be recalled later for cross-examination.

Mrs. Deasy, at one time secretary to Thompson, said that shortly before Ainey's visit Thompson had put through a cash voucher, the money being passed back to Thompson through her.

Connelly declared that Mrs. Deasy had cast "an imputation on

CALLS HOOVER 'PROMOTER'

Describing President Hoover as a man who, although "advertised" as an engineer, has in reality spent his life as "a promoter of foreign mining concessions," Prof. Francis H. Bohlen, of the University of Pennsylvania, said today he is supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt because the Democratic candidate has shown an understanding of economic problems that will lead the country to a stable economic and social order.

A candidate two years ago for the Republican nomination for United States Senator—a campaign he said he entered for the sole purpose of relieving the country from "so-called" prohibition—Prof. Bohlen is speaking tonight in Carnegie Music Hall in support of Gov. Roosevelt.

He said today he regarded himself as a conservative, supporting Roosevelt because of the Democratic party's prohibition stand and because the presidential candidate has shown himself capable of grappling with the economic problems facing the country.

PREACHER'S WIFE SUES FOR BALM

Blames Disappearance Of Husband on Neighbor

SOMERSET, Pa., Oct. 27.—A $30,000 alienation of affections suit is on file here today, brought by the wife of the Rev. Carl T. Whipple, Methodist Episcopal minister, against Mrs. Arabella Glessner, of Berlin, a farmer's wife.

Mrs. Mazie Durbin Whipple, of Washington, Pa., plaintiff in the suit, alleges that her husband deserted her last August, in Washington, Pa., two days after Mrs. Glessner ended a 10-day visit to the Whipple home.

She alleges that Whipple and Mrs. Glessner held clandestine meetings in the cellar of the home in Berlin, occupied by both families, and were discovered by Leon Glessner, husband of the defendant.

Mrs. Whipple further alleges that although she has not heard from her husband since last August, Mrs. Glessner has been sending him money to an address in California.

Mrs. Glessner was missing from her home in Berlin for several weeks after Whipple disappeared, and returned late in September. At that time she said she had been in Youngstown, O., and had not seen Whipple.

Princess Ingrid On Way to London

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Princess Ingrid, of Sweden, whose name has been linked romantically with the Prince of Wales and his younger brother, Prince George, arrives in London tonight for a three weeks' visit.

R. F. C. TO HEAR PINCHOT AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, who has been at loggerheads with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation over relief loans since mid-summer, will appear before directors of the corporation here tomorrow morning.

The Governor, accompanied by members of his state emergency relief organization, will demand further federal funds for the needy throughout his state.

Pinchot originally requested $45,000,000 for Pennsylvania, the limit under the law. For weeks he refused to furnish data demanded by the R. F. C., but finally furnished it for three counties—Philadelphia, Allegheny and Northampton On September 22 he was given a loan for these counties of $2,500,000. When the necessary data was furnished for other counties a further loan of $3,342,183 was advanced on October 4.

It was recently reported Pinchot had allocated only about one-third of the funds Pennsylvania has received from the R. F. C. He will be asked to explain the exact disposition of every dollar.

Husband of Swift Heiress in Reno

RENO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Axel Wichfield, husband of the former Mabelle F. Swift, of the wealthy packing company family, today has established residence here. Efforts to learn if he plans a divorce action were unavailable.

His presence, coupled with that of Josephine (Fifi) Widener, Philadelphia heiress, stopping at the same hotel, revived rumors that linked them in romance last April. He is a former attache of the Danish legation in Washington.

Montagu Norman Seeks To Stampede U. S. By Direful Forebodings

By B. C. FORBES

MONTAGU NORMAN, governor of the Bank of England—known to America also under the alias "Professor Skinner"—has caused dumbfounded amazement by opening his proverbially closed mouth and talking in highly alarmist tones.

His sensational forebodings were followed by a precipitous, serious fall in the value of British currency, British sterling; by a sharp relapse on America's security exchanges; by international echoing of the question, "What is Montagu Norman's motive?"

His motive need not be regarded by Americans as in the slightest degree mysterious.

Common sense, based on past experience, compels these two simple conclusions.

FIRST—AN international economic conference is shortly to be held in London and, naturally, British officials are anxious to impress other countries with the urgent necessity of straining themselves, to the point of sacrifice, to maintain Great Britain as a solvent, going concern.

Second—Britain is obligated to pay the United States some $80,000,000, on war debt account, on December 15. There have been abundant indications that our European war debtors are eager to get out of their solemn obligations to us. It is as old as recorded history for debtors to paint harrowing pictures of their financial condition to their creditors.

It is not extraordinary that the astute Montagu Norman should shout hair-raising warnings that Britain is in such parlous financial state that the world must treat her with the most tender solicitude.

It would be extraordinary if the astute Montagu Norman spoke in any different strain.

European officials talk much about the burdens being borne by their taxpayers.

THE PLAIN TRUTH is that American taxpayers are at this moment staggering under a total loan NEVER BEFORE APPROACHED BY ANY OTHER PEOPLE. Our 1932 federal, state, county and municipal taxes are computed at upwards of fourteen thousand millions, fourteen billions, or more than one-quarter—perhaps nearer one-third—of the income of all the people in this country.

Moreover, we have more unemployed than BRITAIN, GERMANY AND FRANCE COMBINED; indeed, approximately as many as ALL European countries.

Under these circumstances, is it astonishing that the American taxpayer should demand that his plight receive first consideration BY HIS OWN GOVERNMENT, that he should remind debt cancellationists that every dollar written off Europe's bill owed us would fall on his already overladen shoulders? Already our government faces a deficit FAR EXCEEDING THAT OF ANY OF OUR DEBTORS.

Will Washington please take these facts into the reckoning before allowing itself to be stampeded by the calculated utterances of Governor Montagu Norman, alias "Professor Skinner?"

MANY HURT, LOOTING BLOCKED

Unemployed Charge Police in Wild Outbreak

By HARRY K. REYNOLDS
International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Wild rioting and attempted looting, seriously taxing the resources of London police, broke out late this afternoon as 40,000 "hunger marchers" surged into Hyde Park for a mass meeting of protest against cuts in the dole.

Flourishing their truncheons, scores of police waded into the rioters, driving them away from shops and southward into the park.

50 INJURED

It was estimated at least 50 were injured. An elderly woman and a police inspector were among those seriously hurt. They were taken to hospitals.

A careful check of hospitals and police stations failed to furnish any confirmation of reports two had been killed. It was believed the rumor of fatalities arose from the fact that two British airmen were killed in a crash at a nearby flying field at the time the disturbance was at its worst.

The first outbreak occurred when the rear guard of a contingent trooping down crowded Edgeware road suddenly gave way to a flurry of violence. Windows were smashed and looting attempted before mounted police, swinging their truncheons, were able to break up the mob and carry the ringleaders off to jail.

Shortly afterward, another group of rioters attempted to overturn a parked motor car as a gesture of protest against the idle rich. The temper of the crowd reached such a pitch that virtually all shopkeepers in the vicinity of Marble Arch at the north entrance to the park closed and shuttered their stores.

POLICE ATTACKED

While the street rioting was in progress, a group of unemployed locked inside the park suddenly turned and moved menacingly toward an isolated group of police.

Late Poll Figures Show Battle for Grain Belt

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—This is the way the grain belt lines up with the presidential campaign swinging into the final two weeks:

Missouri, Wisconsin and Nebraska, definitely certain for Gov. Roosevelt.

North and South Dakota, reasonably safe for Roosevelt, but with President Hoover holding his Democratic opponent down to his early gains in North Dakota and cutting into his early advantage in South Dakota.

Minnesota and Iowa doubtful, but with the advantage on Roosevelt's side.

Kansas, doubtful, with the advantage on Hoover's side.

This picture of the grain belt is drawn from a study of returns from that area in the nationwide postcard presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in cooperation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

In the tabulation of new returns from that section today, Roosevelt had the advantage in the new ballots from Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and Wisconsin, and Hoover the advantage in the allotment from Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota and South Dakota. The eight states lined up the same way in last week's tabulation.

Considering the returns from these states for the entire roll period, Roosevelt has now drawn 63 per cent from Nebraska, 61 per cent each from Missouri and Wisconsin, 58 per cent from North Dakota, 57 per cent from South Dakota and 54 per cent each from Iowa and Minnesota. Hoover has 53 per cent from Kansas.

'Dr. Stork' Stoned As Babe Goes to 'Wrong' House

GRAFTON, W. Va., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—As Dr. Paul P. Warden emerged from a house where he had ushered a new life into the world, he was greeted by a shower of stones.

He fled to his car and escaped.

Investigating later, he learned that children of a neighbor had wanted a new baby brother or sister and were venting their wrath on the "stork" because he didn't bring one to their house.

No Grafter, Says Judge, Hits County Mail Plan

The county postoffice system is disapproved by Presiding Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Common Pleas Court, who in a letter to the commissioners yesterday said he will not use it because he believes its use would imply that he would graft postage. The letter said:

"I have a very large correspondence in answer to all sorts of letters and communications and I have been paying all of the postage.

"I do not feel that I should be thus out of pocket. I will not send my letters to the County Fostoffice in the Court House. This requires a messenger several times a day and it is an implied admission that I would graft postage.

"I request you to make some arrangement by which I may have postage for public business."

The letter was "put on the table" by the commissioners.

ROOSEVELT CONFERS ON RELIEF FOR NEW YORK JOBLESS

EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE DISCUSSED

Governor Interrupts Presidential Drive In Emergency

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Temporarily laying aside his presidential campaign, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today turned his attention to the relief of New York state's army of unemployed.

The Democratic presidential nominee was to confer at the Capitol with welfare officials and legislative leaders on whether it will be necessary to call the Legislature into special session to appropriate additional relief funds.

If a special session is decided upon, the Governor will summon the lawmakers to Albany the week after election.

$25,000,000 FUND

The state already has appropriated $25,000,000 for relief of the jobless and a $30,000,000 bond issue for the same purpose will be submitted to the voters at the coming election. It is feared, however, by welfare workers that the $25,000,000 will have been completely exhausted before January, which is the earliest possible time that funds from the bond issue could be made available by the 1933 Legislature.

Roosevelt returned to Albany last night to find his desk piled high with state business which had accumulated during his eight-day campaign swing through the Middle West and South.

The first question put to Roosevelt by state officials upon his return related to reports he planned to resign as Governor immediately after election in the event both he and Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, are elected.

The Governor told various members of his cabinet:

"It's just another fairy story."

The Governor will leave Albany on Saturday for his third and final invasion of New England. He will motor to Groton, Mass., by way of the Mohawk trail, stopping for brief speeches from his automobile in Williamstown, North Adams, Greenfield and Fitchburg.

He is due to arrive in Groton, where two of his younger sons, Franklin, Jr., and John, are attending Groton, a private school, late Saturday afternoon. He will remain there until Monday morning.

BOSTON SPEECH

Roosevelt is scheduled to deliver one of the major speeches of the campaign in Boston Monday night, but it is barely possible he will motor directly from Groton to Portland, Me., for a midday speech in the Pine Tree state and then continue on to Boston, arriving there in time for his night speech.

Democratic leaders have told the Governor that one speech by him in Maine before he closes his campaign will clinch that state for the Democratic national ticket. The Democratic victory in the recent state election in Maine has convinced Gov. Roosevelt that the national ticket has better than an even chance of carrying the state and he wants to do everything possible to help it along.

Also, if Roosevelt decides to motor to Portland from Groton, it will give him an opportunity to go through a part of New Hampshire and say a few words in behalf of the national ticket.

Roosevelt said his campaign plans immediately after his Boston speech were indefinite, but it was reported that he may speak in Providence on Tuesday night. The Governor has not been in Rhode Island since he opened his campaign and he has been besieged with requests from Democratic leaders that he make at least one speech in the state.

Elliott Roosevelt Speaks For Father

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Actively enlisted in the current campaign today, the first political speech which young Elliott Roosevelt made was in support of the presidential race of his father, Gov. Roosevelt.

Addressing foreign language editors and publishers, he said:

"Certain policies carried out by the Republican administration in the last four years caused the depression."

hurling handfuls of mud, turf and rocks.

Police reinforcements were rushed to the scene and tore into the rioters. The unemployed resisted each attack with volleys of missiles picked up from the soil of the park.

The rioters then got completely out of hand. Tearing up small trees and ripping down iron fences, they charged into the police, who were temporarily compelled to retreat to the park gates before reforming their ranks and answering the charge with a new onslaught.

Some of the rioters concentrated their activities to exciting the horses of mounted policemen. Several of the animals bolted in terror.

Heavy police reinforcements rushed to the north entrance when the wild disorders broke out eventually succeeded in clearing the spot of the main body of rioters. They were thrust out after repeated charges into nearby Edgeware road, where the narrow confines of the street enabled them to be controlled with greater ease.

OFFICERS PRESSED

Although all available policemen were on duty, the authorities were hard put to keep the rioters under control. It took 30 husky Bobbies, armed with truncheons, to arrest one man they believed responsible for much of the rioting.

The rioters broke the windows of the Cumberland Place postoffice. One brick crashed through a window of a "pub" in Edgeware road and a number of the demonstrators leaped for the bottled refreshments displayed among the shattered glass.

Hooligans swarmed over automobiles parked in side streets near Marble Arch, threatening to turn them end over end unless given money. Police repeatedly charged the vandals, but as soon as the constables turned elsewhere, the rioters started in again. Owners of the threatened automobiles were terror-stricken.

As the group of torn and tattered demonstrators marched on Hyde Park, above their heads waved Communist banners and the hammer and sickle emblem. In the arms of many London women marchers were tiny babies and struggling children.

LINDY SWINDLER KNOWN, HE SAYS

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA

SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 27.—In a statement dictated exclusively to International News Service this afternoon, "Jean Saul," the man arrested Tuesday night, reiterated that he knew to whom the $50,000 ransom money had been paid by Col. Lindbergh after the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. Saul said:

"I know who got the Lindbergh ransom, but I won't tell that to anyone in Europe. I am not giving my real name because a number of people know me in the United States."

Told that doubt had been expressed that he was telling the truth, "Saul" asserted that he not only knew the United States well, but that he had been "in every big city in America" and that he knew many persons there.

HOOVER RENEWS DESPERATE DRIVE

Speech in Phila. Shows Anxiety of G. O. P. For State

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A campaign finish such as no President since Taft has felt it necessary to undertake in the closing days has been mapped out for President Hoover from today to November 8.

Tomorrow and Saturday will see Mr. Hoover invading the Middle West again for the fourth time, with brief talks scheduled in 14 cities in West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana, and culminating in a major speech at Indianapolis tomorrow night.

A day of rest on Sunday and he will again take the political trail on Monday, leading this time along the Atlantic seaboard states, with four major speeches scheduled at Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark and New York.

FIGHTS FOR PHILADELPHIA

Few Republican presidents or Republican presidential candidates have considered it necessary to speak in Philadelphia, which quadrennially rolls up enormous Republican majorities under the expert direction of the Vare machine.

Yet this year the news from Pennsylvania has been so perturbing to the Republican high command they felt it advisable to have Mr. Hoover make a personal appearance there.

The President will speak in Philadelphia at Reyburn Plaza Monday afternoon. He will be introduced to his audience by none other than William S. Vare, the boss of the only organization which can rival Tammany in its political grip on a large city.

DEPEND ON VARE

Vare has been represented as none too cordial in his regard for the administration since being denied his seat in the Senate a few years ago, but when the White House sent Senator David A. Reed to see him 10 days ago, the Philadelphia boss sent back word that the organization would roll up "the usual majority" for the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

The "usual majority" in Philadelphia runs from 200,000 upward. A considerable part of that may be necessary to offset Democratic gains in Western Pennsylvania and the rural and hard coal regions, if the straw votes and polls are telling the true story of Pennsylvania's leaning.

Thomas Plans Giving Talk at Hoover Site

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, will seek permission today to make a campaign address at a meeting on Reyburn Plaza tomorrow, according to an announcement of Franz Daniel, Socialist candidate for Congress from the Fifth District. Daniel said:

"President Hoover has decided to speak at the Plaza on Monday and we decided to beat him to it. We have as much right to use it as he has."

SMITH REVEALS QUICK WAY TO ASSURE BEER

11 Words, Added to Volstead Act, All Needed, He Says

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A simple, direct way exists today for legalization of beer and ales of any alcoholic content, in the opinion of ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

That is to add to the Volstead act these 11 words:

"Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to apply to malted liquors."

He surprised a large gathering with this suggestion when he spoke last night at the testimonial dinner to Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, head of the New York division of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

The fight to repeal prohibition is already won, Smith said, and should be followed immediately by a crusade to rid American politics of the direct primary.

James M. Beck, Pennsylvania, joined in a proposal to change the method of amending the United States Constitution and suggested future amendments should require ratification by states representing a majority of the population of the United States.

Hoover Beer Plan Only Solution, Says Mills

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The Republican stand on the Eighteenth Amendment, Secretary of the Treasury Mills said in a campaign speech last night, "offers the only practical solution." He added:

"If you want to wait for a generation, support the Democratic program. If you want a change in the near future, the Republican program offers the only practical solution."

Mills stated that the prohibition program of President Hoover would permit prompt action in correction of existing evils while affording definite barriers to the return of old ones.

The Democratic program for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, he said, is not practical.

McBride Says Drys Can Win Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—In the opinion of F. Scott McBride, enough drys have been nominated to make possible the election of a Congress that will defeat repeal or modification.

The general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League made this statement formally last night. He continued:

"Al Smith's now admitted authorship of the beer and repeal plank, continued failure of the wet forces to present a substitute solution of the liquor problem and the growing conviction that beer competition would decrease sales of other commodities and further decrease employment have definitely lessened the chance for modification or repeal by the presen tor next Congress."

JUDGE UPHOLDS DRY 'PEEPERS'

Dry agents are not violating rights of personal liberty and private property when they look through an open window, thereby obtaining evidence of alleged liquor law violations, Judge F. P. Schoonmaker ruled in Federal Court, today.

The court denied the petition of the Croation Beneficial Association to suppress evidence obtained when prohibition agents raided its club rooms, 236 Fourth street, Rankin, March 31. The association held the agents in looking from an adjacent lot into the basement of the club were violating the "indefeasible rights" of the club. Because of what they saw they obtained a search warrant.

Judge Schoonmaker held there was no deception practiced by the agents and if the club members desired to keep persons from looking in and odors escaping, they should have kept the window and shades down.

SECRET 6 HEAD TELLS OF BRIBE

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Col. Robert Isham Randolph, head of Chicago's Secret Six, spent half an hour before a grand jury today amplifying a charge that his investigators tested the integrity of the state's attorney's office with a $100 bribe.

Randolph and Alexander Jamie, chief investigator for the Secret Six, have charged their agents obtained secret prosecution information concerning four criminal cases by paying $100 to someone in State's Attorney John A. Swanson's office.

Swanson ordered the investigation immediately after the Secret Six charges were made public. He asserted the charges were part of a campaign against his re-election.

Offers 4 Children To Get Relief Fund

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Informed that the county cannot grant relief to persons who refuse to relinquish their property as security, Tony Savone, of Madison, offered his four children.

Thereupon he departed. Mrs. Ruth Welton, relief worker, later returned the children to their home, but Savone said he would take them back as soon as his scant food supply is depleted.

CUTTING BACKS ROOSEVELT

DENVER, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—In a double-barreled barrage against President Hoover's record in office, United States Senator Bronson Cutting, Progressive Republican, of New Mexico, has announced his intention to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt for President.

Senator Cutting in a nation-wide broadcast last night praised Roosevelt as an "idealist who has been able to put many of his ideals into practice," and declared the Democratic candidate "is his own master and makes his own decisions."

He expressed disappointment over the President's action in the last four years, listing as his reasons, the cabinet selected by President Hoover; his judicial and diplomatic appointments; his attitude on the power issue and his policy relative to existing economic conditions. He concluded:

"No president in history has been more amenable to dictation of party bosses and politicians have never had a more docile yes-man in the White House."

Cox to Take Stump For Gov. Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Democratic national headquarters announced today that James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio and Democratic candidate for President in 1920, will make two major speeches in behalf of the Democratic national ticket.

He will speak tomorrow night at Charleston, W. Va., and next Wednesday at Cincinnati.

Engages Ambulance To Assure His Vote

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Nothing is going to stop J. Edward Kilgore, University of Nebraska senior, from voting. Ill in a hospital, he arranged for an ambulance to take him to the polls Saturday so he can register.

Crash Into Building Halts Auto Cha...

Speeding from the irate driver of an automobile he had struck, police said, William Laugenbaugh, 33, of 1227 Monterey street, crashed into a building at Yantley way and East Park way early today.

Laugenbaugh was accused by Anthony Spalla, of 1707 Locust street, of colliding with his automobile in East Park way and failing to stop. Spalla sped after him and overtook Laugenbaugh when he struck the building. Laugenbaugh was charged with violating the automobile laws.

Sen. Norris Urges La Guardia's Return

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Re-election of Representative La Guardia (Rep., N. Y.) was urged today by Senator Norris, (Rep.) of Nebraska. In a letter made public here La Guardia's return is necessary if "righteousness and honesty are to prevail in government," and his defeat would be "a grievous loss" to progressive ideas, the letter said.

Stimson Aide Predicts Cut in War Debts

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Downward revision of Europe's $11,000,000,000 war debts to the United States was forecast today by Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, Jr., in a "non-political" speech before the Cleveland Rotary Club.

At the same time he warned the European debtors they cannot hope for outright cancellation by either the Republican or the Democratic parties of the United States. Both parties have gone on record in their political platforms as being opposed to cancellation, he said, adding:

"In neither case does this necessarily mean there shall be no discussion of the matter with foreign powers, no accommodation, no amelioration of the terms of the debts."

Castle said the United States must continue the role of a "generous creditor" nation, but added that whatever arrangements are made in the revision of the debts "must be for the benefit of the United States."

Castle also took occasion to deny responsibility of the State Department for the flotation in this country of enormous sums of foreign bonds. He said that although he, personally, had been called "a liar" on this point by some individuals in this country, he must repeat that the State Department never had taken any responsibility in connection with these private bond flotations, and never had advised "on the business risks" involved.

Newark Talk 'Squeals' No Surprise to Smith

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Commenting on his Newark speech in which he spoke of alleged religious bigotry during the 928 presidential campaign, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith said today:

"Of course it's been roasted by the Republican papers because they didn't like it.

"I didn't go down there to be kind to the Republicans, you know, and it's the stuck pig that always squeals."

As he left for New England to continue his campaign for the Democratic ticket with a brief informal speech at Providence, R. I., his afternoon and the second major speech at Boston tonight, he 1928 presidential candidate said that his Newark speech stands by itself."

Smith made reference to reports that Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, had called his Newark speech the best address of the campaign for President Hoover. He said:

"Of course Senator Borah would say that, because Senator Borah is not for me and he is certainly not for Roosevelt."

Meanwhile representatives of Smith said today that the former Governor's address in Buffalo, N. Y., on Saturday night will be broadcast over an independent hookup of six New York State radio stations.

An official of the Columbia Broadcasting Company said late yesterday his chain originally had planned to make a broadcast for the Democratic National Committee from Buffalo that night, but that arrangements had been changed to permit the picking up of an address by John W. Davis, Democratic standard bearer in 1924, from Ithaca instead.

QUEEN MARIE LINKED IN PLOT TO OVERTHROW CAROL

MAGDA BLOCKS HELEN'S OFFER TO RETURN

Hint Dowager Plans Hungarian Union, Hapsburg Rule

International News Service.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 27.—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania was rumored today to be plotting the overthrow of her son, King Carol, from the Rumanian throne.

Prince Barbu Stirbey, former Rumanian premier, enemy of Carol and long a friend of Queen Marie, was said to be holding long conferences with Hungarian politicians with a view to ousting Carol and creating a personal union of Hungary and Rumania under the rule of one of the Hapsburgs, possibly the Archduke Otto.

MAGDA WON'T QUIT

SINAIA, Rumania, Oct. 27.—(Universal.)—Mme. Magda Lupescu, favorite of King Carol II, does not intend to leave Rumania in order to make possible an outward conciliation between the King and Princess Helen, the wife who divorced him.

This was learned here in Sinaia, where Mme. Lupescu, who clung to Carol all through his exile, is installed as a veritable "uncrowned queen" in a costly villa.

Carol's affection for Mme. Lupescu, who appears prettier than ever, is apparently unchanged.

HELEN'S DEMANDS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Former Queen Helen, who came here early in the week for Prince Michael's 11th birthday, was reported today to have served a series of demands upon Premier Maniu to govern her future relations with her son.

First, it was said, she demanded that she be permitted to see the boy more frequently. Second, she wants the privilege of living in Rumania in her own palace, and third she wants her allowance restored to $35,000 a year, its level before a 22 per cent reduction effected when the government made a general wage cut.

Ruth Nichols to Seek Hoover Votes on Flight

MISS RUTH NICHOLS . . ONCE FOR HOOVER, ONCE FOR GLORY

YOUNG MOTHER HELD AS CHILD KIDNAPER

Found in Shack With Baby Taken From Luxury Home

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ruth Borman, 17-year-old mother, was found at a residence in Newhall, Los Angeles suburb, today with her 3-year-old daughter, Nancy Ruth Buchanan, who was kidnaped yesterday from the home of her guardian, Mrs. Violet C. Buchanan, wealthy Los Angeles resident.

The mother was located with her child after police had questioned M. E. Warner, 24, a friend of Mrs. Borman, who told authorities he had driven her to the home of Mrs. Buchanan, where she entered the nursery and took her child yesterday.

REVEALS HIDING PLACE

Warner supplied police with the address of a Newhall residence, where he drove Mrs. Borman and Nancy.

The trio was taken to a San Fernando police sub-station and officers began taking statements.

Mrs. Buchanan was given guardianship rights after having taken the child into her home shortly after birth.

Mrs. Buchanan, officers were informed, attempted to adopt the little girl, but Mrs. Borman opposed the proceedings, which were pending when the child was carried away.

When police reached the Newhall address, which proved to be a small shack on the outskirts of the town, they found the mother asleep with her daughter.

At the police station she confronted Mrs. Buchanan, and with tears streaming down her face, told a story of an intense longing for her daughter, which finally drove her to carry the child away from the home of her new guardian.

When police mentioned a "kidnaping," she turned on them scornfully, crying out:

"She is my baby, even if the courts say she belongs to Mrs. Buchanan."

Acting Capt. V. P. Rasmussen, however, placed the mother and Warner under technical arrest, and said he would hold them on suspicion of kidnaping.

Rasmussen said he had found a typewriter in the home where the mother had taken the girl and would ask experts to study the type in an attempt to determine whether it corresponded to that of the machine on which were written extortion notes threatening Mrs. Buchanan with abduction of the child if she failed to pay $12,500.

ELUDES FOUR GUESTS

The kidnaping occurred about one and a half months after Mrs. Buchanan had received two extortion notes.

Although Mrs. Buchanan was absent from her home at the time of the kidnaping, four guests, three men and a woman, were in the house. The woman was in a room adjoining the nursery, but neither she nor the men heard any disturbance, they told police.

The crime was discovered by the child's nurse when she entered the nursery to awaken the little girl from a nap. The kidnapers stripped the room of all bedding, presumably wrapping the girl in it to muffle any cries. The nurse put the child to bed about 1:30 p. m., yesterday and did not return to the nursery until two hours later.

CO-ED, 14 BOYS SEIZED IN RIOT OF STUDENTS

750 Clash With Police In N. Y. Free-for-All, Disrupt Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—A siege of the White Way's famous night court by 750 college students ended early today in suspended sentences for 14 youths and a co-ed, seized by charging police reserves.

Free-for-all fisticuffs featured the demonstration, which swirled in front of the building, forcing Magistrate August Dreyer to adjourn court because all his policemen were outside helping quell the students.

DEMAND FREE SPEECH

The demonstration grew from a protest meeting by students who demanded "free speech" and reinstatement of Oakley Johnson, economist, who was dropped from the faculty of the College of the City of New York.

Student supporters said Johnson was dismissed as a Communist sympathizer. College officials, denying this, said he was an "extra" instructor dropped because of a budget cut.

One hundred and fifty members of the college Liberal Club gathered to protest last night in a college building. Police, called by an assistant librarian, charged them in a flying wedge and ejected them. Prof. Donald Henderson, economics instructor, and three students were arrested charged with disorderly conduct.

MARCH TO COURT

Crowds of students followed them to night court, scene of many a midnight drama. Marching up and down the street, they cried:

"Free our students! Free Prof. Henderson!"

The magistrate, unable to hear testimony, ordered all policemen present to quell the demonstration. Reserves were called and they charged through the marching column, splitting it into minor groups which were dispersed amid flying fists.

The magistrate, before setting the students free, told them:

"You should have more respect for the American flag and the courts."

Prof. Henderson and the three youths arrested earlier were paroled in the custody of Attorney Allen Taub for a hearing later today.

BOY, 16, SLAIN GUARDING BARN

Victor Kisso, 16, was dead today in his father's farmhouse near Leechburg, victim of an accidental shooting which occurred yesterday while he and a younger brother lay in wait for chicken thieves who had been raiding the barn.

At daybreak Andrew Kisso, 14, began unloading a rifle he and his brother had taken to the barn in their vigil for thieves. Andrew, believing the rifle empty, pressed the trigger, it was said. Victor, standing directly in front of his younger brother, fell with the bullet in his head. Eight hours later he died in Allegheny Valley Hospital at Tarentum.

Woman, 79, Hears Own Funeral Sermon

FREEPORT, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Why wait until death comes to hear one's funeral sermon, Mrs. Mary Hall, 79, asked herself. Then she summoned the Rev. George Auman, pastor of the United Brethren Church, and had him preach her funeral sermon. Members of the family of Mrs. Hall, who is ill with heart trouble, attended the services at her bedside.

Curtis Pleads Tariff As Aid to Farmers

LIMA, O., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The Republican tariff was described by Vice President Curtis in an address last night as an important protection for American farmers.

Although the United States is a large exporter of wheat, Curtis said, it needs Republican protective tariffs.

Merchant Convicted In $5 Store Fire

Sigmund Block, 45, was convicted of arson and intent to defraud an insurance company in connection with a fire in his store at 1804 Center avenue by a jury in Criminal Court today. Sentence was deferred pending application for a new trial. Firemen testified the fire loss was $5.

Aviatrix to Scatter Posters on Trip To West Coast

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Ruth Nichols, famous aviatrix, will hop off on a transcontinental flight in behalf of President Hoover's re-election at midnight Friday from Lloyd Bennett Field, it was learned today.

Miss Nichols intends to drop posters along the route of the nonstop flight.

The plane is the same one Miss Nichols used in her attempt to cross the ocean. It has been repainted, with the words "Stand by Your President" painted on the side.

It was learned that Miss Nichols will sail with her plane for Honolulu. She plans to attempt a flight to San Francisco as soon as weather permits. No one has flown the 2,098-mile reverse course, although two Dole fliers flew from California to Honolulu several years ago.

Mexican Consul Here Transferred

Luis Perez-Abreu, Mexican consul in Pittsburgh, has been transferred to Oklahoma City, Okla., and will leave for his new post next week, the consulate announced today. Pending the arrival of his successor, E. Malvido, secretary of the consul, will be in charge of the office.

Child Running Home To Plan Party Killed

HUNT PALS OF 3 IN 8 HOLDUPS

Three men who police say confessed participation in eight stickups in gas stations and restaurants, today were being questioned by police while other officers sought two of their alleged companions.

Robert West, 22, Negro, of 1 Havre street; Richard Syphan, 17, of 1546 Wylie avenue, and Fred Jabour, 23, of 51 Fullerton street, were picked up last night by Daniel McGreevy and John Socker, crew of a radio car, in a darkened auto, parked in Cruger way, near South Aiken avenue. Two revolvers were found in the auto.

According to police, the men admitted robbing the Gulf service station on Noblestown road twice, together with other gas stations and restaurants.

While Jabour was being questioned at 3 a. m. today, his disappearance was broadcast by air and teletype, on a request of relatives.

Westinghouse Raises 2 Ex-Vice Presidents

Two former commercial vice presidents of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company have been restored to their executive positions by the board of directors, meeting in New York, President F. A. Merrick announced today.

The two are C. E. Stephens and N. G. Symonds. Stephens will have headquarters in New York while Symonds will come to East Pittsburgh from Chicago to have charge of sales.

POISONS CHILD, HAS NEW BABY

BARNESBORO, Pa., Oct. 27.—A 6-year-old child is dead from poison administered by her mother shortly before she gave birth to another child. The mother, who also took poison, is expected to recover. The newborn infant is likely to live.

Lottie Larock, 6, died in her home, an hour before Mrs. Dorothy Larock, 33, of Kinport, gave birth to a baby in Spangler Hospital.

Mrs. Larock, mother of three other children, said, according to police, that she gave the child poison and attempted to end her own life because her husband, idle 10 months, was unable to get work.

GREAT MELLON PILLARS SET

The last of the 60-ton pillars surrounding the new Mellon Institute Building, Bellefield and Fifth avenues, was in place today. It makes 62 in all.

Besides being the largest moving job of its kind ever performed here, it was the most successful. Not a pillar was as much as nicked. Dwarfing even the classical task of the builders of the Temple of Parthenon, the workmen set the last limestone cylinder into place 35 days ahead of schedule.

Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute, who was on hand yesterday afternoon to watch the pillar slide into place, said:

"Nobody knows how we worried over this job. It started three years ago when the pillars were quarried. They were turned last year and now they are up. I'm glad its over."

With Dr. Weidlein, watching the erection of the last 36½ foot column were Dr. H. S. Coleman, assistant director of the Institute; J. B. Kelly, vice president of the Mellon-Stewart Company; Dr. Charles Reitell, of the Greater Pennsylvania Council, Harrisburg, and Dr. R. R. Mellon, director of the Institute of Pathology of Western Pennsylvania.

2 Schools May Close To Halt Diphtheria

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Closing of two North Union Township schools may be necessary, it appeared today, to halt spread of diphtheria and scarlet fever, which has stricken more than 20 pupils.

Twenty-two quarantines have been established at Mt. Independence where 10 cases of diphtheria have developed. Nine cases of scarlet fever have been reported at the homes of Thaw School students. Two diphtheria patients have died.

Father Jailed, Sons Freed in Food Theft

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 27.—Captured with three sacks of allegedly stolen cabbages, Michael Lee, 17, and Sam Lee, 19, said they were removing them for their father, Tom Lee, 40, of Ellsworth. The father, charged with the theft of the cabbages, was sentenced to three months in the workhouse. The boys were discharged.

BOY SCOUTS AID CHILD SEARCH

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The fate of 8-year-old Ebert Holleron, missing since Saturday, continued today a mystery.

No definite trace of the boy's whereabouts has been found since he left his home here to visit a friend.

Police Capt. John Fleming, assigned to the case, compared the case to the unsolved mystery of Melvin Horst, the 4-year-old Orrville (O.) boy who disappeared December 27, 1928. No trace ever was found of the child.

Capt. Fleming and a squad of searchers hunted yesterday through two parks, and along the old canal in Cuyahoga Heights, and today 50 Boy Scouts joined in the search.

5 Biggest Families To Get Free Homes

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Duke Visconti, mayor of Milan, tomorrow will give five bungalows to families with the largest number of children.

This is on the occasion of Fascism's tenth anniversary and follows the example of the Governor of Rome, under the inspiration of Mussolini's bigger population campaign.

Halloween Prank Warning Given

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—For soaping automobile windows and windshields, even on Halloween, highway patrol officials warn, there is a penalty of $25 fine and costs, or 10 days' imprisonment.

Capt. Wilson C. Price, head of the patrol, announces that patrolmen will arrest all persons—children and adults—for this offense.

ROONEY SPECIAL TAGS EXPLAINED

Art Rooney, the North Side politician, has legislative license plates on his car because his brother, Assemblyman James P. Rooney, so requested.

This was admitted today in Harrisburg by the Department of Revenue, which made this statement:

"Representative Rooney wrote the Bureau of Motor Vehicles to the effect that the car was owned jointly by himself and his brother. That he would be using it. And that therefore he would like the legislative plates, assigned to him, assigned to the car in question."

Art Rooney's good fortune was revealed when his car, stolen Monday in Pittsburgh, was recovered yesterday in Ingomar.

Gandhi Must Obey To Obtain Freedom

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 27.—United States Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, will address a rally of Republican voters here tomorrow evening.

Ownership Test Fails, Dog Still Just 'Hobo'

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—A lost German shepherd dog, called "Hobo" by police, still was without a home today because the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals lacks a King Solomon.

There were two claimants. Miss Esther Moon said she was sure "Hobo" was really her lost "Fritz."

James Mele, 16, interrupted:

"No, sir! That is no other than my 'Boy.'"

Mele said his dog liked to play with a hose. One was produced and immediately the dog started romping with it.

Miss Moon countered:

"That was just an accident. You can tell it is 'Fritz' if he carries a newspaper."

A paper was produced and "Hobo," or "Fritz," or "Boy," proudly walked over to the kennel with it.

A veterinarian suggested inclosing both claimants and the dog in an exercise pen. They were warned not to pet the dog or show any affection.

But the dog, failing to receive any appreciation, sat in a far corner.

A somewhat distracted group then started out to find some new lost dog identification tests.

Pope Assails Modern Religious Art

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The Pope strongly condemned modern art, especially as it dealt with religious subjects, when he inaugurated today a new picture gallery in Vatican City.

The ceremony was attended by 18 cardinals, who heard the pontiff declare that the new school of painting resolved itself "into caricature and even profanation" in touching religious subjects. He recommended that the bishops of the world be doubly careful of the art they permit to be introduced in churches.

The Pope said:

"The list of masterpieces in this gallery shows how religious sentiment is capable of full development in any art, any epoch and any surrounding, as long as art remains faithful to its inspiration."

The Pope said he grieved because "false art can be found in many churches which house God and prayer." He said artists should always remember that religious art "must be in conformity with the religious."

PROBERS TOLD OF BIG LIGHT PROFITS

two dead men, in the memory of at least one of whom I am vitally interested." He added:

"We believe her statements were grossly improper and untrue, and not borne out by the facts in this case."

The committee agreed to recall Mrs. Deasy later for cross-examination by Connelly.

Connelly offered to co-operate with Eaton in examining all bank accounts of Ainey.

HOLDS FIGURES UNFAIR

The testimony on the excessive profits of the light company was brought out in questioning of B. F. Morgal, chief of the Bureau of Accounts, of the Public Service Commission.

John G. Frazer, counsel for the Duquesne Light Company, objected to introduction of the figures, claiming they were based on uncompleted reports to the Commission, were its own figures, and that the utility had had no opportunity to attack them. Frazer protested:

"This report is not sufficiently definite to take in evidence here. A very grave injustice will be done by the publication of figures the Commission itself says were only tentative."

Morgal said the figures were accurate, but was not certain the premises on which the calculations were based were correct.

Admittedly the figures are not final, insofar as the company has had a chance to protest against them. Morgal said no objection had been filed by the company.

SCORED BY SALUS

The attitude of the Commission, declining to furnish the figures until subpenaed, drew fire from Senator Salus, of Philadelphia, political foe of Gov. Pinchot. He said:

"I thought this new Commission was the friend of the people. Now we see it protecting the utilities."

The reluctance of the Commission to furnish data to the Committee may be the basis for legislation that Commission records be open to the public.

When Eaton several days ago asked Dr. Clyde King, chairman of the Commission, to permit inspection of the records as a background of his questioning of C. S. Mitchell, controller of the Philadelphia Company, parent of the Duquesne Light, he was refused. Yesterday under the authority of the committee, Eaton subpenaed the records he wished.

CLASH OVER RECORDS

When the Committee resumed its inquiry today Eaton summoned Morgal, who had only a portion of the records desired. In a clash with Eaton, it was brought from the witness that the Commision in 1928, over the signature of the late W. D. B. Ainey, former chairman, had issued a regulation that records could be made public only when the Commission considered such action to be in "the public interest." Eaton asked:

"Prior to being served with a subpena did you know this Committee wanted certain records, and had requested them by formal letter?"

"I did."

"Who instructed you not to submit those records?"

"Dr. King, present chairman of the commission."

Eaton and Morgal again clashed over some memoranda the witness did not have, though it had been subpenaed.

Eaton said the memoranda was necessary, and ordered that Louis Tevell, secretary of the Commission, also under subpena, telephone to the commission offices for the papers.

WARNED BY SALUS

Senator Salus entered the argument with the admonition to the witness:

"You're not going to spar with this committee. You might as well understand that, so you will know where you are."

Eaton then proceeded with the examination of the witness in an effort to bring out how the Duquesne Light Company had arrived at its valuation for rate making purposes.

The committee room today was crowded with utility officials. Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company, sat in a front row, though he is not under subpena.

He was flanked by A. W. Robertson, former president of the company, who is to be asked about utility propaganda in the schools, and Frazer.

Efforts to synchronize bank records of the late A. W. Thompson, former head of the Philadelphia Company, with checks he is alleged to have drawn for the payment of Ainey's bills in Johns Hopkins Hospital in 1926, were temporarily blocked when it developed that neither the Farmers Deposit Bank or the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh separate check withdrawals on their ledger entries when more than two checks are credited in a single day.

HOSPITAL RECORDS

Ledger sheets of the hospital were put into evidence, noting at various dates payments on Ainey's bill by checks drawn on these two banks. C. H. Temme, assistant cashier of the Farmers, was asked if his ledger sheets checked with those of the hospital. Then came the explanation that all checks to Thompson's account for a single day were lumped.

Eaton immediately set Auditor Rush at work on the sheets in an endeavor to separate the amounts.

One hospital record showed payment by check on the Mellon Bank on January 15, 1926, of $303.20. The records of the bank showed that on January 22 a like amount was shown to have been drawn against the bank by Thompson.

It was immediately following the charge by Gov. Pinchot last summer that Ainey's hospital bills had been paid by Thompson that the late chairman resigned as head of the Commission.

PLANS VALUATION BOOST

At the afternoon session Frazer brought from Morgal that the Duquesne Light Company intends its valuation should be increased, which would reduce the percentage of earnings.

No one has approved the valuations fixed by the Bureau of Accounts, Morgal said.

Morgal explained that to bring the public such data as was introduced before the committee today might embarrass the Public Service Commission and prevent it obtaining information.

Morgal said that a conference between his bureau and the engineering branch of the commission and engineers of the South Pittsburgh Water Company had failed to reach an amicable basis of valuation for rate-making, but that a reduction had occurred. Senator Rial asked:

"Was that satisfactory to the people of Pittsburgh?"

"It was."

'No Taxes, No Water,' Chicago Council Edict

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—"No taxes—no water"—that is the edict that has gone out from the Chicago City Council to end the so-called tax strike in Cook County.

By authority of a resolution adopted by Council yesterday, the commissioner of public works will be empowered to refuse water service to any large property owner who is able to pay his taxes but has refused to do so.

Sheriff Compelled To Fire Wife, Son

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (Universal.)—Sheriff Gilmore Bush, of Orange County, was forced to the painful official duty yesterday of firing his wife, Mrs. Hattie Bush, employed as a matron, and his son, Adrian, process server. He agreed to recommendations of county supervisors following an inquiry into the escape from Goshen jail of Joseph Quinn, desperado.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States. It also shows the majority that each candidate has in each state in which he is leading. In addition it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each state as compared with the last preceding report from the state. These state reports are usually a week apart. The final feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each state where he has improved his position as compared with the preceding report from that state.

Democrats Set To Hear Vote Returns

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Although the election is still two weeks off, Democratic National headquarters today was thinking about getting the returns.

On the nineteenth floor of the hotel from which the party's campaign has been directed, Gov. Roosevelt, Campaign Director James A. Farley and other party leaders will gather to receive news of how the results is going. Farley said:

"It was in this same building, don't forget, that on election night in 1930, when Gov. Roosevelt was re-elected by such a landslide, I predicted he would be the next President of the United States."

HOOVER CHANCE TO HOLD KY. LOOKS SLIM

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—It would take little less than a political miracle for the Republicans to take Kentucky away from the Democrats this year.

The Democratic sweep of the Blue Grass state is so complete that in only one Congressional district, the Eleventh, down in the southeast mountains along the Tennessee-Virginia border, do the Republicans appear to have a chance to obtain a district majority.

And this, four years after President Hoover swept the state with a lead of 177,000.

Even Jefferson County, the city of Louisville and its suburbs, which four years ago returned a 33,000 Republican majority, this year appears Democratic by a 10,000 margin.

This estimate of the situation in Kentucky is based on an analysis of returns in the nationwide postcard presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

The poll shows Roosevelt leading in the First District by 77 per cent, the Second by 68 per cent, the Third, 66; the Fourth, 67; the Fifth (Louisville), 53; the Sixth, 64; the Seventh and Eighth, 65 each; the Ninth, 63; the Tenth, 53, and the Eleventh, the only one on the Republican side, 54 for Hoover.

Inasmuch as Gov. Roosevelt carried his campaign in person to the people of the Eleventh District, when he spoke at Corbin last Saturday, that district, despite its normal Republican leaning, may wipe out this small Hoover advantage and line up with the rest of the state for the Democratic nominee.

SHOUSE SCORES SLUMP INACTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(Universal.)—If the Hoover administration's program for economic recovery is as great as Republican campaign orators are saying it is, Jouett Shouse, former Democratic executive chairman, demands to know why the President squandered precious months in 1931 before putting it into effect.

In his first address of the campaign in behalf of Roosevelt and Garner, Shouse last night doffed his role as president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and spoke as an individual, although he was largely instrumental in building up the Democratic national organization from 1929 to 1932.

It was on Hoover's "lack of leadership" in the first two years of the depression that Shouse trained his heaviest guns. His arraignment took the form of a year-by-year analysis. He asserted nothing important was done at all in 1929 and 1930, except a farm marketing act, for which Hoover now apologizes, and the Hawley-Smoot "abomination."

WEDDING PARTY AUTO CRASHES

Six members of a wedding party, including the 17-year-old bride and the bridegroom, were injured early today in an automobile accident as they were driving to the newlyweds' new home in Donora. All but one were discharged from Homestead Hospital after being treated for their injuries.

The automobile left the road on Kennywood boulevard, Mifflin Township, when a tire blew out. A short time before, Julia Esper and James Haddad, of Donora, had been married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sara Esper, of 1502 McClure street, Homestead.

Beside the bride and bridegroom, the wedding party consisted of Haddad's father, Abe, 41, of 724 Seventh street, Donora, who was driving; his aunt, Mrs. Frances Haddad, 60; a sister, Sara Haddad, 22, and the bride's cousin, Catherine Nader, 20, of 1502 McClure street, Homestead.

Mrs. Frances Haddad was the only one remaining at the hospital.

CRISS DISPUTES TAX ESTIMATES

Estimates submitted by the Real Estate Board, which seeks a 1-mill reduction in school taxes, are not correct, according to N. J. Criss, of the Board of Public Education. Criss said:

"These estimates are not only wrong, but we will prove it at the next meeting of the board. The Real Estate Board has apparently not computed the item of delinquent taxes correctly."

Criss said the estimated income from this source, based on the Real Estate Board's figures, was $1,800,000, which he declared incorrect. Criss said the estimated amount of taxes to be collected next year is 77 per cent, but declared the estimated amount of delinquent tax collections, as figured by the Real Estate Board, is around $800,000 more than the estimate of the School Board.

CURB PROPOSED ON FEE OFFICES

M. C. Conick, chief auditor for Main & Co., who has been working on the county's books for nine months, will make suggestions for legislation to be drafted for the regulation of "fee" offices in the county in reports he expects to complete soon.

The County Commissioners yesterday received a report from Conick on the Prothonotary's office which brought about a discussion of fee offices. Commissioner Charels C. McGovern said of such offices:

"They cost the taxpayers $700,000 a year and the people don't get anything for their money."

McGovern asked Conick to submit his ideas for remedial legislation by the state.

Oppose Homestead Site For Incinerator

Efforts of Homestead officials to have Common Pleas Court approve the location of an incinerating plant for the borough met an obstacle at a hearing before Judge W. Heber Dithrich when some residents, without revealing their identity, appeared and offered objections.

They were given five days to file an answer to the borough's petition, presented by P. H. McGuire, solicitor. The hearing on his request was fixed for November 7.

LOAN BANK HERE DRAWS MANY

More than 5,000 persons have applied for information at the Pittsburgh branch of the Federal Home Loan Bank since it was opened October 15, according to W. F. Bell, executive vice president.

The majority, according to Bell, have been individuals seeking loans. All have been told to apply to some building and loan association, savings bank or insurance company which is a member of the Home Loan Bank system, he said.

The question of loans to individuals has been taken up with the national board at Washington, Bell said.

The Pittsburgh district has raised more than its minimum capital of $12,500,000 in stock subscriptions. Four employes of the bank here have been appointed, but their names are being withheld until the appointments are confirmed by the bank directors. The first loan on real estate at the new bank is not expected until after the first of next month.

DRY, TAX VIEWS GIVEN BY MORE CANDIDATES

Candidates for Congress from Western Pennsylvania districts today gave their attitude on the Eighteenth Amendment and the sales tax, adding to the list published in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday.

Following are replies to the questions:

"Do you favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment?

"Do you favor the sales tax?"

CAMPBELL'S VIEW

Thirty-fourth District—Guy E. Campbell, Republican and Liberal, favors both repeal and the sales tax and adds:

"I am hopeful in the December session Congress will substitute the sales tax for the present law."

Thirty-second District—Mrs. Anne E. Felix, Democrat, favors repeal and opposes the sales tax.

Twenty-seventh District—D. A. Doran, Democrat, favors outright repeal and opposes the sales tax.

Twenty-fifth District—Charles I. Faddis, Democrat, favors repeal and also favors the sales tax "because it will relieve real estate of taxation." F. A. Silvis, Socialist, favors repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment with reservations, but opposes the sales tax, adding:

"I favor taxing wealth. Bread and butter is the issue, not beer and liquors."

BACKS PLATFORM

Twenty-fourth District—J. Buell Snyder, Democrat, favors repeal, fails to decide on sales tax, saying:

"I indorsed the platform of the Democratic party as adopted in Chicago 100 per cent, which includes repeal."

Twenty-third District—Charles D. Rockel, Socialist, although his party favors repeal and opposes the sales tax, says:

"As a realist, I know the Eighteenth Amendment cannot be repealed at present, so why fool the people. As a Socialist I am opposed to all sales taxes."

Other replies will be printed as they are received. All congressional candidates from the Twenty-ninth to the Thirty-fourth Districts, inclusive, are invited to express their opinion clearly on these two issues, and comment briefly, if they wish.

PROPOSE NEW TRADE MART

A new merchandise mart for Pittsburgh, with river, railroad and bus connections, is being planned, and efforts may be made to finance it through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, according to a statement by Representative Clyde Kelly at Washington.

The preliminary estimate of the cost is $4,000,000, not including railroad connections. Local interests backing the project were not disclosed. No real estate has been acquired for the project, it was said, though it would require a large tract of land.

The mart, its sponsors said, would provide conveniences to wholesale and retail merchants similar to those offered in Chicago. To be considered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation the project must promise an income sufficient to pay for itself.

U. S. Admits Exiled Albanian Bishop

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Bishop Fan S. Noli, of Albania, was released from the immigration station on Ellis Island, after a special board of inquiry had decided he could be admitted to this country.

Bishop Noli, who was premier of Albania from 1922 to 1924, arrived on October 21 on the New York, and was held up by the authorities because of irregularities in his papers. He is in exile from Albania, having been banished after the coronation of King Zog. The bishop, a Harvard graduate, is going to accept a Greek orthodox pastorate here.

Mercer Republicans Plan Vote Rallies

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 27.—Republicans of Mercer County will hold a series of rallies next week. Dr. L. H. Beeler, Grove City College professor, will be the main speaker at Sheakleyville on Monday. Attorney Benjamin Jarrett and Congressman T. C. Cochran are to talk at Farrell on November 5 and a state speaker will address the women's rally at Grove City on November 1.

Air Race Official Shot While Hunting

BATAVIA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Clifford W. Henderson, managing director of the National Air Races at Cleveland, accidentally shot himself in the left hand while hunting yesterday. His gun was discharged as he was crossing a ditch. The index finger was later amputated.

Frightened Girl Runs Into Path of Auto

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 27.—Frightened by a mouse which a boy schoolmate dangled before her in play, Dorothy Prettyman dashed in front of an automobile on the highway near the schoolhouse at Inwood and was seriously injured.

Mercer Poor Fund Increase Sought

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 27.—Mercer County Poor Directors have asked the County Commissioners for $406,000 for 1933, as compared with $210,000 for 1932. Of this total, $325,000 is for outside relief.

A savory sauce makes a meat loaf a masterpiece

Ground Meat for Meat Loaf

with recipe for making it and five sauces government inspected 4 lbs. 59c freshly ground

Choice beef and fresh pork (government inspected) are ground together in the right proportions for a meat loaf and priced in a way that makes it an economical roast . . . four pounds of solid meat for a mere fifty-nine cents. As much as fifteen thousand pounds of this ground meat has been sold at McCanns in a single day . . . it must be good. Serve a meat loaf this weekend with a sauce to dress it up. Four pounds make a large loaf—you'll have some left for cold cuts.

Learn How to dress up a meat loaf with a savory sauce
. . . such as Mushroom, Spanish, Mixed Vegetable, Tomato or plain brown gravy.
Our dietitian has developed recipes for a meat loaf and five sauces that are practical as well as delicious. They will be included with every purchase of ground meat this weekend.

40-50 Prunes
New 1932 crop
4 lbs. 29c

It's always important to know the size of prunes when making a price comparison. 40/50 means forty to fifty prunes to a pound. Four pounds of 40/50 Santa Clara Prunes for 29 cents is an exceptional value and just one of the many found in McCanns Dried Fruit Department.

CHAPLIN'S SONS AGAIN BALKED IN FILMS

Comedian Wins Second Legal Tilt With Lita Grey

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Charlie Chaplin had won again today in his legal argument against the desire of his former wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, to place their two small sons in motion pictures.

Her petition for the right to enter into a contract on behalf of the boys, Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr., 7, and Sydney Earl Chaplin, 6, was denied after the comedian had testified "picture making is not so healthful as it was in the old days of the open studio."

It was Mrs. Chaplin's second unsuccessful attempt to obtain court approval of the contract. Superior Judge H. Parker Wood last September 15 granted Chaplin's petition to modify a custody agreement entered into August 19, 1927, at the time the Chaplins were divorced. The judge ruled the children should not be placed in films without the consent of both parents.

SUIT FILED

Failing to obtain the comedian's permission by means of a letter in which she said she desired to give the world a better impression of her than the divorce had conveyed, Mrs. Chaplin filed a suit as guardian in the probate department of the Superior Court.

Both Chaplin and Mrs. Chaplin were in court today, but the children were not present.

Chaplin testified he believed it would damage the children's future psychologically and physically for them to enter screen careers at such early ages. He said:

"Studio conditions have changed. Klieg lights and such things would be too much for the boys. I want them to lead a natural existence of normal play."

The ruling was given by Superior Judge Charles S. Crail.

FUND FOR BOYS

Chaplin pointed out that he had established a $200,000 trust fund to care for his sons, and said he objected to "their exploitation in motion pictures." Attorney E. T. McMurray, Mrs. Chaplin's uncle, asked:

"What do you mean by the word 'exploitation?'"

Chaplin replied:

"You exploit anything when you sell it, and you're selling the services of these little children."

Mrs. Chaplin testified:

"I thought it would be a good thing for them to take advantage of this opportunity to make a picture now before they reach the awkward age, if you know what I mean. It doesn't mean a thing to me."

Asked to amplify, she added:

"I mean financially."

She explained that the contract with the Fox Film Company called for the payment of $10,000 to each of the boys.

When the Judge decided the case, Chaplin leaped to his feet with a beaming smile, exclaiming to his attorneys:

"It's glorious, glorious, glorious!"

Filing a suit to recover taxes paid under protest, Chaplin yesterday sought court approval of his claim that his holdings are worth just $5,640,018 less than the county tax assessor claims they are. He demanded that the county refund $11,280.04.

'Volstead,' Camel, Imbibes, Gets Hangover

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Jeannette Volstead today paid the penalty for violating the dry law. She suffered from a hangover.

Of a dry family, Jeannette, the 18-month-old Bactrian camel at the zoo, nevertheless, had observed the spirit of the statute. She consumed a pint of rye whisky just for medicinal purposes.

Head Keeper Robert Burton administered the stimulant after Jeannette was operated on for an abcess on one side of her jaw.

TWO BOYS, GIRL SHACKLE CHIEF

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 27.—Chief of Police R. D. McGinnis, of Newton, Kan., was beaten, robbed and handcuffed to a cot in a tourist camp near here last night by two boys and a girl he was taking back to Pittsburgh in a car they are alleged to have stolen, he related today.

McGinnis was driving the car which he said had been recovered in Newton in possession of two 16-year-old boys and a girl. He said:

"Near Cambridge, O., someone hit me on the head with a pop bottle and knocked me out. When I came to they had me handcuffed and had taken my pistol. They threatened me with death if I made an outcry.

"About 10 miles west of St. Clairsville they took me into a tourist cabin and handcuffed me to a cot. They left early today with the car. I think they are headed for the west coast. They took my pocketbook containing $80."

Pittsburgh police said they had no notice of a car of the license plate given having been stolen.

HUNT FOR SORCI 'TRIGGER MAN'

State police, county detectives and McKeesport police today were trying to find Thomas Jordan, 55, former banana dealer in McKeesport, in their investigation of the racket murder of Tony Sorci, alleged bootlegger.

Eyewitnesses who saw Sorci shot down in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, Sunday, have identified Jordan as the trigger man, according to McKeesport police, who said that Jordan disappeared from his home yesterday.

Jordan, 55, was questioned once before in a double murder. This was the killing of his cousins, the Rizzo brothers, in 1907. He was exonerated.

Editor to Lecture On Poisonous Snakes

A lecture on American poisonous snakes, their habits and emergency measures in treating snake bites will be given by W. A. Bevan, editor, in rehearsal hall of Carnegie Institute at 8 o'clock tonight. He will speak under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America at a meeting open to the public. Motion pictures will be shown.

BRIGANDS SLAY U. S. CAPTIVE

PEIPING, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—The Rev. Bert Nelson, American missionary captured by bandits in Hupeh province two years ago, was killed by his captors last August 21, according to missionary reports reaching American Consul-General Adams at Hankow today.

Adams already was investigating the case, since he recently received a Chinese messenger who claimed he saw Nelson in perfect health at a bandit camp near Macheng, in North Hupeh province, where the bandits were said to have moved because of a government campaign against reds.

Nelson, a Lutheran, whose home was in Minneapolis, Minn., was captured October 5, 1930. On the occasion of the second anniversary of his capture, the American legation here said there was nothing to indicate he would be released soon. The last direct word from Nelson was received in March, 1932.

An Apple a Day Fails to Keep Police Away

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but not the police.

Three police squads, responding to a radio alarm last night that a burglar had broken into a grocery store, arrived with riot guns in hand.

There they found a man seated on the floor, calmly eating a big red apple.

He wasn't a burglar, the man explained, but merely had become apple-hungry on his way home from a party. The police booked him as Joseph Walkush.

SCHOOL BUSES IN SAFETY TEST

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—To see that children may ride safely in school buses, the Revenue Department has ordered highway patrolmen to stop and inspect equipment of every school bus that comes with its observation.

Announcing the suspension of the registration of a school bus owned and operated by R. R. Floch of near Jamestown, Crawford County, Leon D. Metzger, Secretary of Revenue, said yesterday that the bus had been found to be unsafe for operation although it bore an official inspection sticker.

A garage at Hartstown, which Metzger said had certified the bus to be mechanically fit, was suspended as an official inspection station.

Grogan Company's Million Dollar Stock At Cost And Less

FOR more than two years the Grogan Company has met economic conditions by cutting and re-cutting prices to new low levels.

The public has continually demanded these reductions, yet at Grogan's there has never been the slightest lowering of quality standards which throughout the better part of a century have excluded all but the very best jewelry and art wares obtainable.

Today's offerings are unparalleled in the history of the store. Prices range 40% to 60% lower than two years ago, original costs having been disregarded. We are offering real bargains in merchandise of enduring quality. Will you see them?

This is a distinct opportunity for making holiday purchases. Selections made now need not be billed until January 1st, 1933. Delivery when desired.

SILK LIKE WOOL AT STYLE SHOW

Silks that look like wool and wools that look like silk in creations fitting snugly to the figure feature the season's fashion modes being modeled in McCreery's style showing closing tomorrow afternoon.

Sixty creations of the American designer, Pattullo, shown on models formerly with Patou, of Paris, feature the two-hour showings which started today. The final exhibits are scheduled tomorrow from 1 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. Evening, street and sports wear compose the creations.

Rabbit's hair wool is among featured new fabrics. Miss Pearl Newman, Pattullo's stylist, revealed that women are displaying less price resistance in seeking clothes of a type that improve the figure. She said of the new styles:

"High necklines on garments fitting the form snugly, low flares in skirts and many high puffed sleeves taken from mid-Victorian styles are among the newest showings. Many garments are fur trimmed. There is a trend to the unusual in fabrics, especially the crinkled weave crepes. Jackets are good with one-piece dresses, even in evening gowns."

CUT RATE DRUG FIRM ENJOINED

Judge F. F. Schoonmaker decreed in Federal Court today that Ben P. Zasloff, doing business under the name of the Pittsburgh Cut Rate Drug Company, 234 Diamond street, and Rand's, has been violating the common law of trademarks by use of a pill bottle labelled "974", similar to a pill sold by Parke, Davis & Co., of Detroit, under the same name.

The court held that Parke, Davis & Co., which has been using the label since 1907, has exclusive rights to the name "974." Zasloff was enjoined from using the name again for his pills.

Stephen Blanarik listed his liabilities as $54,793.71 and assets as $675.95. Elmer Blanarik scheduled his liabilities as $10,604.74 and assets as $7,300.

LIBRARY WATER COSTS AIRED

The cost of extending a water line to Library from the nearest 12-inch line of the South Pittsburgh Water Company was estimated today at a Public Service Commission hearing by Edwin McGrew, civil engineer, at $25,075.65.

The water company's estimate of a proper line to serve the community involves a cost of $61,000. The water company would use larger lines and extend them farther into the outlying districts of Library than would McGrew.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Joseph A. Beck, McGrew declared that an eight-inch line rather than the 12-inch line suggested by the water company would supply the future demand at Library for many years to come.

The hearing is the result of a complaint by A. Kramer, Jacob Dolence and Edward Burke that the water company would not extend its line to Library except at excessive cost.

O'Brien Bribe Appeal Set for November

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The appeal of George J. O'Brien, former Philadelphia port collector, sentenced to serve six months to a year for attempting to bribe Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish, will be argued before the Superior Court during the week of November 28.

The case, officials said, has been placed at the head of the list for that week. The appeal was filed yesterday.

FULL STRENGTH NAVY HINTED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—A Navy built to the London treaty limit and "equal to that of the most powerful in the world" is considered by President Hoover a necessity if arms limitation efforts fail.

The President's view was expressed in a formal statement commemorating the eleventh annual observance today of Navy Day. This year, on the bicentennial anniversary of his birth, George Washington's relation to the Navy was made the theme of the nation-wide celebration led by the Chief Executive and Secretary Adams.

SOLEMN OBLIGATION

President's Hoover's statement follows:

"I take the occasion of Navy Day to remind the nation that the national defense is the first and most solemn obligation placed upon the federal government by the Constitution. Our people have ever been lovers of peace and they have consistently pursued a policy designed to preserve national rights by peaceful negotiation wherever possible, rather than resort to arms.

"This administration has spared no reasonable effort to bring about an agreement of all nations upon a reduction of arms, upon the ratios agreed upon at the London naval conference. Our patience in these negotiations has never for a moment jeopardized the safety of the United States. These efforts are making progress. If these efforts finally fail, we shall be compelled, by reason of the disturbed conditions prevailing throughout the world and the necessity of protecting American commerce, to build our Navy to the full strength provided in the London agreement, equal to that of the most powerful in the world.

"I need scarcely suggest the vast expenditures that would be involved by that necessity, or the blow that it would deal to one of the most cherished aspirations of our people."

NAVY 'BORN' IN PENNA.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Asserting that the American Navy was created on Pennsylvania soil, Gov. Pinchot today called the attention of Pennsylvanians to the observance of Navy Day. He said:

"Navy Day should mean much to Pennsylvanians. It was on Pennsylvania soil that the Continental Congress provided for the infant nation's first naval vessels. From the modest beginning in 1775, when the Experiment, first boat of the Pennsylvania Navy was launched, has come the capable, well-trained organization to which we look with pride as our first line of national defense."

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—John Downing, 42, ex-convict, who confessed he slew the wife of the chief record clerk at Ohio Penitentiary, will go on trial for his life as soon as court procedure permits.

This was announced by Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins after Downing pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge yesterday, less than 24 hours from the time Mrs. Daniel J. Bonzo, 44, was found beaten to death in the basement of her home.

NURSES ELECT PITTSBURGHERS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Gertrude A. Heatley, principal of the South Side Hospital School for Nurses, today heads the Pennsylvania State Nurses' Association. She, with several other Pittsburghers, were named in the list of officers elected.

Jennie A. Manly, of Homestead, was named second vice president and Jessie J. Turnbull, superintendent of the Magee Hospital, was named third vice president. Mary A. Walton, of Pittsburgh, was named director from the Sixth District.

Mrs. Alice F. Liveright, secretary of Welfare, told the delegates last night that "professional aloofness" on the part of nurses must be replaced by "sympathetic and cooperative" service. She said today's nurse must study housing condition, market prices, family budget questions and public health problems if they are to give the service required of them.

YOU may be attracted by price-cuts on ordinary antiseptics. But don't be confused. No price-cut can equal the saving Pepsodent Antiseptic brings you. For Pepsodent is three times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics—by adding water you make it go three times as far—get three times as much for your money and greater assurance of escaping stubborn sore throat colds.

Two kinds of antiseptics

Remember, there are really only two leading kinds of mouth antiseptics on the market. In one group is the mouth wash that must be used full strength to be effective. In the other group is Pepsodent Antiseptic, utterly safe if used full strength, yet powerful enough to be diluted with two parts of water and still kill germs within 10 seconds.

Use Pepsodent for safety

Don't fool yourself by diluting old-type antiseptics. Your health is too important—also, consider the importance of a pure, sweet breath. Choose the antiseptic that kills germs even when it is diluted. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be sure! Be safe—and save your money!

IMPURE BREATH
(Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

Two Attractive Skirts
Patterns 2458 and 2276
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Blouses, this season, fairly leave you breathless and there's absolutely no reason at all why their skirt-mates shouldn't do the same. Pattern 2458 is tricky, for it can be made with or without pleats and with a normal or raised waistline. Pattern 2276 places its pleats at one side only.

Both skirts may be ordered only for waist measurements 26 to 36. In size 28 Pattern 2458 requires 2 yards 54-inch fabric, and Pattern 2276 requires 1⅞ yards 54-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Each of these models is 15 cents (30 cents for both). Send coins or stamps (coins preferred). Please write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

The choice of a smart, sensible and economical winter wardrobe becomes very simple with the aid of THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN CATALOG. This beautiful book contains 32 pages of select Anne Adams models—house, street, afternoon, formal frocks and lingerie for adults; pages of lovely models for juniors and kiddies; special styles for the larger figure, and many delightful suggestions for Christmas sewing. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER, 25 CENTS. Address all mail orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5.—Address your request to the

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengue (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Jail Prisoner Strolls Away; Recaptured

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—Frank Miller, of Michigan, captured by State Highway Patrolman M. P. Sarko with a stolen automobile, escaped from the county jail a few hours after he had been committed. He mingled with visitors of other prisoners and walked out.

His escape was noticed in a few minutes and he was captured walking out of the city on the Butler road.

BOHLEN, WALSH TALK TONIGHT

Prof. Francis H. Bohlen, anti-dry candidate for Republican nomination for the United States Senate in 1930, and Attorney Frank P. Walsh, of Missouri, formerly active in seeking a pardon for Tom Mooney, will deliver the principal addresses at a Democratic meeting in Carnegie Music Hall tonight.

Attorney L. K. Porter, brother of the late Congressman Stephen G. Porter, is chairman of the meeting. A radio receiving set placed on the stage will give former Gov. Al Smith's address in Boston at 10 p. m.

PARTY CHIEFS TALK AT 'Y'

Representatives of four parties, W. H. Coleman, chairman of the Republican County committee; David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Democratic County committee; Dr. W. J. Van Essen, Socialist candidate for U. S. Senator, and Jack Johnstone, district organizer of the Communist party, will speak tonight at the East Liberty Y. M. C. A.

Each will make a 15-minute address, discussing party platforms. Dr. Albert E. Day, pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, will be chairman.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

BEER, TARIFF PLEAS MADE BY DAVIS

Senator James J. Davis was campaigning today in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, after making a speech supporting the Republican tariff policy and urging repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, to audiences in Mt. Washington, South Side and Homestead, last night, winning ovations.

Three hundred persons turned out to hear Davis at Maennerchoir Hall, Mt. Washington; 500 appeared at Turner Hall, South Side, and 750 at the Elks' Lodge, Homestead.

FOR BEER ON TABLE

Keynotes of Davis' talks were:

"A loaf of bread, a piece of cheese and a glass of beer on the table—I'm for that."

And—

"It behooves us to be stronger for the tariff than we've ever been before."

The Senator was silent on his trial for conducting a lottery under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose.

PLEA FOR WAGES

Davis attacked the idea of lowering tariffs with the explanation that:

"All the big companies have factories on the other side of the wall and now they want it down. But when they get it down how long will your wages last?"

"Unless you've got protection here, how long will your wages last?"

Climaxing, he declared:

"It's the old remedies that cure—I'm a great believer in the tariff."

Pittsburghers Win In Oratory Contest

Sanford Corcoran, of 3212 Latonia avenue, and Arthur Crawford, of 2317 Perrysville avenue, were announced today as first and second winners in Allegheny College's extemporaneous speaking contest. Corcoran, representing Phi Delta Theta fraternity, by his victory permanently retained the loving cup awarded each year to the contest winner. The fraternity received the cup twice previously.

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—John Kowall leaped to safety from a window and James Foster, 22, was burned slightly attempting to save Kowall, when fire destroyed a house near Grindstone yesterday.

Boy Hunter Gets Deer on First Expedition

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Thirteen-year-old Leo Leoni, after much pleading, persuaded his uncle to take him on a hunting expedition.

Elvisio Leoni, the uncle, took the boy into the hills and told him to remain in a small area while Elvisio hunted rabbits.

Leo was armed with a small caliber rifle.

Four hours later Elvisio returned empty-handed.

He found Leo seated on the carcass of a deer. The boy had shot it through the heart.

It was the first deer Leo ever had seen.

THE SEA WOLF

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, N. C. Wyeth . . . inspired by the infamous Captain Kidd's fierce raids on the gold-laden Spanish galleons (1696), which made him the scourge of the Spanish Main. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Don't Ditch Man You Love Because of Tough Luck

Would you ditch the boy friend if he lost his job and marry a big butter and egg man instead?

Mina's wondering if she should.

Yet she says she loves Rob, whose pay check has taken wings.

Is it common sense, or common cowardice, to pick the bigger and better husband?

"Dear Miss Martin:

"Please, will you help me out? I have a decision to make, and I just can't figure out just how I should make it.

"For a year I have been engaged to Rob. He had a good job and we had planned to be married next Fall. I was so happy and excited! I thought everything was going to be so lovely! We had our little home all planned.

"Then financial troubles stepped in and put a blight on everything. Rob lost his job. The company he was working for began to cut the force and he was one of those they let out. Oh, it is terrible! We had even paid some money down on a few pieces of furniture, because we wanted to have our own things, and now we'll have to lose them.

"I was working, too, but now I've been let out. I had been paying board at home, and now I can't even do that. It's a bad pinch, I can tell you, because the small store my dad runs isn't doing so well, either, and when I have to eat at home and can't help pay for things any more it's pretty much of a hardship on my folks.

CONSIDERS OTHER MAN

So — here's the problem: There is another man, Henry, who has always cared for me and wanted to marry me. He is a friend of my folks and he has money. Dad thinks I should marry him, and mamma says I would be a fool if I didn't. In fact, they're mad at me because I haven't listened to him before. They nag at me all the time about it.

"I love Rob, but sometimes I wonder if maybe the folks aren't right. I know it will be a long time, probably a year at least, before Rob and I could hope to marry. There don't seem to be any jobs for him now and it looks pretty hopeless.

"What do you think? Do you think I should give up the man I love and marry this other one, who can take care of me, and maybe help my folks, too? Should I marry a man I don't care for to get someone to take care of me? Are my folks right? Please help me. "MINA."

SHOULD FIGHT THROUGH

Should you ditch the man you love because he—and you—have struck a little hard sledding?

Not if you have any spunk, kid!

You say Henry could "take care of you." Oh, yea? Is that all you're looking for from life—just a soft spot to light on? If it is, then go to it! But don't come in here again moanin' a few years from now because, while your stomach's full, your heart is empty!

You've had dreams. Hang on to them. No dream was ever won without fighting for it. No life ever ran smoothly with no bumps and no setbacks.

The people who come up smiling are the people who fought through, who didn't know when they were licked, who kept their hope and their grit alive. Today you've lost. But there is tomorrow—if you've the courage to make it yours.

Maybe you do seem to be a barnacle at home. Well, then, get busy and make yourself useful. If you can't give mother money, you can give her yourself. You can dig in and help her with the housework. You can take a load of hard work off her shoulders. And never fear but that she'll thank you for it.

And you'll be a finer wife to Rob when good days come again, because you've set to with a will and wouldn't be licked

Fay King Gives Sage Advice to Children and Parents

I THINK I'LL ELOPE!
HOW CAN YOU THINK OF LEAVING US TO MARRY?
BUT MOTHER, YOU MADE A HOME OF YOUR OWN, AND I WANT A HOME OF MY OWN!
I COULD HAVE MADE A GOOD MARRIAGE, BUT MY PARENTS PREVENTED IT FAY KING

By FAY KING

No matter how devoted and dutiful children may be, the love of children for parents is never as great as that of parents for children.

Nature wisely meant that it should be so.

If it were not, children would never long to leave home, fall in love, marry and raise families of their own.

Some parents are a little hurt to see how willingly their children leave home. They forget that it is the law of life that all young when matured feel the natural urge to fly from the nest.

Human parents alone are reluctant and try to prevent this.

Children should not rush off into marriage too early, but neither should parents keep them tied to apron strings too long.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Carelessness in Hygiene Cause of Vincent's Angina

Neglect in personal hygiene is always unwise, and as a rule it results in suffering if not actual disease.

Dr. Copeland

One ailment which comes from personal carelessness is known as "Vincent's Angina." This is an infection of the membrane lining mouth. The gums become involved and occasionally the tongue, as well as the lips and cheeks.

Small red spots with a gray covering appear in the affected area. If these spots break down into ulcers, the breath is bad and there is pain when chewing and swallowing. In advanced cases the glands of the neck become swollen.

Some of the symptoms of this disturbance are sore throat, headache and a general feeling of poor health. In the acute form fever is present, running as high as 102 degrees.

Vincent's Angina is found wherever unhygienic conditions exist. During the World War it was a common infection in the trenches, and for this reason it was called trench mouth fever.

Improper care of toothbrushes, towels and eating utensils encourages the growth and exchange of the particular germs responsible for Vincent's Angina. These germs grow rapidly when the teeth, gums or tonsils are unhealthy or defective.

Too frequently the disease is neglected. Though it is rarely dangerous to life, it lowers the general health and resistance of the sufferer.

It is wise to pay attention, therefore, to any pain or discomfort in the mouth. Immediate consultation with your dentist or doctor is important and will help to avoid Vincent's Angina, as well as other mouth disturbances.

Careful inspection of the mouth often reveals unsuspected abnormalities. Cancer of the mouth has often been discovered by a careful dentist, and when attended to in its early stages it is curable.

Many persons overlook the health of their mouths and fail to keep their mouths scrupulously clean. Systematic brushing of the teeth and proper care of the gums and throat are essential to good health. Badly decayed teeth and infected tonsils should be removed.

Vincent's Angina is rarely seen in persons who have clean and healthy gums and teeth. Bear in mind that abrasions, ulcers, cavities and faulty bridgework increase the chances of infection, and individuals thus susceptible to Vincen's Angina should report to the dentist at regular times. They are advised to cleanse the mouth immediately after each meal, because food permitted to remain in the mouth decomposes and encourages the growth of germs.

Answers to Health Queries

M. C. A. Q.—What do you advise for flat chest?

A.—Try to gain weight in general and practice deep breathing.

C. H. N. Q.—What causes a pain over the left eye, also a buzzing and part of time my heart throbs?

A.—Have a careful examination to locate the cause.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Considering the bare backs that are sure to be seen this coming winter, it will be well to consider setting up exercises to give the back that graceful curve. Hands on hips, chest erect; lift up on toes, squat slowly; repeat.

Ointment of zinc oxide, useful for the purpose of healing new scars and dimming down the coriseness of red noses, can be used with success as a nail white. Force it under the nail eaves with an orange wood stick, being careful to form an even line. Takes the place of a nail bleach.

Before eyebrows are dyed, they must be lined up properly, wild hairs outside the main corral plucked, everything made ship-shape. The surrounding skin surface is anointed with vaseline to protect it from dye that might spill over. Eyelashes are colored to match the brows. Winkers rest upon a small pasteboard crescent while the paint brush touches them lightly. This treatment has to be given about three times a year.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Adequate Greeting

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—If a girl worked in a doctor's office and after being there a few weeks the doctor brought his wife in and said, "Mary, this is Mrs. Jones," should the girl, if she were seated, have arisen?

2—Should the girl, if she were seated, rise, or make an effort to rise, if the doctor's wife were just a few years her senior? Mrs. Jones is quite young.

3—Was it correct for her to say, "How do you do, Mrs. Jones"?

4—If the girl left before the doctor's wife, should she have said, "I am glad to have met you"? Was it wrong if she did not? Was it not just sufficient to smile and say, "Good night?" Shouldn't Mrs. Jones have said she was pleased to meet the girl? The two did not say more than 10 words during the time they were in the office, and, of course, the doctor was with them.

5—The girl is shy with strangers, but is very friendly when she becomes acquainted. Is this right, and is there any way to overcome this?

READER.

1—Yes, the girl would rise to acknowledge this introduction.

2—Yes, it would still be polite for the girl to rise. I am sure that you will agree with me that she would feel distinctly awkward if she remained seated. And it would be such a gracious and mannerly gesture for her to rise.

3—Yes, this was the perfect form of acknowledgment of the introduction. "How do you do" is the conventional and always correct form, and the addition of the name, to me, is a fine touch of mannerliness and charm.

4—Just what happened was just enough to have happened. It was a casual meeting, and it was not a bit necessary for either to make a special occasion of it. There was no necessity for the girl to have said, "I am glad to have met you," nor for Mrs. Jones to have said it to the girl. It would have been correct, of course, for Mrs. Jones to have said this, but it wasn't at all necessary.

5—There isn't any special reason to overcome this, especially in a young girl. If the girl is a friendly girl, gracious and kind in her manner, this fact will shine through her shyness and make it attractive.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Senseless Bluff

An expert Bridge player, Mr. Willard Karn, once described a player for whose game he had no respect as "the three worst players in the world." He phrased it this way: "The three worst players in the world are John Doe, Mr. Doe and Doe." The name, of course, is fictitious. In corroboration of his characterization, Mr. Karn produced the hand below:

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable; part-score 60.

East and West not vulnerable.

	♠ J 10942 ♡ K 8 5 ◇ 10 9 6 ♣ J 8
Mr. Doe ♠ 8 ♡ 9 6 2 ◇ 8 5 4 3 ♣ 10 9 7 3 2	North / West / East / South	♠ K 5 3 ♡ 4 3 ◇ A J 7 2 ♣ A Q 6 5
	♠ A Q 7 6 ♡ A Q J 10 7 ◇ K Q ♣ K 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♡ (1)	2 ♠ (2)	3 ♡ (3)	4 ♠ (4)
Double (5)	Redouble (6)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—A game bid with a part-score.

2—West considers this Overcall a psychic. Actually, it is just plain folly.

3—Hoping that the opposition will go further in spades.

4—East is entirely misled. He has quite a strong hand and, of course, is unaware of his partner's bid being of the bluff variety.

5—A very sound Penalty Double.

6—West hopes to bluff his opponents into rescuing him from his impossible situation.

In the play, West managed to make tricks with both of East's Aces, but lost all the remaining tricks for a penalty of 4,400 points. The happy holder of the South hand explained that it was one of the funniest hands ever seen at the Bridge table and that the penalty gain of 4,400 points in the honor score was very cheerfully accepted. I can fully believe that this is true from South's viewpoint, but how about East?

TODAY'S QUESTION

South bids one heart and West passes. What should North bid with the following:

♠ K 10 8 7 6 4 3 ♡ 6 ◇ J 7 4 3 ♣ K

Answer: One spade. Technically, this hand should pass, as it does not hold 1 honor-trick, but holding a freak hand of this type, the danger of misleading partner is less than the danger of passing.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

Household Hints

To prevent cheese going moldy, wrap it in a cloth slightly moistened with vinegar.

Batter puddings can be made lighter by adding two teaspoonfuls of ground rice to the flour before mixing.

A mixture of lard and margarine makes a very nice "shortening" for pastry. A teaspoonful of lemon juice, too, makes it light and flaky.

Family photographs should be labeled on the back with the person's name whose picture it is. Otherwise they will prove useless to a future generation who might otherwise prize them very highly. Get out that box of photographs, put on your thinking cap and take your pen in hand.

STAGE STARS ON AIR

Young 'T. R.' Broadcasts Hoover Plea From Manila; Smith Speaks in Boston

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., governor-general of the Philippine Islands, makes the longest campaign speech—in point of miles—in political history when he addresses American voters in support of President Hoover over a coast-to-coast NBC network, of which WCAE is the Pittsburgh outlet, during a broadcast from Manila, P. I., tonight at 6 o'clock. Shortwave transmission "forwards" Roosevelt's voice across the Pacific via Honolulu to San Francisco.

Mr. Roosevelt

The address, previously scheduled for Tuesday night, was postponed in order to coincide with Navy Day and the birthday of the speaker's father, the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

Alfred E. Smith's second address of the week is scheduled to be broadcast from Boston over an extensive Columbia chain including WJAS tonight from 10 to 10:45 o'clock. Smith, heard Monday over WCAE, goes on the air for the third time this week Saturday night through WJAS at 9:15 p. m.

Addresses in support of President Hoover's candidacy for re-election by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania; Herbert A. May, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and Charles J. Graham, state chairman of the Pennsylvania Hoover-Curtis Committee, at a luncheon meeting of the Hoover-Curtis Committee of the National Railway Supply Manufacturers' Association will be broadcast by KDKA tomorrow, beginning at 1:15 p. m. The meeting, attended by about 500 Pittsburghers, will be held in the Hotel William Penn.

A Navy Day address by Commander Charles M. James, United States Navy, is a highlight of a special presentation from the studios of WCAE tonight from 6:45 to 7:15. Nautical and martial music by an orchestra under the direction of David Levin also is heard.

Program Pointers

Jack Denny and his popular orchestra, with Evan Evans, baritone, as featured soloist, open a new series of weekly programs over a Columbia chain and WJAS tonight from 8:45 to 9 o'clock. Tonight's program, composed of musical comedy and dance hits, includes "Tea for Two," "As You Desire Me" and "I Guess I'll Have to Change My Plans" . . . Vocal offerings by Lanny Ross, tenor, Mabel Jackson, soprano, Annette Hanshaw, the Hall Johnson Choir, Jules Bledsoe and Charles Winninger and sparkling black-face humor by Molasses 'n' January are highlights of "Capt. Henry's Show Boat" presentation on WCAE tonight at 9.

Mr. Denny

Eva Le Gallienne and Joseph Schildkraut, enacting the celebrated love scene from the first act of "Camille" on the eighieth anniversary of the play's first production, head the list of guest artists on Rudy Vallee's variety hour on WCAE tonight at 8.

Louise Bernhardt, young American contralto who has sung with the Chicago Civic Opera and American Opera Companies, and who has won two outstanding music prizes during the last four years, makes her bow in a series of weekly recitals over NBC-KDKA tonight at 7:30.

The careless adventures of "The Panamint Playboy," who made light love, took a chance on the frontier law and landed in the hands of a posse are dramatized on KDKA at 9 during "Death Valley Days."

Ray Perkins gives another of his gag-ily illustrated lectures on current events and sings "Crosby, Columbo and Vallee" on WCAE at 7:30.

Georgie Price's parody on "Why Must I Say Goodbye to My Summer Love?" and his impersonation of Richard Carlisle singing "I Found a Lemon in the Garden of Love" are WJAS highlights at 7:45.

Chic Sales' well-known characterization of a Civil War veteran is the subject of Ward Wilson's mimicry on KDKA at 7:15.

Welfare Fund talks by Arthur R. Jordan, of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, and R. M. Moss, of the Urban League of Pittsburgh, are listed at 8:20 on WWSW.

Stepping into the world of sawdust, animals, freaks and peanuts, Jack Pearl, the modern "Baron Munchausen," unfolds a few of his choice tales of adventure under the big top during the dance hour on WCAE at 10. Abe Lyman provides the music.

Walter Damrosch's lecture recital on WCAE and KDKA tomorrow morning at 11 deals with "Motion in Music." The illustrations include "Spinning Song," from Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," Wagner "Ride of the Valkyries" and Mendelssohn's "Fingal's Cave" overature.

Oskar Shumsky, 15-year-old violinist, plays, for the first time in public, his own cadenza to the Brahms violin concerto in D when he appears as guest artist with Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia Orchestra on WJAS tomorrow from 2:30 to 4.

Original styles need not be Expensive!

Julienne of Paris style sponsors the Wise $5 group

MAYBE in the past you have had to pay high prices for original styles in distinctive footwear.

That day is over! Now you can buy original styles—at Wise's—styles created by Julienne of Paris—at $5.

All of the Wise $5 shoes are style-sponsored by Julienne. So that any shoe you select is distinctive—and different.

They have been designed for you—for your taste. They are originals—not copies. They are made by hand in Brooklyn of materials found only in $10 and $12 shoes.

If your feet have never felt the feel of a less-than-twelve-dollar shoe—if your eye rebels at inferior materials and ordinary styles seen in every shop window—then let your foot rest in—and your eye rest on—this new Wise Shoe.

"Can it be true" you'll ask? It is.

A Two-Faced Style
Beginning with the collar which you see in front, and running to the inside of the shoe, the material is brown patent leather. The outside of the shoe is brown kidskin. The effect is astonishingly chic. Also in black kid with black patent leather and in green suede. Julienne model at $5

Julienne Suggests This One
This picture hardly does justice to the smart, distinctive air of this pump. Julienne takes black kid or black suede, and really does something to it. This original model only $5

HOSIERY SPECIAL!

"All my friends notice that the last pimple is gone

—naturally, I am proud of my clear skin"

Everyone has the right to be proud of a clear skin

Pause a moment and reason in a common-sense way what may be the cause of that skin trouble and its relation to the blood

NO two faces are alike . . . but the body and its normal functions are alike. This is just why you may need S.S.S.—it aids in promoting normal body functions.

This time-tested tonic has brought happiness and joy to thousands. To some it has meant freedom from pimples and boils . . . to others it has meant a restored appetite and improved digestion—to all it has meant greater vitality.

The reason of this is that S.S.S., in addition to being a valuable general tonic, has the special property of increasing the red-cells and restoring the hemoglobin content of the blood, when deficient.

The right amount of hemoglobin in the blood makes a vast difference in the way you feel and look.

pimples . . . boils
tend to thrive when the system is in a run-down condition due to a deficiency of this vital hemoglobin, causing a lack of oxygen and an excess of poisonous carbon dioxide gas.

even the appetite lags when there is not enough hemoglobin in the blood stream to give the system the oxygen it needs and to free it of poison.

and digestion
can function properly only when there is sufficient oxygen in the blood to "burn" the food consumed. A lack of oxygen may result in impaired nutrition . . . gas . . . abdominal discomfort . . . nausea . . . constipation . . . diarrhea . . . headache . . . underweight, etc.

about cosmetics
you ask. They are truly beauty aids and it is every woman's right and duty to appear more attractive—use them, but remember if you are to have a perfect complexion you must first have a skin free from blemishes.

observe this law
of nature—that red-blood-cells and the hemoglobin they contain carry vital health-giving oxygen from the lungs to all parts of the body—even to the skin—and then return to the lungs with body poison (carbon dioxide gas) to be thrown off. Sufficient hemoglobin is the essential and necessary step for a clear skin and good health.

one feels happier
when the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content are up to their full quota. A deficiency in the oxygen-carrying hemoglobin may result in paleness, poor complexion, poor circulation, numbness, pricking sensations, restlessness, nervousness, irritability or sleeplessness.

then why not try S.S.S.
—the proven tonic for increasing the red-cells and hemoglobin—proved effective by scientific research and millions of happy users. It may be the very means of restoring your skin beauty and bringing better health and more happiness to you.

Start taking a course of S.S.S. today. It is sold by all drug stores in two convenient sizes—the larger size is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. Don't permit anyone to "sidetrack" you in your determination to restore your red-blood-cells and hemoglobin back to normal.

Listening In

Lambs Honor Crumit.
New Cantor Songs.
Director Federer.

Irene Beasley, Columbia's "long, tall gal from Dixie," returns to the medium in which she first won success, vaudeville, at the end of the month. . . . Abe Lyman and Jack Dempsey are said to be contemplating a European vaude tour together . . . Tony Wons is the latest of radio's satellites to pow-wow with movie moguls about shorts and feature - length pictures . . .

Miss Beasley

Frank Crumit recently was elected shepherd of the Lambs Club—the famous old theatrical organization's highest office. Frank's own story of the election is that he went through sailing—when no opposition candidate was found . . . A large repertoire of songs has been written specially for Eddie Cantor pending his return to the air waves with Rubinoff Sunday . . .

Any number of those celebrated guest artists heard on Rudy Vallee's new variety hour have been booked only the day preceding the broadcasts . . . The stars and news personalities have to be caught frequently while making flying visits to New York.

Ralph Federer, who's currently engaged on his first real job as a musical director presenting those WCAE String Ensemble programs, gets a big laugh every time he remembers his first batonic attempt. He was 4 years old, vacationing at Mountain Lake Park, Md., and one night his parents took him to a band concert. After sitting quietly watching the conductor for some time, he decided to have a try at the business, edged up to the band stand and nearly broke up the show mimicking the baton-wielder.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appeite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

FINDS RELIEF FROM BILIOUS HEADACHES

Well and Strong Now—After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I had terrible pains across the lower part of my back and down my legs each month, and bilious headaches, too. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took three bottles of the Tablet form and one bottle of Herb Medicine. Since then I don't have an ache nor a pain to complain about. I feel well and strong and able to work every day for my children. I sleep like a log and I am regular and normal now." —Mrs. Cora P. Lipps, 145 Myrtle St., Waltham, Mass.

MOTHER'S WILL IN DEATH TRIAL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jessie K. Boyle's last will and testament, naming her son, John K. Boyle, 36, socially prominent attorney, as the chief beneficiary, was introduced as evidence yesterday in his trial on charges of murdering her.

The will was dated in April, a few weeks before the state charges Boyle took her to Shades Mountain to gather wild flowers and slashed her throat.

Previously, over continued objections of defense counsel, the bloodstained clothing Boyle and his mother wore on June 13, when he claims a highwayman attacked them and stabbed her to death, was produced by the state as exhibits.

BUTLER HOST TO GLASSFORD

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Brig.-Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, former superintendent of police of Washington, conferred with Maj.-Gen. Smedley D. Butler for several hours at the latter's home here yesterday.

After the conference both declined to comment regarding the subjects discussed, but it was indicated a statement might be forthcoming in a few days. Gen. Glassford returned to Washington after a dinner with the former marine officer.

Sen. Bingham's Son Anti-Hoover Debater

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Jonathan B. Bingham, son of Connecticut's Republican Senator, Hiram Bingham, as first alternate on Yale's freshman team, will oppose President Hoover's re-election in a debate with Vassar freshmen, November 4.

The Senator's son is one of the leaders of the Yale Republican Club.

CRUELTY DENIED BY WIFE

Mrs. Margaret Meinert, of 250 Maplewood avenue, Ambridge, has filed a petition in Common Pleas Court denying cruel and barbarous treatment as charged in the divorce libel filed by her husband, John E. Meinert, Jr., and asks for a bill of particulars. She alleges Meinert deserted her. They were married June 19, 1929. L. M. Sebring is her counsel.

Mrs. Dorothy Meyer, 806 North Highland avenue, has filed a libel in divorce against Alfred H. Meyer, who lives at the Y. M. C. A., charging indignities. They were married December 5, 1931. Her counsel is Walter L. Dipple.

Other divorce actions include: William Boyd vs. Eloise M. Boyd; Albert DiFiore vs. Loretta DiFiore, Hannah M. Freundt vs. Heinrich R. Freundt.

Judge Toastmaster For 'Amen' Dinner

Judge H. Walton Mitchell, of Orphans' Court, will serve as toastmaster for the annual Amen Corner dinner Saturday night in the Hotel William Penn, when representatives of three political parties will speak. They are Elihu Root, Jr., Republican; Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, and Heywood Broun, Socialist, who with other visitors will be luncheon guests of Senator Frank J. Harris.

The seating committee has decided against accepting reservations for overflow attendance outside the main ballroom.

SECOND DEATH FROM POISON MOONSHINE

Third Victim, Former City Patrolman, Recovers

The second of the three men found yesterday near East Park was dead today from the effects of poisonous moonshine, the Coroner's office reported.

The identity of the second victim, about 60, who died last night in Allegheny General Hospital, was being sought by morgue attaches. An autopsy attributed death to moonshine.

William Hess, 60, of Howard street, died in the hospital a short time after he was found lying at Suismon street and Turtle way.

The third victim, August Mazur, 36, of Suismon street, a former North Side patrolman, was taken to the hospital, where he recovered, police said.

The finding of the three men within a few squares and within a short time led police to believe they had been drinking together.

JAILED WHEN HE MISLAYS $103

Joseph Ganys, 50, of 2737 Mission street, whom South Side police reported arresting twice in six hours yesterday, was to be arraigned today before Magistrate John J. Sweeney on a suspicious person charge.

Ganys, first arrested for drunkenness, has $108 in his pockets. Several hours later he was released on a $5 forfeit, police returning $103, for which he signed. At a hearing before Magistrate Sweeney, Ganys was discharged. Then he complained that the $103 had not been returned to him.

Banys was taken to his home and there he searched the suit he wore when arrested on the drunkenness charge. The $103 was found. Ganys was then returned to the police station on the suspicious person charge.

Pajama-Clad 'Ghost' Proves False Alarm

Woods Run police radio crews dashed to Brighton road between Woods Run and Davis avenues early today in search of a pajama-clad man after a woman motorist had reported he was "loose" in that territory. Police, reporting failure, ascribed the sight to a belated Halloween celebrant.

Culbertson Takes Lead As Bridge Stars War For Vanderbilt Trophy

Curtis Getting Lone Ride in Rumble Seat

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Candidates are finally getting down to cases. They're in the homestretch and are using whips, spurs and teeth.

Roosevelt's Baltimore speech was the genuine mustard plaster. The only way Hoover can answer it in Indianapolis tomorrow night is to yell:

"So's your old man."

Have you noticed the way the candidates are answering one another from different towns?

We don't know whether they're running for President or playing pussy-in-the-corner.

Curtis has already joined the curious bystanders. He made one speech and then fell back to recuperate in the healthy suburbs.

Seems that even running for the vice presidency is like riding in the rumble seat.

You know your ultimate destination. But you don't do anything, see anything or know anything until the driver stops the car, turns around and says,

"Boy, we're there."

Body of Educator Taken From Water

MARTINEZ, Cal., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The body of William H. Hanlon, 52, county superintendent of schools since 1906 and recent appointee to the State Board of Education, was found in the bay here yesterday. Officers said the body bore no marks of violence. An investigation was started to learn whether it was suicide.

German Again Slated To Lead Bolivia Army

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Bolivia's new cabinet today had invited Gen. Hans Kundt, of Germany, to resume his command in the army. Before the World War he organized the Bolivian army into one of the most efficient fighting forces in South America. He fought for Germany during the World War.

Ely's Wife's Team Among 16 Best In First Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(Universal.)—Sixteen teams, including all the favorites, survived in the competition after the qualifying round of the 1932 bridge tournament for the Vanderbilt trophy had ended in the grand ballroom of the Ritz Carlton early this morning.

Among them were all the "star" teams. Eight of yesterday's winners will be eliminated in tonight's session, and four more tomorrow night.

The semi-finals will be held Saturday afternoon and the finals Saturday night.

Individual honors of the day were taken by the Crocksford Club team of Ely Culbertson, Oswald Jacoby, Theodore Lightner and Michael Gottlieb. Yesterday was the first time Culbertson has appeared in tournament play since the end of the Lenz-Culbertson match last winter.

RIVAL ALSO WINS

The team headed by P. Hal Sims, Culbertson's rival for bridge supremacy, made top in its section in the night session. On it are Harold Vanderbilt, donor of the cup; Willard Karn and Waldemar von Zedtwitz.

Others qualifying were the teams headed by David Burnstine, Commander Winfield Liggett, Jr., Walter Malowan and Mrs. Ely Culbertson.

Two of the three of the all-women teams were among those eliminated.

In one hand Vanderbilt, when vulnerable, made an opening bid which most other players considered rather unorthodox. But it led to an ultimate slam bid in diamonds, giving him and his partner, Von Zedtwitz, 1,370 points.

Opponents who made the little slam on the same hand had bid only six, for 620 points. The hand:

	NORTH Spades—J 10 7 6 5 2 Hearts—K 10 4 3 Diamonds—5 Clubs—6 3
WEST Spades—K 8 4 Hearts—A J 6 Diamonds—J Clubs—A K J 8 4 2		EAST Spades—Blank Hearts—9 2 Diamonds—A K 10 8 6 4 3 2 Clubs—10 9 7
	SOUTH Spades—A Q 9 3 Hearts—Q 8 7 5 Diamonds—Q 9 7 Clubs—Q 5

Both sides were vulnerable.

Battle to Avoid Extradition Ended

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Harry Geen, accused with several others of swindling British investors of more than $7,000,000 in mining stock, has closed his long fight against extradition and agreed to return to England to face the charges.

He cited the recent decision of the Chicago Court of Appeals ordering John (Jake the Barber) Factor's return to England in the same case, in withdrawing his appeal from a Federal Court ruling ordering his deportation.

VOTE FOR DRYS, M. E. COUNCIL HERE URGES

Educational Campaign Advocated to Combat 'Wet Winds' of Foes

Support of all candidates who are "in sympathy" with their dry stand was voted by the 450 clergymen attending the closing sessions of the Pittsburgh Area Council, Methodist Episcopal Church, late yesterday in Emory Methodist Episcopal Church. The conference approved the report of its committee on prohibition and law enforcement.

The report recommended a system of educational work within the church during the next two years on behalf of "effective establishment of the prohibition of the liquor traffic." It continued:

"The wet winds are blowing the mists of unholy prejudice into the face of the body politic, and the Methodist Church should pool its every interest and not only cry aloud and spare not, but so agitate our citizens who believe in good government that they will 'say it with votes.' Prohibition rallies should be held wherever possible and lay speakers used to keep the issue before the people."

Taking the stand that "the temperance voctories already won" have been largely due to scientific instruction in the public schools as to the injurious effects of alcohol upon the human system, the report said:

"We have today a severer indictment of the liquor traffic from higher authority than ever before. The Christian church must insist upon the continuance of this instruction."

The section relating to political candidates reads:

"We recommend that we stand for the election of all candidates who are in sympathy with, and will vigorously enforce, all laws; that we support all activities looking to the enactment of legislation to place in our schools, where such does not exist, a course of study showing the effects of alcohol on the human system, and that we stand vigorously for the election of representatives to our respective legislatures or state conventions who will oppose the repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment, should Congress submit such a proposal to the states."

Co-operation in lessening denominational rivalry and competition was urged in the report of the committee on comity and federation, also approved at yesterday's session of the council.

The committee recommended that "we right the wrongs of planless protestantism."

All churches in the Pittsburgh area were asked to adopt a goal of 10 per cent increase in membership by "conversion" during the next year, in the report of the Area Council on Evangelism. It was pointed out that by "conversion" is understood "the acceptance of Jesus Christ by faith as the Divine Savior from sin."

Antics of Pet Honey Bear Keep Camp in Turmoil

CHAPTER XIII.

I had an errand down by the road, so I merely grinned appreciatively at Ah Kee's anger and went my way across the lawn to my destination. Toto righted himself and came running toward me, seeking sympathy. My honey bear had a galloping gait, moving over the ground in a series of ungainly bounces and lopes. This was typical of his species, but I've never seen a honey bear travel with quite the mirth-provoking awkwardness that characterized Toto's movements. When he got into a real hurry, he would usually place his weight wrongly and go over head-first, heels over teapot, in a furry heap. Frequently he would convulse visitors by running toward me so eagerly when I waved a milk-filled nursing bottle at him that he not only went tumbling head over heels, but turned a series of complete, uncalculated somersaults in the process.

He used to climb up on me whenever I sat down anywhere, investigating the contents of the pockets of my khaki coat. Usually they contained a pair or two of pliers and a monkey wrench or some similar treasure. Toto always gave them a thorough study. Unable to dislodge them, he would lick them with his long tongue to see what they tasted like.

If he had nothing else to do, he would follow me down to the animal sheds. He had brains enough to keep a safe distance away from any of the cages where he might encounter any personal danger. He made many friends among the animals, particularly among the birds. The Shama thrushes always attracted him, and he soon discovered ways of stealing little morsels of food from the cages occupied by some of the larger birds. His little thefts were done so whimsically and good-naturedly that even the victims didn't seem to mind a bit.

POPULAR WITH VISITORS

One afternoon I saw him go galloping across the lawn. An hour later he was discovered in a hammock under a tree, where the caboon (our native gardener) and his wife kept their 18-month-old baby. Toto had climbed up into the hammock, made friends with the baby, and finally both of them had gone to sleep, the child's arm around Toto's neck. Bear and baby had plainly hit it off. But the scandalized caboon didn't think much of the friendship, and when he discovered what had happened he sent Toto

LANG TO APPEAR IN QUIZ TODAY

City Council today was to give consideration to charges of John Douglas, Jr., that mismanagement existed in the operation of the city wharves. Director Edward G. Lang of the Public Works Department was to attend the hearing.

It was considered unlikely Lang would go into detail in his answers to the charges, in view of his approaching trial, along with George S. Vang, of the Iron City Sand Company; D. G. Aronberg, post-office contractor, and E. J. Foley, of the Bureau of City Property, on charges of conspiracy brought by Douglas.

Insurance Workers Continue Sessions

Field workers of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund today continued their sessions, which opened in the William Penn Hotel yesterday, headed by Edgar H. Neibert, chief of the inspection division. The meeting is one of a series of gatherings held in this city, Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Sunbury and Johnstown. The principal speaker yesterday was W. J. Stiteler, Jr., manager of the fund.

Robbery Victim Jailed As Drunk

After telling Center avenue police that he had been slugged and then robbed of a $50 watch and $15 in cash by two men, Edward Bryan, of 3718 Parkview avenue, was locked up on a charge of drunkenness. Police said the prisoner's right name is Nelley.

Pastor to Present Y. M. C. A. Lesson

The Rev. S. S. Lapin, pastor of the Central Christian Church, will present the international Sunday school lesson to the men's Bible class at 12:15 tomorrow at the Downtown Y. M. C. A.

CO-OPERATION SUCCEEDING HE ASSERTS

Secretary Defends Kellogg Pact And League Court

The world is moving toward peace along the avenue of international co-operation, "after centuries of effort based upon other and more backward theories," Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson declared before the closing session of the Methodist Episcopal Church Council of the Pittsburgh area, last night in Syria Mosque.

In a speech free of political significance except for his continued references to President Hoover as the guiding hand of many of the peace accomplishments he recounted, Mr. Stimson pointed to the refusal of other nations to recognize the "fruits of aggression" in the Far East as illustrative of a change in the world's attitude toward war.

DEFENDS PACT

Defending the Kellogg-Briand pact, as one of the "great achievements in the cause for peace," Stimson said:

"It is a great treaty, a great, simple concept, carrying with it the chief hopes of the world for a new and better era."

The attitude of the government relating to the recent Far East trouble, and that between Bolivia and Paraguay, has strengthened the sanctity of treaties by upholding the Kellogg pact, the Secretary averred.

He digressed from his prepared manuscript to tell his audience he had received a telegram while on his trip from Washington to Pitts-

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 27.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Finally got hold of U. S. paper. Said I want to buy polo ponies.

Will Rogers

That must have handed my banker a laugh. Thank somebody for the compliment. Old age and depression hit my polo same year. For the type of polo I always played I could get my horses off a merry-go-round. Besides if I wanted good horses I would never leave America for 'em, and if they will let me race in every state we will have better ones everywhere. Stopped for gas at our Virgin Islands. Stopping in San Juan, Porto Rico, just looking down now on the wreckage of that hurricane one month ago. It's hard to tell who needs money the worst nowadays, but I believe you could send some here through the Red Cross and feel that it's going to the most needy place. Yours,

WILL.

EMERGENCY ASSOCIATION TO SEEK NINE MILLION FUND

$50,000 GIFT AIDS WELFARE BUDGET

Following announcement last night of a $50,000 gift to the Welfare Fund's 1933 budget by the Gulf Refining Company, the Allegheny County Emergency Association tentatively announced today that it will seek $9,507,620 in public funds to supplement the Welfare Fund moneys for relief in 1933.

The Emergency Association's announcement indicated that it has in sight only about $1,158,000 of the $9,807,620. Eight million, three hundred fifty-one thousand, six hundred forty-six dollars and thirty-five cents must be raised from city, state and federal governments to meet the total required, according to the budget.

ALLOTMENT OF FUNDS

Apportioned for direct relief—food orders, shoes, clothing and medicines—is $4,795,750; for work relief, $4,273,074; for operating expenses — case work investigations and prevention of duplication—and administration expense, $703,000.

Indications are that work relief may be abandoned in favor of using work funds for direct relief.

Announcement of the first large contribution to the fund for 1933 use was made at a meeting of the Corporation Committee in the William Penn Hotel last night, when it was revealed that the Gulf Refining Company has subscribed $50,000.

SAME GIFTS NEEDED

The subscription is the same as that made last year by the company, according to William P. Witherow, general chairman of campaign. He said:

"It will be necessary for every company and every person able to do so to subscribe the same amount they gave last year if we are to succeed in the campaign. Many of last year's subscribers are at this time on the receiving end instead of the giving."

The November campaign will aim at a $2,500,000 goal—first step in a drive for the $12,000,000 estimated need for Allegheny County during 1933.

Witherow today said:

"For every dollar given by private individuals, the public treasury expects to give us $5, provided we meet the acid test by raising at least $2,500,000. We must convince the state and federal authorities that we are doing our level best, if we hope to obtain their fullest co-operation and assistance."

Meanwhile, quota for McKeesport's end of the Welfare Fund campaign has been set at $61,666. Last year's budget was $103,000 for that district.

Mifflin Annexation Proposal Held Up

City Council will delay action on the proposal to annex the remainder of Mifflin Township until after the election, it was decided yesterday when Carl F. Decker, of 170 Third street, Mifflin Township, urged the annexation. The proposal has been before Council on several occasions.

Council President John S. Herron suggested Decker return after election day, when other residents will be heard.

Family Escapes $5,000 Home Fire

Fire swept through the two-story brick home of A. Malitovsky, at 5631 Pocusset street, Squirrel Hill, and threatened adjacent homes before firemen extinguished it last night. The blaze broke out in the kitchen and spread rapidly to the roof. Members of the household fled into the street when the flames were discovered. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Turkeys for Pittsburgh's Thanksgiving Tables Thriving on 'Electricity'

FEEDING TIME ON THE HARRY H. WHITE FARM, NEAR CANONSBURG, FOR PART OF THE FLOCK OF 3,000 TURKEYS . . . . THEY'VE BEEN RAISED WITH ELECTRICAL TREATMENTS!

BIRDS THRIVE ON MODERN CARE

CANONSBURG, Pa., Oct. 27.—More than 300 farmers of Westmoreland, Fayette, Butler and Greene counties today were to witness a demonstration on how to raise turkeys with the aid of electricity on the Harry H. White farm, on the new Washington road.

Methods of brooding and raising and dressing gobblers and other fowl for market will be explained. The instructors will be Elwood Fulton, Washington County agricultural agent, and H. H. Kaufman, extension agent at Pennsylvania State College.

Approximately 6,000 turkeys have been raised to date with exceptionally low mortality, White said. Brooding from the time the birds were one day old until ready for range, has been done with electric battery brooders.

Churches in County Plan 'Bundle' Drives

A series of "bundle day" drives for Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries will be conducted throughout November by churches in all parts of the county. They will be followed by the second annual "bundle day" of the Goodwill Women's Auxiliary, December 1.

Kills His Grandson And Self For Revenge

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Seeking revenge because his son and daughter-in-law caused his arrest on a drunkenness charge, George le Maze, 60, killed his grandson, George le Maze III, with a hatchet and then hanged himself.

'FIRED,' SHE SUES

PAULINE STARKE . . . PICTURED IN COURT IN HER LAWSUIT

Miss Starke, the film actress, in Los Angeles court as she told how Director James Cruze three years ago hired her at $1,500 a week, dismissed her "without cause" after four days. She's suing for $6,050. Defense counsel claimed she couldn't remember her lines. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

STIMSON SEES PEACE GAINS

burgh that Bolivia had accepted a neutral proposal in its differences with Paraguay, and that this was the most encouraging word he had received in nearly four years.

COURAGE JUSTIFIED

Asserting the world has a right to take courage in the light of recent events, he continued:

"For ourselves we believe that eventually the reign of peace will come. There will be among nations in respect to public war, war between nations, the same development that has been seen in individual communities in respect to private combat between individual men."

Obstacles in the path of securing international amnesty during the past three years, he pointed out, have been extremely serious, because of the unrest and violence that have resulted from the world depression.

CITES REVOLUTIONS

Drawing attention to the fact that half the nations of the world have experienced revolutions and that in many of them governments have "either been overturned or have been tottering," the speaker said:

"When the officials of a government are unstable in their positions, they are often tempted to indulge in threats or demonstrations against neighboring nations in order to keep themselves in office.

"It is rather difficult for a weak government to be fair towards its neighbors, because there is always the temptation to resort to some demonstration of false patriotism to rally behind it popular support.

"Even in our own country, you have doubtless been able to notice that we have not been free from some of these excesses of nationalistic feelings. There has never been a time when our political demagogues thought it more worth while to declaim, for example, against the expected machination of foreign debtors. Never has some part of our press been more extreme in criticizing even the most necessary steps towards international co-operation."

POINTS TO NAVAL PACT

Following his premise that the first step toward law and order is always to get hold of the pistols, he pointed to the arrival of the United States, Great Britain and Japan at an agreement in the London Naval Treaty.

He made the following plea for United States membership in the League Court:

"We have signed a treaty for the court and have urged its ratification before the United States Senate. We believe by joining that court we would not only facilitate the quick and easy settlement of many irritating and troublesome controversies, but that we also would give a great assurance to the other nations of the world of our devotion to the cause of peace, which has been, I am sorry to say, somewhat shaken by the length of time it has taken to get us into the court."

Secretary Stimson was introduced by Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, who had called the church council. Invocation was offered by the Rev. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor, Shadyside Presbyterian Church, and the benediction was asked by the Rev. William Francis Conner.

JAPAN SCORES STIMSON

TOKIO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Secretary Henry L. Stimson's reference to non-recognition of the fruits of aggression in his Pittsburgh speech drew the comment from a foreign office spokesman today that "it was the same old story."

The spokesman said the references to alleged Japanese aggression in Manchuria were implied accusations against Japan "that had lost their sting through frequent reiteration."

Nevertheless, in evidence of official Japanese interest in the speech, the Washington embassy obtained an advance copy and cabled the foreign office voluminous extracts.

The speech was the biggest story in the afternoon papers, all of them featuring Mr. Stimson's picture under black headlines: "Stimson again blames Japan" and "Stimson stubbornly reiterates his opinion."

Auto Injuries Held Modern 'Epidemic'

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Automobile injuries have become the modern epidemic, taking the place of infantile paralysis and tuberculosis in filling the hospitals, Dr. John J. Moorhead, professor of sugery of Columbia University, said in an address prepared for delivery before the Interstate Post-Graduate Medical Association here today.

Dr. Moorhead said that Saturday and Sunday accidents were ruining the small community hospitals.

SEEK NUMBERS CHIEFS AFTER HAYS RAID

Operators of a huge numbers lottery were being sought by county detectives today following a raid on its headquarters at 255 Baldwin street, Hays, yesterday.

Lottery paraphernalia and bills for 16 gross of numbers pads, found in the establishment, were carted to the court house. The bills were made out to "Jake" Goldstein, the detectives said.

In a raid at 318 Baldwin street, Hays, two weeks ago, detectives said they arrested Edward Goldstein, former Braddock policeman, said to be a brother of "Jake," and 10 others.

The detectives entered the place at 10 a. m. and waited for the operators who, apparently tipped off, had removed adding machines and other accessories. Belief was expressed by detectives that the headquarters raided yesterday had been in use since the raid at 318 Baldwin street.

FAVORITES WIN IN BRIDGE WAR

Vanderbilt was East and dealer and North and South passed throughout.

Vanderbilt opened with the unusual bid of two diamonds. Von Zedtwitz bid three no trump, Vanderbilt five diamonds, Von Zedtwitz six clubs and Vanderbilt six diamonds.

Malowan and Julian Barth bid and made a grand slam in hearts, while their partners, playing the same board at another table, defeated a six no trump bid by on trick. Barth executed a gran coup to fulfill his contract. Th hand follows:

Barth, sitting north, opened with one heart. His partner answered with a jump bid of three clubs. With their opponents quiet, Barth and Malowan bid three hearts, four diamonds, four spades, six no trump, seven diamonds and seven hearts.

Culbertson's team lost only one match in the afternoon when Lightner and Gottlieb lost a four-heart redouble.

Their opponents were Albert R Leventhal and J. Arthur Goodman. Both sides were vulnerable With Leventhal sitting north, he and Goodman bid up to four hearts when Lightner doubled and Leventhal redoubled. Lightner could only make one trick in diamonds. The hand:

THE VERY REV. G. C. F. BRATENAHL BLESSING THE HOUNDS—AN OLD ENGLISH CUSTOM—AT WASHINGTON (D. C.) HUNT

DR. DAY LAUDS CITY, REGRETS LEAVING

The Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, pastor of the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, has tendered his resignation, effective November 10, it was announced at the church today. The resignation was submitted to the board of trustees Tuesday, but has not been acted upon. Dr. Day resigned to accept the pastorate of the Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church at Baltimore, Md., November 13.

AUTHOR OF BOOKS

Author of a number of books and pastor of the Christ Church the last seven years, Dr. Day was a member of the foreign missions committee of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was ordained in 1904. Prior to coming to Pittsburgh he served at Bellefontaine, Cincinnati, Delaware and Canton. He was a chaplain in the A. E. F. during the World War.

In a statement today, Dr. Day said:

"This decision has caused me no little pain, as many of the best friends I have ever had or ever will have are in Christ Church. They have eased my burdens with their gifts and helpfulness, have warmed my heart with their love, have supported my labors with their labors with their prayers. The City of Pittsburgh has been very kind to me, opening its platforms to my messages, granting unto me a wide circle of friends among all faiths, labor leaders and captains of industry, social workers and ministers, university men and news writers.

"Here have been fought some of my hardest battles for righteousness and the field has become to me a consecrated place because of the struggle. The Pittsburgh Conference has made me forever its debtor by its hospitality, its brotherhood, its intellectual and spiritual fellowship.

SEES GREAT CHALLENGE

"It has not been an easy thing to contemplate leaving all this behind, but the church which has extended to me a unanimous and cordial invitation is one of great challenge and opportunity. Its former pastor characterizes it as the greatest downtown preaching place in American Methodism. Its beautiful temple of worship occupies a strategic place at the center of the city's life and its situation offers a field for real service.

"The congregations are large and the official membership of the church is eager for a deep spiritual emphasis in an approach to all the problems of modern life. There are some real difficulties to be overcome, but that is all the more reason why one should go, if he believes God is calling him thither. After much prayer and deliberation there seemed to be nothing to do but accept the invitation so heartily extended and go, believing that grace and wisdom will be given as they are needed."

Motorist Arrested As Car Hits Trolley

John Hudpohl, 35, of 2540 Baldwin road, Crafton, was lodged in Center Avenue Police Station early today because his automobile collided head-on with a Wilkinsburg-East Liberty street car in Fifth avenue near Stevenson street.

Hudpohl was taken to Passavant Hospital, but physicians there refused to examine him.

Stomach gas, pain, 3 yrs. Stops it quick

"I had a mean case of acid indigestion for the past three years," writes Miss Adeline Beljean, Brooklyn, N. Y. "Tried everything with little if any results. Then heard about ACIDINE and got some. It is wonderful. I can eat everything without gas or pain. Sleep fine."

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way ACIDINE succeeds when other known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Japtase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy, starchy foods that cause trouble. ACIDINE stops burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, ends gas, headache, sleeplessness from acidity and helps digest starchy foods and meats.

Don't run chances of dangerous painful troubles from acidity. Get ACIDINE today from your druggist and note quick relief from sourness, pain and belching. You can eat, drink and smoke as you like. Maker guarantees results that satisfy you or money back.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With—
Patricia Pitt

The Walter C. Carroll family, College avenue, will be off this week-end to attend the wedding of the Carroll's son, Walter C. Carroll, Jr.

He'll marry Miriam Clarke Mohler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Robbins Mohler, of Washington, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in St. James Chapel, Chicago, with only members of the two families attending. Mary Carroll will be the bride's only attendant.

Mary will leave Saturday by motor with Marjorie Kimball, who's departing to make her home in Chicago. And Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, their daughter Florence, and their daughter, Mrs. Edward Standish, Jr., of Longmeadow, Mass., who has just arrived in town, will leave Sunday.

Ever so many folks have been visiting in New York. Mrs. Grant McCargo has been at the Savoy-Plaza and so has Mrs. W. N. Kerr. Staying at the Ambassador has been Mrs. David M. Gilmore, and the Frederic Ickes Merricks have been at the Barclay.

The John P. Hoelzels and their daughters, Elinore, who is a student at Dobbs Ferry, and Phyliss, have been at the Waldorf-Astoria, and so have the William B. Todds.

The George S. Olivers and Mrs. Franklin Nicholson Black have been at the Seigniory Club, Lucerne-in-Quebec.

Visit in Canada

Miss Edna Sutton, a leader in the Twentieth Century Club, will close her home in Fifth avenue, and go to New York to stay, much to the regret of many folks here.

There's going to be another benefit polo game, but this one will be indoors since the date is December 10. The Shadyside and Vang teams will play in the Armory for the benefit of the soup kitchen, maintained by the Mt. Vernon Seminary Alumnae Association for school children on the South Side. Mrs. Harry Bell, president of the alumnae, will direct the affair.

Siple on Adventure For Book Material

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Paul Siple, Erie Boy Scout who went to the Antarctic with Admiral Richard Byrd, left last night on a new adventure to remote areas of Russia, Java, the Far East, Australia, Africa and the Philippines.

He sails Friday from New York on a six-months voyage. He said he expects to write a book of his experiences.

Cold Winter Forecast By Bird Migrations

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Officials of the Jack Miner bird sanctuary never have seen such a large migration of birds as is going on this fall, and on the strength of it they look forward to a cold winter. About 200 geese arrived from their nesting grounds in the Hudson's Bay en route to their winter quarters in Southern United States.

Homer City Theater Destroyed by Fire

INDIANA, Pa., Oct. 27.—Fire which followed an explosion early today destroyed the Empire Theater at Homer City and caused damage to the Risinger Music Store and the Fabra poolroom, entailing a loss estimated at $30,000. Police said there was a loud explosion in the operator's booth at the theater preceding the fire.

Izzy Einstein Now In Role of Author

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Izzy Einstein, whose famous makeups as a dry sleuth foiled many a bootlegger, appeared today in a new disguise. He's an author. He wrote a book, out today, called "Prohibition Agent No. 1."

The meaning of No. 1, he explains, is "foist and foremost."

"Daughter's wash beat mine"

so I've switched over to her Chipso

I could hardly BELIEVE
My EYES when I SAW
May's WASH out so EARLY—

May laughed and said,
"You should SOAK your CLOTHES in CHIPSO!"

I've DONE our family wash for 21 YEARS and I've NEVER SEEN the EQUAL of CHIPSO SUDS! Those WONDERFUL SUDS BUBBLE out the DIRT WITHOUT RUBBING! And the CLOTHES are so BRIGHT and CLEAN.

* * *

DON'T go another DAY without trying CHIPSO—you'll get a LOVELY WASH.

"How do I know what's in those cheap soap chips?"

I want clothes to wear—so I use CHIPSO!

CHIPSO is my choice because CHIPSO makes clothes wear LONGER!

I DON'T know what goes into those CHEAP SOAP CHIPS. But I know CHIPSO—it's GUARANTEED to have NO FREE LYE! Why, CHIPSO is SAFE even for SILKS! My clothes SOAK clean so fast and EASY in RICH CHIPSO SUDS.

* * *

Try CHIPSO for DISHES and you'll join me in saying, "CHIPSO is LOVELY on the HANDS!"

What!

No Compliments on Your Hair

That's serious—if no one is noticing your hair—it's time you noticed it! It probably lacks lustre, the highlights that make it attractive. Better dash in to-day for a wonder-working

His blouses never gave full wear until—

I changed from strong granulated soap to safe Chipso!

I couldn't see WHY Buddy's BLOUSES TORE so EASY—until a DEMONSTRATOR warned me about STRONG GRANULATED SOAP. "See how HARD it is on your HANDS," she said. "It must have FREE LYE that ROTS the CLOTHES!"

So I changed FAST to SPEEDY SUDSING CHIPSO, because it's SAFE—even for COLORED SILKS!

HEAVY WOOLENS USED TO MAKE PRACTICAL, TAILORED SUITS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 27. — The heavy thick woolens that used to go into the making of winter topcoats, Paris now takes for tailored suits. The suits are of a new type; they are sturdy and heavy and practical, yet they may be worn with furs and frilly blouses and serve for luncheon parties or afternoon bridge. They belong to the new race of clothes—dresses and coats and suits that may be adapted to a dozen uses.

VERA BOREA, the young Italian countess, who has been designing Paris clothes for less than a year, is an expert at this sort of thing. Like all superior designers, she knows not so much what to put on a garment as what to leave off. Like all other Borea clothes, the suit in today's sketch is the simplest thing imaginable — the very quality which means smartness in this year's clothes.

* * *

FIRST OF all there are no furbelows to detract from the natural lines of the figure. The skirt hangs practically straight, except when some motion reveals the inverted box plaits which are at the center-front and center-back. The jacket is youthfully short and reaches just hip length. It fastens with a single button and has perfectly straight sleeves.

THE ONLY unexpected line is in the left lapel, which is wider than the other—a feature which comes into good use when the collar is worn closed.

THE FABRIC of the suit is a heavy coat-weight woolen homespun in dark brown, with diagonal stripes in a lighter brown. The knitted blouse is pale green.

A record crowd attended the Edgewood Cot Club's benefit in the Edgewood Club yesterday afternoon and last night, about 90 tables having been in play in the afternoon and 115 at night. The principal entertainment feature in the evening was a musical travesty presented by Mrs. W. F. McCrady, Mrs. J. S. Dean, Miss Virginia Blackmore, Clifford Jones, J. M. Bowers and E. P. Elder, with Mrs. W. W. Duecker accompanying.

The booths, especially the attractive flower booth, in charge of Mrs. J. E. Walmer and her aides, were well patronized. The doll house was won by Miss Dorothy Sattley.

WRIGLEY DOLLAR SUPPLY UNLIMITED

Wrigley's—Real After-Dinner Mint.

By MISS MINT

Dinner — the "big" meal—what a store of good things to eat that word brings to mind! Palatable and rich foods, perhaps—goodies, everything you like so well. So you eat and eat, then "stuff" a wee bit more. How we can abuse that digestive system! Result? Indigestion. But wait! Get out that package of Wrigley's Doublemint or Spearmint. Chew a stick of this delightful gum and notice how quickly all discomfort leaves. A refreshing coolness for your mouth, and a feeling of well-being. You are again "at peace with the world."

I stopped MR. JOHN SMERKER, 223 Meredith St., in the Park Building, yesterday. Mr. Smerker chews Wrigley's gum after each meal, because of its delicious flavor and the healthful benefit derived from its use. His personal opinion is that "Wrigley's Gum is a real after-dinner mint." Just try this tempting gum—you'll like it—and it is helpful.

Others, among many, to whom I gave Wrigley Dollars were:

RUTH L. RAYNOR, 5714 Howe St.; H. Y. GREEN, 201 Academy Ave.; DOROTHY McHENRY, 845 Sheridan Ave.; D. J. McCARTHY, 1329 Orangewood Ave.; NELL BARNETT, 616 Bluff St.; H. A. SIPE, 5700 Bartlett St.; CATHERINE GORMLEY, 3911 Winterburn Ave.; ALBERT H. LIPP, 1006 Evergreen Ave.; MRS. JANE BACKENSTOSS, 404 Simms St.; F. C. STITT, 10 Federal St., Carnegie.

Wrigley Dollars are real returns on your investment. In addition to the package of tasty gum—you may receive a new dollar bill. Always carry Wrigley's gum with you.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs about one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Engineers Delay Decision on Wages

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Railroad engineers concluded their two-day meeting yesterday without having expressed a formal opinion on a report that the roads would ask all employes to take an additional wage cut next February 1.

Another report to the effect that the railroads and employes would continue the present 10 per cent salary reduction after its expiration in February also brought no formal action.

Charge Father Used Raw Hide on Son

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Accused of whipping his 11-year-old son, William, with a raw hide thong, James Colbert of this city is in jail today, charged with assault.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 27.—(Universal.)—Herbert E. Moy, Chinese journalist, today had obtained a license to marry Ruth S. Taylor, 19, of Newark.

Vare to Introduce Hoover in Phila.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—It was announced here that when President Hoover comes to Philadelphia Monday for the only speech he will make here during the present campaign, he will be introduced by William S. Vare, leader of the Republican city organization.

State Treasurer Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, and James M. Hazlett, city chairman, announced the presidential address will be delivered in Reyburn Plaza, opposite City Hall.

Grand Slam

He had been rather peculiar for years,
Eminent doctors agreed, it was said;
For his recovery they had great fears,
That was before they examined his head.

Due consultation developed the fact
His cerebellum was quite on the blink—
And their consensus of views was he lacked
Intellect, also the power to think.

They operated and took out his brain,
Then left him there in a hospital bed;
When they returned they looked for him in vain,
Left all alone the poor victim had fled.

Later they found him in heavenly bliss,
Running a column exactly like this.

—Van H. Eshelman.

XX Marks This Sport

The Berle-Craig controversy over pirated jokes, etc., was resumed again at the Friars Club the other day when someone quoting Berle's routine laughed and said:

"Boy, ain't those nifties?"

"Poddon my proof-rrading you," snapped Craig, "didn't you mean lifties?"

Monument

Frank Ward O'Malley, who just passed on after indelibly imprinting his name on the scroll of newspaperdom, was before our time. We wish we had known him personally—he must have been a grand man. And we are not capable of jotting down anything so good as that which H. I. Phillips penned of him the other day. So we have borrowed his eulogy. It follows:

"Frank Ward O'Malley is dead, and all that the newspapers say of him is far too little. Great as was his influence in New York when he was doing those priceless news articles for the old Sun, it was in the small towns that he was worshiped. We recall our cub reporter days on the Register back home when somebody got hurt every morning in the rush to get the office copy of the Sun to see what O'Malley had."

Great Grefe!

Walter Thompson tells it on Will Grefe, the famous artist, who is absent-minded when he paints. A model was posing in the altogether, the windows were wide open, there was no steam heat and the day was icy. The shivering model could stand the cold blasts no longer and hinted:

"Don't you find it chilly in here?"

"Chilly?" said Grefe, coming out of his trance, "why so it is. Scuse me a moment."

And so saying, he left the studio, came back attired in his overcoat, and resumed.

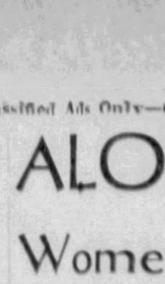
Women Win Most Laurels In the Best Plays In New York

By GEORGE SEIBEL

The new Kaufman and Ferber play, "Dinner at Eight," had its official opening on Broadway last Saturday. The next morning I was in the Players Club, talking to Malcolm Duncan, who has an important role in the drama. As we were talking about old times, when young Mal was learning the actor's art under Richard Mansfield, one after another of the club members drifted up, and most of them had the same line, "Well, you're sure of a job for three years now." The new Kaufman and Ferber play has been a big hit—there's no doubt about it. And it deserved to succeed, for the authors of "Showboat" and "The Royal Family" know their business—and so many people connected with the stage don't know their business.

Duncan told me that in his long part there was hardly a line changed during the rehearsals. Every one knows how plays are tried on the road and then rewritten. None of that for Kaufman and Ferber! "Dinner at Eight" visited no dog towns for experimental purposes. It was well cooked before it was served. Kaufman did the work of direction so thoroughly that everything ran like clockwork, and justified his policy of keeping newspaper critics away until all was as it should be.



Mr. Seibel

THAT NEW FORMULA

As for the play, it is another turnover of the idea in "Street Scene," "Grand Hotel," "Luxury Liner," and such works—that the lives of people thrown together by chance are linked together by fate. A fashionable New York hostess is going to have guests from the British nobility. So she proceeds to invite all those whom the Lord and Lady might wish to meet when they come to dinner at eight.

After this introduction comes a series of flashbacks, showing how all these guests are not what they seem. One is menaced by financial ruin, another by moral disgrace, another by thoughts of suicide.

In scenes of finished acting, in which Malcolm Duncan as the lonely and dying husband of the social lioness and Constance Collier as a flamboyant stage star of fading splendor do memorable work, the past, present and future of all the people is revealed—and then the Lord and Lady don't come to dinner at eight—and all the guests in an ironic close drift off to the dining room hiding their anguishes and aches. It's a very fine play very finely acted.

QUEEN RACHEL THE FIRST

There are many fine plays finely acted on Broadway now, though a dozen theaters are still dark. After weighing every point, I concluded that the best thing of the season so far is Rachel Crothers' "When Ladies Meet." Rachel Crothers knows her business, just as George Kaufman does. With sparkling wit she builds up a big dramatic situation—shows real character in a real crisis—and brings down the curtain without any false and sentimental fixing up of broken fences or glueing of shattered hearts. She has the best third act now on Broadway.

The plot of "When Ladies Meet" is the familiar one of the eternal triangle, but the ladies in two of the corners meet, with results disastrous to the philandering gentlemen in the other corner. But the situations are developed with such dextrously natural technique, the characters drawn with such abiding human sincerity, that it becomes a great comedy.

Three women do most delightful and convincing work in this play — Frieda Inescort, Selena Royle, and best of all Spring Byington, who gives the most deliciously humorous portrait in New York except Alice Brady in "Mademoiselle."

There is the other great play of the season. The more I think of that, the better I like it. In this play the daughter of a Parisian couple, Alice Brady and A. E. Matthews, is going to have a baby. Her flighty parents, flitting and fluttering about among their own selfish vanities and pleasures, know nothing about the calamity.

The new governess comes to take charge of the girl—she is the "Mademoiselle," played with infinite tenderness by Grace George. She discovers the state of affairs, and steers everything safely to the end, when the daughter returns and Mademoiselle, moved throughout by her maternal yearnings, takes the little baby as her own.

News Events On Screen

THE GLOBE TROTTER

With the presidential fight approaching a climax, Hearst Metrotone News presents the latest pictures from both camps, on the screen of the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. At Detroit President Hoover is seen and heard as he addresses a great crowd and proclaims, "We will win!" Then follows Gov. Roosevelt's speech in Pittsburgh when he comes out flatly against the soldiers' bonus, "until the budget is balanced not on paper only, but when there is a surplus in the treasury."

The Soviet government, which has been adopting American methods in many things, has now added athletic training for the youth of the land. In an immense outdoor stadium hundreds of girl and men athletes perform and then parade before the camera.

A society steeplechase over a three and one-half mile course on the estate of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, West Hills, L. I., is presented. Falls over fence and brush hurdles thrill the spectators.

E. C. Juergens, of Marysville, Mich., demonstrates his new "windmill" automobile. At the front is a big propeller that whirls at tremendous speed and it is without clutch or transmission.

Blase Broadway was thrilled when Tiny Kline, female aerialist, slid down a wire from the top of a 20-story building to Broadway hanging on only by her teeth. Right into the arms of a policeman she went and they led her off to court.

All of the thrilling plays of the gridiron battle between the Navy and Princeton teams at Princeton, in which they fight to a scoreless tie, are presented.

Plays and Players

Kay Francis and sauve William Powell are teamed again in "One Way Passage," coming to the Warner tomorrow.

Film-Ending Contest

Warner Brothers Theaters are offering 20 round trip tickets to France aboard the steamship Paris, in connection with "One Way Passage," co-starring William Powell and Kay Francis, which opens in the Warner tomorrow.

The prizes are offered for the most logical ending of the story submitted. When "One Way Passage" ends, the story is not absolutely clear whether Powell and Francis die, or meet the following New Year's eve at Tia Juana. This question is the basis on which the prizes are to be offered.

The contest is not merely a local one, but is national.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By MARK HELLINGER

IT WAS the typical village night club of five years ago. The lights were continuously dimmed to conceal the cheapness of the decorations. A five-piece band hammered lustily away at the hits of the day. College boys and their girls were the chief customers. Occasionally, out-of-towners or a slumming party from Park avenue ventured into the unupholstered cellar to wonder or jeer.

I wandered in there one night and sat with the boss. The shabby show went on. A sister team. Skinny-legged and scrawny, they warbled of home and mother through their noses. A dance team. They tangoed with the skill of an elephant taking a bath in a tea-cup.

The crowd paid no attention. Drunks tumbled off their chairs. There was the continual clink of ice in glasses. People moved about. Talked loudly. But the entertainers didn't seem to care. Has-beens or youngsters, most of them. They wanted to eat.

"Wait'll you hear this guy sing, Mark," said the boss of the joint.

I sipped my malted milk. Every singer is a sensation when a newspaperman talks to a cafe owner.

The Kid walked out on to the dime-sized floor. He was tall, slender-hipped and blond-haired. His piano player rippled his fingers across the keys. The lights grew dimmer. And, standing there in the spotlight, the Kid sang in the smoky twilight of that small-time dive.

His voice was low. And sweet. He half closed his eyes. His hands fluttered lazily to the slow rhythm of "Melancholy Baby."

The drunks forgot their vague mutterings. They listened silently to the baby-faced kid. The women forgot their escorts, and sat enraptured. I listened and marveled. The Kid sang the jazz jingle as though it were a hymn.

He finished his song, and the walls seemed to tremble with the applause. The customers broke their toy mallets on the tables. They shouted. They whistled. They stamped their feet. The Kid was a smash hit.

After a while he wandered over to my table. I told him I thought he had a great future and would go very far in the entertainment business. That didn't surprise him.

"I know I'm good," he said.

"How old are you?" I asked.

"I'm 21," he said. And before I'm 26 I'll be a star. My name will be in lights. Listen, money ain't everything, Mr. Hellinger. I'd rather earn $50 a week—like I'm making here—for singing than a thousand a week doing anything else. I love to sing."

A year went by. I didn't see The Kid until one day a publicity notice came to my desk saying he was working at a Broadway cafe. I dropped in. The Kid wasn't spotted. He wasn't the star. But he was making about $125 a week.

He still gripped the audience with his frail, wondering voice.

"I like this work, Mr. Hellinger," he said. "And I'm going along slowly. Getting better all the time. The first thing you know I'll be a smash hit like Al Jolson or those other fellows. Right now I'm a better entertainer than Jolson. But he has experience and background. That's all I need."

He seemed as confident as ever. And when I left him he was dancing with a chorus kid in the show. The ladies were daffy about him. But, the owner told me, he was hot for the chorus girl. They were madly in love.

The Kid dropped from sight. Two years is a long time on Broadway. I had completely forgotten about him. New joints opened. They closed. New ones to take their place.

I walked into the Cotton Club about a year ago. And there sat the Kid. His baby face was lined. His eyes were swollen. But he was dressed immaculately, and sat with one of the richest dames in New York. The lady was the daughter of one of the fanciest dowagers ever to snub a newspaperman. Money and position, she had. What difference did it make if she were crowding forty?

The Kid greeted me affectionately. He talked of summers on the Riviera. Of penthouses on Park Ave. Of his girl friend and how much they were in love.

"What about your singing?" I asked.

The dissipated baby face clouded. He smiled wryly. It was an unpleasant subject.

"Oh, I'm having a good time now. But I'll get down to business in a little while—and get all set. I tell you right now I could step into a show and stop it cold. Am I right, baby?"

"You're grand, honey," she answered.

How did he make his money, I asked. Oh, lucky investments. The lady winked. She was the lucky investment . . .

The other night I was in a midtown speak. Beer a quarter. Whisky a half a buck. And a couple of frowsy hostesses and a piano.

And at the bar, swaying drunkenly, was The Kid.

The fat, gold-toothed hostess whispered in my ear:

"Say, Mark, give this kid a plug. He's my boy friend. Boy, can he sing!"

The Kid wobbled to the centre of the floor. He looked forty. He was pasty-faced, shaky and very drunk. And when he sang, his voice was hoarse and cracked. He had lost his charm. He was just another broken down singer singing for his supper.

I walked over to the bar after he had completed his turn.

"Hello, Mark," he greeted.

"How you doing, kid?" I inquired, knowing the answer.

"Fine, Marky, old kid. I'm doing great. In a couple of years I'll be a big star. I'll hire you as my press agent. (Give us a drink, George) Say, right now I can sing better than that Jolson. And you know it."

I nodded.

"Sure," I replied. "Sure." . . .

WILD CARGO -:- By FRANK BUCK With EDWARD ANTHONY

bouncing out of the hammock on his furry little bottom.

I learned a few days later, however, that the caboon's wife took an entirely different view of the matter. The baby had taken a shine to Toto and spent the next day or two crying for its playmate. The mother thought the baby was right, and behind her husband's back she continued on numerous occasions to bring Toto over to the baby's hammock.

With visitors Toto was the most popular animal on the premises, even though he played many pranks on them. With the servants he grew more and more unpopular. To placate the irate domestics I had Toto tied up for two solid days, but the cub languished so visibly under this punishment that I didn't have the heart to keep it up.

SERVANT COMPLAINS

His first act on regaining his freedom was to get into my room, pull back the covers of my bed and get underneath. Ah Kee walloped the suspicious-looking mound with a slipper, the resultant squeals confirming his worst suspicions. Again the tukenia gave Toto the bum's rush. That evening, when the humorless Chinaman voiced his bitter complaint over the occurrence, I began to wonder how much of an asset the little rogue was. After all, it was essential to keep the servants happy.

But one day Toto removed all doubts from my mind.

It all came about this way: I was in the Raffles Hotel in Singapore one evening when I was greeted by an acquaintance, a solemn young man who worked as an assistant in the American consul's office. I have so many friends in the consular service that it is impossible for me to think of this branch of the government except in the kindliest light; but I could never bring myself to like this particular chap (who ought to have a name, so let's call him Kinkley).

I did not relish the meeting, for Kinkley was the club bore. If he once caught your ear, he would talk interminably and monotonously on his favorite subject—himself. I had no desire to hear again about the memoirs he was writing. In fact it had never seemed right to me that a young man, whose only experience had been a few years' pounding consular invoices with a rubber stamp, should annoy the world by writing a volume about it.

A RELUCTANT PROMISE

I wouldn't deny anyone the right to pen his memoirs. It's one of the world's greatest pastimes. But I take violent exception to the fiend who produces a sheaf of his dull reminiscences and starts reading them aloud, uninvited. That was one of Kinkley's failings.

After we had swapped greetings, the diplomat-author remarked, "I hear you've moved to Katong, Buck. You've got the right idea. I'd like to get away from Singapore myself."

"Why don't you?" I said, not knowing what I was letting myself in for.

"That's just what I'm getting at. Your new place in Katong is too big for you. I'd like to have a look at it. If it's the right sort, I might be willing to share it with you."

I groaned inwardly. My first impulse was to protest that I needed every inch of room in the house. But that wouldn't do, for it was generally known that I was looking for someone to share my place with me. Although Kinkley would be about the last man in Singapore I would want for a tenant, I mustn't be rude with him, for after all he had always been very helpful to me in making out my consular invoices on shipments to America and in assisting me to get passports for my native attendants.

The diplomat-author pressed his point, and before I knew it I had promised to show him the house in Katong.

One Saturday afternoon, after I had received many reminders of my indiscreet promise, I consented to meet Kinkley and take him out to Katong to show him the house. That much I would do. But once there I would find some way to set him against the place.

Shortly after we arrived, Kinkley looked over the house and grounds, ecstatically announcing that my home was ideal for him. Just the place to finish his book, he observed, as he deposited on the front porch a bulky briefcase containing the first few hundred pages of his manuscript, which he planned to read to me later in the day.

I plugged away at my job of discouraging this timesome enthusiast. As a starter, I pictured the danger of living near a compound full of wild animals. I mentioned that I frequently kept tigers and leopards in cages under the house. I was sure that the noises which the animals made at night would wreck his sleep. He waved these objections aside without difficulty. He craved the "experience" of life so close to these animals—it would make an interesting chapter for his book. As for sleeping, he was a heavy sleeper and would not be bothered at all by any noises the animals might make.

I tried another tack. Did he realize that it was practically impossible to get satisfactory servants in Katong? Mine were terrible, I warned him, barely keeping a straight face in the process. That was nothing, he assured me. He would bring his own servant.

Ugly yellow vanishes TEETH WHITEN 3 Shades in 3 days

If you think yellow, stained, unsightly-looking teeth are natural, start using Kolynos—a half-inch of this amazing dental cream on a dry brush twice daily. In 3 days you'll see your mistake. Your teeth will look 3 shades whiter!

Kolynos—unlike any preparation you've ever used—contains two important ingredients that clean and whiten teeth remarkably. One—the finest cleansing agent known—erases stain and tartar, foams into every tiny fissure and washes away decay-causing debris. While the other ingredient kills the millions of germs that cause most tooth and gum troubles and helps to make teeth absolutely clean.

Thus Kolynos gently cleans teeth right down to the natural white enamel and soon makes them more attractive than ever. It refreshes the mouth and stimulates the gums. Buy a tube of Kolynos today.

PITT MAY SURPRISE IRISH

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Notre Dame's Huge Line. | Deal for Finn Blocked.
Down East Big Four. | Phils to Keep Stars.
Rentner to Be Coach. | New Start by Schaaf.

IRISH WALL TOUGH PROBLEM FOR PITT

THE NOTRE DAME line that will try to play tag with the Pitt halfbacks here Saturday in football's game of the week is just about the biggest ever to come out of South Bend—and just about the toughest. From end to end, there isn't an inexperienced player in the septet—in fact, Frank Canale and Mike Ledding are the only sophomores on the entire first two teams—and except for Capt. Paul Host, 175, and Eddie Kosky, 185, the terminals, there isn't one that weighs less than 190 pounds.

Ed Krause

Ed Krause and Joe Kurth, the tackles—and no other team can boast a pair to equal them—weigh more than 215 and stand above 6 feet 2 inches. Norman Greeney and Jim Harris, the guards, go 190 or better, as does Bill Pierce, and all can run. Kitty Gorman and Ben Alexander, the centers, are around the same tonnage and equal to Tommy Yarr in ability. Just what the comparatively light Sutherland line can do against such super-men is a question, but it will take much harder charging and fiercer tackling than Pitt has shown to date if the Panthers are going to stay in the ball game.

FROM BOSTON COME rumors that a Down East Big Four is shaping, that things have taken a trend indicating that in 1934 and thereafter Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth will be meeting one another in football.

Yale now plays all of the three others, but Princeton and Harvard do not meet, nor do Princeton and Dartmouth. The plan, it is said, is to let the Yale-Harvard game stand as the final one of the season for both of those teams, and have Princeton and Dartmouth wind up together annually in Princeton.

MANY BASEBALL PLAYERS coming into the big leagues, and even after being up a long time, have failed to correct flaws in their play. They don't go out and practice the things at which they are weak, as the old-timers did. They talk golf instead of baseball between games.

The same failing appears to have retarded the development of some football players. At least it is given by a star quarterback of a decade ago as the main reason why there are so few good quarterbacks today.

"THEY DON'T LIVE football," this veteran is quoted in discussing the scarcity of quarterback stars. "They don't think football between Saturdays. During practice they have their minds fixed on a date for the evening, or a picture show or some other amusement. They generally start a game with no other plan of attack or defense than what the head coaches give them that day. Not having concentrated on the probable and possible attack during the week, and not having given any thought to probable or possible defense, they forget most of the coaches' instructions after a few plays, and then pick haphazardly, generally doing a thorough job of bad guessing."

Pug Rentner

ONE BIG GRID star who won't have to turn to the pro game even in these hard times is Pug Rentner, now playing his senior season for Northwestern to wind up a college career as one of the greatest backs in any part of the country.

Dick Hanley, Northwestern coach, says he plans to add Rentner to the freshman coaching staff next year, and Pug also is in line for a good position with an advertising firm. Hanley's activities for 1933, by the way, would appear to spike a rumor that Dick himself was to be supplanted by a new coach at Northwestern, to which report has been linked the name of a prominent Western Pennsylvania mentor.

THERE WERE TIMES last season when only the lack of a good second baseman kept the Phillies from looking like a club equal to the best in the National League. The Quakers might have finished close to the top if the keystone sack had been guarded capably, and Manager Burt Shotton is determined to bolster the weak spot for 1933.

Mickey Finn is the player Shotton would like to obtain for the vacancy and overtures are said to have been made for the Brooklyn infielder. Negotiations fell flat, however, when Brooklyn countered with an offer of Finn and Hack Wilson for Pitcher Ray Benge.

SHOTTON SAYS HE has no room for Wilson in an outfield now made up of Chuck Klein, George Davis and Hal Lee, and adds he will not part with Berge under any circumstances. Philly officials want it understood that the latter policy also applies to other valuable players on their roster, particularly Chuck Klein. President Ruch says Klein will not be sold or traded and that it will be simply a waste of time for any other club to try to get him. "We are building up our team, not tearing it apart," he explains. "We need only a couple of hurlers and a capable second baseman to become pennant contenders. Klein is under contract for another season and will be signed over again when the time comes."

THE GUESSERS ON coming managerial appointments have let up on the Cincinnati club for the time being and turned their attention to the Red Sox, in view of indications that Marty McManus will not be retained as pilot for next year.

The most popular choice is Tris Speaker, now that the Babe Ruth story has blown up. It was with the Red Sox from 1908 to 1915 that Speaker put in some of his best years as an outfielder before going to Cleveland. Others mentioned for the place are Oscar Vitt, Hollywood leader, and Burt Niehoff, who piloted Chattanooga to the Southern Association pennant last season.

MRS. BARNEY DEMPSEY, whose husband, a brother of Jack Dempsey, died a year ago, has taken over the management of the gymnasium established by the champion for Barney and will run it herself as a training place for fighters, one of the few women ever to act in that capacity.

The place was leased after Barney's death, but the lessee ran it into the ground and flew the coop, leaving behind a stack of bills and tangled accounts. Now Mrs. Dempsey will try to build it up again. The first business and showmanship move probably will be to change the name from Manhattan Gymnasium (that title was suggested by the Estelle Taylor-Jack Dempsey movie "Manhattan Madness") to Dempsey's Gymnasium. Dempsey himself, Mickey Walker, Tommy Loughran, Fidel LaBarba and many other prominent fighters trained there.

Ernie Schaaf

UNCONVINCED THAT HE is done for good, but finally made to realize by his defeat at the hands of Unknown Winston that he has no chance for success in his present condition, Ernie Schaaf has decided to start all over again. The once bright heavyweight prospect is going into the woods to rough it and lead the simple life in an effort to get back on the winning road. Tommy Loughran tried the same thing without much success, but there's a vast difference between the cases. Loughran had run his course and his legs were gone. Schaaf is too young to have gone to pieces physically. Right living and proper training ought to bring him back eventually, but he has a long way to travel to regain the ranking he held less than a year ago.

BOSTON READY TO SEND RAB TO CINCY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Manager Bill McKechnie, of the Boston Braves, today confirmed the report from Boston to the effect that McKechnie had discussed with Owner Sidney Weil, of the Cincinnati Reds, a proposition whereby Walter (Rabbit) Maranville would become the pilot of the Reds. McKechnie, speaking from his Wilkinsburg home, said:

Maranville

"Yes, I was approached by Weil on the Maranville-for-manager subject. The Cincinnati magnate came to me during the world series for the purpose of ascertaining whether Maranville could be obtained for the managerial job. I told him that much as we valued the veteran, we would be willing to make some sacrifices in his behalf if he were offered a better berth. I have had no further negotiations with the Cincinnati people since that time.

BILL LAUDS RABBIT

McKechnie made it plain that he would be sorry to see the Rabbit leave Boston. In this connection he stated:

"Maranville is so popular in Boston and he is so valuable to the Braves that we would have to get a dependable infielder in return for his services. Still, we are anxious to do the Rabbit a favor and I know that I will be willing to go better than fifty-fifty with the Cincinnati officials if they wish to talk business."

Maranville was regarded as one of the most valuable players in the National League last year and he was given a generous springling of votes in the ballots cast recently to determine the "most valuable" athletes.

PREPARES FOR HUNT

McKechnie, running true to form, is preparing for another big season in the open. The advent of the hunting period will find him prepared for some long excursions into the woods. As Bill talked over the Maranville matter today his hunting dogs awaited a workout. Quoth Skipper Bill:

"You know, these good hunting dogs also have to go into training to be able to do their stuff right when the season begins. I am just getting ready to go into the woods for a preliminary workout with my hounds."

PANTHERS GET LONG WORKOUT IN RAIN

By JESS CARVER

If this Notre Dame football eleven isn't the wonder team it is cracked up to be and what it looked against Carnegie Tech last week, Pitt's Golden Panthers, not quite as golden at this time as they should be, are in a swell spot to show the Irish up.

Seldom have two major elevens come together with one so firmly established a favorite as are the Notre Dames in this clash with Pitt Saturday. There is a suspicion lurking about that the reason for this is the way in which the Ramblers trampled Carnegie last week. The routs of Haskell and Drake have had something to do with the boosting of the Irish stock, too, for in the past, Notre Dame has always been comparatively kind to Drake and while Haskell was a newcomer on the South Benders' schedule, Notre Dame teams in the past seldom have put the heat on little foemen.

IRISH PULLED PUNCHES

But that isn't saying they could not have walloped many of their opponents in the past by 60 points as well as 20 or so.

Judge Wally Steffen has the right slant. The Judge, in an interview given out in Chicago, picked Pitt to give the Irish a busy afternoon, and said the psychology of the game favors the Panthers. Sure it does . . . in a case like this, with the teams both big-leaguers, the underdog always is better off than the favorite.

Anyway, Coach Sutherland is bringing his boys along very carefully for the encounter. Apparently he's planning on a defensive battle, which may be the old hooey. It was Napoleon or Cleopatra or someone who once cracked that the best defense was a good offense. Maybe it was Harry Greb. The crack was a good one, whoever made it.

The Panthers went through their practice yesterday in the rain and on a soggy and treacherous turf. If the weather Saturday is wet, the Panthers will have had some experience at handling a slippery ball. Pitt battle plans, still unsettled, are being drawn to include a scrap in the rain, which will do neither eleven any good.

LINEUPS IN DOUBT

The Irish are not likely to start their shock troops against Pitt. They faced practically the same situation at South Bend against the Panthers last year they will here Saturday, and at South Bend, the presence of the second eleven in there at the start of the battle might have been fatal. Coach Anderson expects to win this ball game, but he isn't kidding himself. He knows his point-a-minute record to date doesn't stand much of a chance of standing up after Saturday.

It will be difficult to fix probable starting lineups until after tomorrow afternoon's final workouts . . . and then, they'll be subject to change right up to kickoff time.

There is one thing that Notre Dame can count on. In Warren Haller, Pitt will present a back who'll match any the Irish can toss into action and one who'll stay in there for 60 minutes.

The Rambler squad is due in town early tomorrow morning and will be quartered at the P. A. A.

The Tipoff

Here is a little yarn that goes hand in hand with the visit here this week of Notre Dame. It harkens back to the 1926 Tech-Irish encounter, when the fartans shocked the gridiron universe by taking the Ramblers. It concerns Tech, George Keogan, then one of Rockne's chief scouts, and the Irish basketball coach and the old Bald Eagle himself.

The week before the game with the Irish, Carnegie played the Quantico Marines here in Pittsburgh. Rockne sent Keogan over to scout the Techs, and with the thoroughness he applies to any task he undertakes, Keogan brought back everything possible on the Skibos . . . everything, but one thing. He missed out in the famous spinner—the reason being that in the game with the Marines, Coach Steffen did not permit Harpster to call the formation at any time.

Well, the week following, the spinner played an important part in Tech's success. Rockne, who stayed in Chicago for the memorable 20-20 tie between the Army and Navy, was considerably het up when he heard his Ramblers had been beaten, and until he cooled off, raised plenty of heck with his assistant coaching and scouting staff. Keogan came in for his share of Rockne's fire.

Keogan heatedly insisted that Tech hadn't used the spinner against the Marines, argued vociferously that the shock had apparently made no impression. As a matter of fact, Rockne had implicit trust in George, but could not pass up the chance to have a bit of fun at his expense, and as the result that he razzed George from then on, at every opportunity.

Tech's basketball team played in South Bend that year and Dike Beede, the Plaid fullback, was also a member of the court team. The game hardly had begun when Keogan spotted Dike. He couldn't wait until the game was over to grab the Skibo and rush him into Rockne's office. He shouted:

"Hey, Rock! Here's the Tech fullback. I'm going to convince you I didn't miss out on that darned spinner. Beede, tell this guy that you fellows did not use that play against the Marines."

"That's correct, Mister Rockne, we saved that one for you," Beede replied. "Mister Keogan couldn't have seen it because we didn't need it against the Marines."

But you couldn't get ahead of Rock. He continued to kid Keogan, and even accused he and Beede of framing it to clear George's rep as a scout. And Keogan, as conscientious as they come, continued to go wild every time Rock brought the matter up.

This story was told at a lawing session in the Overend-Burns, Hannum-Waddell-Munhall-Steffen-Peccosh suite at South Bend last week, the afternoon before the Tech-Notre Dame game. Overend knew the story, and started on Keogan, with a crack like this:

"Say, George, they tell me you were to blame for Notre Dame losing that one to us in 1926. How about it?"

Then you should have heard Mister Keogan.

MOHLER TO AID COACH JONES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Coach Howard Jones has set about rebuilding his University of Southern California backfield for the remainder of the 1932 football season with his star quarterback, Orville Mohler, transformed from player to assistant coach.

Mohler's name was written off the varsity roster when athletic authorities at the Trojan school decided further competition might jeopardize his life because of recurrence of a spinal injury sustained a year ago.

Unable to drop the game completely in the middle of his senior year, Mohler offered to assist Jones during the remainder of the season without remuneration. The request was granted.

The Trojan coach is grooming Homer Griffith to replace one of the greatest quarterbacks Southern California ever knew. Mohler said:

"I'm still going around with my fingers crossed. I can't make myself believe I have played my last game of football."

BOJARSKI WINS OVER DURIS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Frankie Bojarski, Erie lightweight, won the decision in a 10-round bout with Mickey Duris, of Johnstown, here last night.

Martin Toukamon, of Cleveland, defeated Young Terry, of Akron, in six rounds; Joe Boldin won by a technical knockout in three rounds over Billy Mido, of New Castle; Billy Frengel won a four-round decision over Bearcat Wright, and Tom Farrow won by a technical knockout over Red Hutton in the first round.

BELLEVUE STARS IN RACE

The Bellevue A. C. has been admitted to membership in the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. This club has entered the following runners in the cross-country race to be held November 5: Roxey DeMarco, Andrew Beno, Samuel Thompson, James Kratt, Edward Antic, J. J. Quinn and M. J. Southwell.

VIOLETS CHECK PURDUE PLAYS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—New York University's regulars showed a strong defense against a Purdue attack in its defensive drill yesterday. Bill McNamara again replaced Joe Hugret on the first team.

Luby DiMeolo, line coach, gave the Violet linemen a long workout on blocking and charging. The Violets evidenced a weakness in this department of the game against Colgate last week.

Eastern Briefs

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Bill Clark, triple-threat sub back, is being groomed to alternate with Chung-Moon, Hawaiian star, as the Navy eleven prepared for the game Saturday with Penn. The Hawaiian will start in Philadelphia, as Coach Rip Miller announced he would stand pat on the Middies lineup.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Penn had another defense session against the Navy passing offense yesterday. Eddie Massaver, quarterback, was fully recovered from last week's injury and was named to start against the Midshipmen.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Harvard worked until after dark yesterday on fundamentals. Five varsity players were out of action, but Jack Crickard appeared to be the only one who might miss the Brown game.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The Brown regulars scrimmaged more than an hour against Harvard plays put on by the scrubs yesterday. Capt. Bill Gilbane was back in the backfield and ready to play.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Bob Higgins, Penn State coach, announced that several varsity men who are not in good condition probably will not play against Colgate's strong team Saturday. He prefers to take his chances with the reserves rather than risk injuries that would keep the regulars out of later games.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Yale again stressed fundamentals yesterday in preparation for the Dartmouth game, and finished with a short scrimmage. It was announced that Joe Johnson, center, who suffered a slight brain concussion in the Army game, will not play again this season.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The Dartmouth regulars had only a light routine drill yesterday as the reserves worked hard. The regulars merely went through a rehearsal of offensive and defensive formations.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Gilmour Dobie, Cornell coach, made two changes in the lineup as the Ithacans finished intensive work for the Columbia game. Tom Borland, sophomore guard, replaced Harry Shaub, and Homer Geoffrion, lightweight back, went in for Dick Beyer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Columbia again concentrated on defense against Cornell plays, with the assistant coaches working as scrub backfield in a dummy scrimmage. The long drill wound up with an offensive scrimmage.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Well, here we are, just two days removed from Pitt's game with Notre Dame and still chewing the rag about what happened in the Panthers' battle with Ohio State at the Stadium last Saturday . . . That, you will recall, was one of those doughnut affairs, 0 to 0 . . . You know, the old Ohio stuff, round on the ends and high in the middle . . . This time we have to present a letter from one V. C. A. Scully, of the Chamber of Commerce Building, who writes thus and so in defense of Rocco Cutri, the quarterback of the Pitt team in that blazing finish, who has come in for some abuse because he didn't know it was only second, instead of last, down (due to penalties in between) when he threw that forward pass into the end zone to end the Panthers' only scoring chance:

"Much has been said in criticism of the Pitt decision to forward pass on second down against Ohio State last Saturday, with the ball a few inches from the goal line and less than a minute left to play. Likewise a great deal of comment has been heard as to Ohio State's magnificent defense and Pitt's lack of ability to crash the line for those precious few inches. Please follow closely:

"1 Not even a George McLaren could crash a line that was purposely charging before the ball was passed, and Cutri had every reason to believe that State would continue these tactics. Hence the decision not to try the line again.

"2. An end run held out the possibility of either a touchdown or a substantial loss, such as the 13-yard loss suffered on Sebastian's end run just before the pass on which interference was ruled.

"3. As stated in (1) above Cutri had every reason to expect State to go offside on the next play, and State probably intended to, hence this sterling quarterback's really brilliant decision to pass. It was brilliant for the reason that chances of success were greatly in Pitt's favor, and, if it did not succeed, it was expected that State being offside, the play would be called back and a new try for Pitt would be available. Here he judged, would be another penalty ruling with good hope of a successful pass, in which case, of course, the penalty would be refused. State probably missed going offside when it intended to do so and Pitt missed the pass, and a good piece of headwork on Cutri's part makes him look like the well-known boob.

"The official who called interference on that pass is to be congratulated for his moral courage. To the spectators it appeared as if no Pitt man possibly could have received the pass successfully, anyhow, but it always should be borne in mind that holding an eligible receiver, or otherwise preventing his getting to the ball is interference of the first magnitude. The offense can be committed a great distance from the point to which the ball is thrown. If the officials at the Army game had been as keen in detecting such situations, Pitt's passes all would have been ruled completed, for the writer saw Paul Reider deliberately held and prevented from even getting near the ball on practically every pass play attempted.

"Now for a prediction: There will be a lot of surprised and amazed football fans in Pittsburgh about 5 p. m., Saturday. I'm still stringing along with the Panthers."

Very well said and done, Mr. Scully . . . And thanks a lot for writing a column for us on a day such as this.—HARRY KECK.

TECH TO PLAY KISKI

The Carnegie Tech freshman football team will battle the Kiski School eleven in the Tech Bowl at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Pitt K. S. K. J. Boosters will hold their annual dance Monday night at the Slovenian Auditorium.

DETROIT BOOKS OREGON STATE

DETROIT, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Oregon State College's football team will stop off enroute home from New York to play University of Detroit on Thanksgiving Day.

University of Detroit athletic officials agreed yesterday to the proposal advanced by Paul J. Schissler, Oregon State coach. The Oregon team engage Fordham in New York on November 19 in what was to have been the concluding game of its schedule.

University of Detroit meets Michigan State College on November 19 and has no other game until December 3 when the Titans meet Loyola at New Orleans. Athletic officials explained that the schedules and the rivalry which has existed between the two schools since 1929 made the game on November 24 a "natural."

It was Oregon State which snapped the longest winning streak a Titan football team ever compiled. The Titans had won 20 games and tied one when Oregon came to Detroit and skidded to a 14 to 7 victory on a slippery gridiron.

DUKES PREPARE FOR PREXIES

The Dukes are determined to be ready for the Presidents of Washington and Jefferson College. Yesterday afternoon, although 10 days remain until the Red and Black comes to Forbes Field Saturday afternoon, November 5, the Duquesne gridders began work against Wash-Jeff strategy.

Joe Bach, chief Duke scout, dug out his data yesterday and the strategy board went into a huddle before practice. And although considerably battered, the Red and Blue snapped into the long grind with plenty of spirit. The now converted Night Riders, who are to prance by day henceforward at home, are determined to erase the Bobcat defeat of last Friday, their second annual upset by Wesleyan.

EDGEWOOD HIGH BOASTS IMPRESSIVE GRID RECORD

TEAM AMONG CONTENDERS IN CLASS B RACE

By JULIUS LEVIN

Showing a record of four straight victories, including three in a row over class B opponents, and with another in the offing tomorrow afternoon when Oakmont is met at Oakmont, the Edgewood High School football team is casting enticing glances at the class B championship of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League this fall.

The Edgewood eleven, coached by Wally Pickett, who has been mentor so long that fans cannot recall when he started his career as coach, is swinging along the title path in an impressive manner.

FOUR STRAIGHT WINS

Edgewood has had little or no trouble in ringing up four successive grid voctories so far this season. The Pickett charges started its campaign by defeating Shady Side Academy, 19-0. Rankin, a team that was good enough to tie Wilkinsburg, 6-6, was the next victim, losing to Edgewood, 18-0. Edgewood then turned on full power against Verona to pile up a 33-6 score, and followed this conquest by defeating Aspinwall, 26-6.

A victory over Oakmont will add 110 points to the Edgewood total for the season, as the Allegheny Valley eleven already holds a triumph over Aspinwall.

The Pickett eleven enjoyed a successful season last fall, a tie game with Aspinwall keeping it out of the running for the class B title, awarded to Hurst High, of Mt. Pleasant Township.

STOPPED BY SWISSVALE

Edgewood went through its first seven games of the 1931 campaign without dropping a decision, Swissvale snapping the streak in the final contest of the season by scoring a 13-0 victory. Edgewood appears to be headed for another successful campaign and unless all signs fail it looms as Glassport's and Springdale's most important rivals in the fight for the championship. An idea of Edgewood's prowess as a class B football team may be gleaned from the records compiled during the last two seasons. The records follow:

1931

Edgewood	41—Arnold Prep	0
Edgewood	19—Rankin	0
Edgewood	27—Verona	7
Edgewood	0—Aspinwall	0
Edgewood	33—Oakmont	6
Edgewood	26—East Pittsburgh	0
Edgewood	31—East McKeesport	0
Edgewood	0—Swissvale	13

1932

Edgewood	19—Shady Side	0
Edgewood	18—Rankin	0
Edgewood	33—Verona	6
Edgewood	26—Aspinwall	0

Following the Oakmont tussle tomorrow, Coach Pickett's team faces three tough assignments in a row. East Pittsburgh is carded for a week from tomorrow, East McKeesport on November 11 and Swissvale on November 24.

School Notes

City League schools open a busy weekend this afternoon when South Hills, last year's local champion, meets Allegheny High at Langley Field. South Hills already is eliminated from the running for the Section II championship as a result of losing to Langley and being held to a scoreless tie by Oliver. The two teams are old rivals and should put up an interesting struggle despite the fact that both elevens have been defeated in league competition.

The Section II headliner will be played at Oliver Field tomorrow afternoon when Perry and Oliver, sectional rivals, come together. Oliver must win from Perry to retain its hold on first place in Section II. Aside from South Hills, Oliver is the only team to win the Section II title, Oliver won the crown in 1927, losing to Westinghouse in the post-season contest.

Two feature attractions are in store for the followers of Section I tomorrow afternoon. The Westinghouse-Schenley duel at Westinghouse, however, looms as the most important of the day, as the winner takes undisputed possession of first place. South promises to give Peabody a busy afternoon in the other contest at Peabody.

Taylor Allderdice will go to Swissvale for a non-league contest with Ed Paulic's eleven on Saturday. Allderdice is eager to make amends for the 6-0 defeat suffered at the hands of Swissvale in 1931. This is going to be a hard task for the Erin boys, as Swissvale is in a scrappy mood since being eliminated from the class A race by Duquesne.

Four boys who have been playing steady ball for Allderdice this season are Yainey Rosenthal, Bill Wuerthele and the two Webb boys. Wuerthele is a son of the local bowling authority.

Three are tied for the high individual score for a single game, Heh, Bingham and Keller each having a mark of 200. Keller's 514 is the best for three games and Heh as a high season average of 149.

Wolgast Defeated By Young Tommy

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Young Tommy, flashy Manila bantamweight, hammered his way to a 10-round decision over Midget Wolgast, world flywight champion, here last night to square matters for a decision he lost to his opponent several months ago in the same ring.

Tommy started fast and pressed the fighting throughout the battle, though Wolgast outboxed him most of the time. The Philadelphian appeared to have an edge in five of the rounds, but Tommy's whirlwind finish in the final session caught the eye of Referee Benny Wagner.

AMATEURS BOX TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Amateur bouts at Palisades Rink, McKeesport.
Amateur bouts at Allegheny Elks' Club, Vince Forgione vs. Pepper Stopper, 10 rounds, and Wally Sears vs. George Giacchino, Joey Williams vs. Benny Schwartz, Ed Evans vs. Mike Loughran and Jack Moran vs. Mike Sullivan, 6 rounds each, Philadelphia.

It's going to be a long night in the Palisades Rink, McKeesport, tonight, with Promoter Jim McGirr offering a card of 12 amateur boxing bouts.

The fans of the Tube City have taken to amateur boxing better than they have to the professional variety, and, so long as this keeps up, that's what they'll get. And Promoter McGirr is not entirely unmindful of the fact that out of all of these battles he may develop some good attractions for professional shows of the future.

Here's the lineup for tonight:

Frankie McLaughlin vs. John Bodnar.
Teddy Movan vs. Anson Greaves.
Eddie Lloyd vs. Buster Lowstetter.
Matt Schooner vs. Wolf Black.
Al Somonsky vs. Harry Segz.
Shorty Washko vs. Onzelow Watson.
Farmer Bill Schwerin vs. Andy Grogan.
Jimmy Brown vs. Eddie Shaffer.
Frankie Karmach vs. Frankie Disalti.
Jimmy Ferry vs. Clarence George.
Eddie Sago vs. John Petro.
Sammy Shaw vs. Andy Trutel.

Between Rounds

Ted Yarosz bout with Eddie (Kid) Wolfe in New Orleans has been set back to a later date and he likely will accept an offer to box Lou Brouillard in Boston, November 18.

Frank Klaus reports his welterweight, Jimmy Belmont, has been training particularly hard to make it three victories in a row over Buck McTiernan when the old rivals clash at the Arena tomorrow night, and he is looking for Jimmy to score a knockout again. He avers Jimmy simply has Buck's number and can't miss.

The fans are looking forward to the return of Ray Lyle, of Akron, against Jack Wilson in the eight-round semi-final at the Arena tomorrow night in anticipation of another great fight such as he put up in defeating Anson Green in the same ring two weeks ago. That battle was rated the greatest club fight in these parts in many moons.

Johnny Hazel, local lightweight, not long out of the amateurs, is fit and rarin' to go, but his manager, Irish Kane, is having trouble getting opponents for him. He is to appear in the next show at Motor Square Garden, one week from next Monday.

Kane also is handling a new flyweight, Joey Dodge, of Everson, Pa., who is one of three fighting brothers, the others being Mickey and Johnny. Mickey is campaigning in New Orleans, while Joey has just returned here from California, where he was known as the Fighting Doll. He is so small he rests his feet on the leg of the stool in his corner between rounds. He has been boxing as an amateur and professional for two years, having entered the game while residing in Detroit.

Shea and Locking Sold to St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Pat Shea and Norman Locking have been purchased from the Chicago Black Hawks, Manager Kay Iverson, of the newly-organized St. Paul American Hockey Association club, announced today. Shea plays defense and Locking left wing.

Iverson said he had signed Sam Timmins, a goaler. Timmins, who has played with Winnipeg, St. Louis and Minneapolis, tried out with the New York Americans this year.

Pat Shea and Norman Locking both played as members of Pittsburgh's International Hockey League squad last season. They generally were used only when other members of the team were out with injuries.

Sharon, New Castle Sign Grid Pact

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 27.—Sharon and New Castle high schools will resume football relations in 1933 after an absence of seven years. The two teams, rivals until 1926, when they broke relations, are to clash at New Castle on Thanksgiving Day of next year.

Phil Bridenbaugh, present New Castle mentor, is a former teacher of David B. Stewart, Sharon coach, the latter having played football at Geneva under "Bridy."

PAUL HOST . . . HE'LL GALLOP AGAINST PITT

Host is one of the veteran stars of the Notre Dame team, which battles Pitt's Panthers in the Stadium Saturday. The Irish boast one of the youngest coaching staffs of the land. Yarr was captain of last year's team, and, with Hoffman and Schwartz, gained all-America mention. Head Coach Anderson and Voedisch also are former Irish stars.

HOCKEY LOOP OPENERS SET

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The referees' whistles on the night of Thursday, November 10, will send the 1932-33 season of the National Hockey League off on the long trail that leads to the Stanley Cup series in the spring.

The schedule for the new season calls for six of the nine clubs which will make up the league this year, to get into action on the opening night.

The Toronto Maple Leafs, winners of the prized emblem of the world professional hockey championship last spring, open at home against the revamped Boston Bruins. The New York Rangers, league champions and runners-up for the Stanley Cup, play another rebuilt team, the Montreal Maroons, at Montreal, and the Chicago Blackhawks entertain the Detroit Falcons, renamed Red Wings this year.

After a year's absence from competition, the Ottawa Senators make their first appearance Saturday, November 12, playing at home against the Maroons, while the Montreal Canadians open at home the same night against Boston. The New York Americans, under Bullet Joe Simpson, play their first game at Chicago November 13.

The openings in other clubs will be November 15 for Boston, November 17 for the Americans, and November 20 for the Rangers, with the opposition coming from the Maroons, the Bruins and Toronto, respectively.

OLD FOES TO MEET

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 27.—Latrobe and Greensburg high schools will resume gridiron relations next season after a lapse of 12 years. The first game will be played in Greensburg and the 1934 contest in Latrobe.

NEW LEAGUE DENIED

Reports that a new collegiate athletic conference was being planned to replace the Tri-State Conference have been denied by John Lawther, coach at Westminster.

COUNTY LEAGUE BACK

The County Basketball League has been reorganized with the I. K. S., McKeesport and Jeannette Felders assured of franchises. The next meeting will be held Sunday at the I. K. S.

CARLSON SURE OF WINNER

Pitt is looking forward to another successful basketball season, according to its coach, Dr. H. C. Carlson, who also is director of the Students' Health Service at the university. Asked by Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, during an interview on the Trained Seals' radio program over WCAE last night, about his prospects with the floor squad, the good doctor replied he always was "an optimist." He refuses to view the situation with alarm.

Dr. Carlson also spoke interestingly of the evolution of football and other college sports, and of the relation of athletics to health.

Herb McGee, WCAE announcer, told of his alleged exploits in a game for dear old Siwash against Muggwump, back in the '60s. Next Wednesday night, he will tell of Siwash's famous clash with Lollapaloosa. Miss Marian Salmon furnished the piano accompaniment.

Brother of Rometo, W. & J. Star, Dies

Panfield Rometo, aged 30 years, a brother of Al Rometo, Wash-Jeff halfback, died suddenly early this morning in Perth Amboy, N. J., according to word received by his parents in Glassmere, near Tarentum. Rometo is one of 10 brothers, all of whom are prominently identified with sports in the Allegheny Valley. He was manager of the East Deer baseball team in the Allegheny Valley League.

As a result of the death, Al will not play for Wash-Jeff against Lafayette Saturday. Offie, quarterback, of the Tarentum Firemen, and Willie, halfback at Tarentum High, are brothers of the deceased.

DUKES TO ATTEND BALL

Members of the Duquesne University football squad will attend a Halloween masquerade ball to be given tomorrow night by the Emerson Club of Sacred Heart Church.

SKIBOS LEAVE TONIGHT FOR OWL GAME

Showing an encouraging snap and dash, Carnegie Tech's first and second teams ran through a short session of signals yesterday afternoon, worked on the defense against Temple plays for an hour, and are scheduled to complete their week's practice this afternoon before they entrain for Philadelphia.

The Tartans will engage the Temple University Owls tomorrow night in Temple Stadium in the first night game a Carnegie team ever has played.

SUBS READY

Fears that the lights might bother the team were somewhat dispelled when the squad worked out for half an hour at Forbes Field Tuesday evening, but substitutes have been thoroughly prepared for several of the regulars whose faulty vision requires them to wear glasses all the time they are off the football field.

With the exception of Ray Tesser, the entire varsity squad will go to Philadelphia tonight. Tesser has been working out this week, but he did not go to Notre Dame, and the coaches intend to hold him out of action until the Pitt game on November 19, although his fractured cheek bone is healing nicely.

O'TOOLE ON BENCH

Jerry O'Toole, who started at fullback against Notre Dame, has taken only the lightest work this week, and Joe Mihm likely will return to the fullback post. Stu Deuger has been kept constantly at quarterback on the first string, and seems to be a definite starter. Tony Ostrosky has replaced Kay Burns at right end, and co-Capt. Hooks Sample, still hobbling on his bad leg, is running with the second team.

The Eastern invasion will get under way at 11:35 tonight, and the squad will return to Pittsburgh immediately after the game in order to be spectators at the Pitt-Notre Dame fracas on Saturday.

STEELE BEATS HERMAN

SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Fred Steele, colorful Tacoma welterweight, last night gained sweet revenge for his loss to Tommy Herman in a recent Los Angeles bout, when he won a clean-cut decision over the Chicago slugger in a six-round boxing battle here. Herman scaled 150½ pounds and Steele 148½.

Los Indios Four Wins in Tourney

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Los Indios polo team defeated the International Santa Ines four yesterday in the Argentine Open polo championship and qualified to meet Santa Paula, the defending champion, in the second match Sunday.

Italian Establishes Speedboat Record

GARDONE RIVIERA, Italy, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Count Theo Rossi Di Montelera, of Italy, broke the world record for speedboats of the 1½-litre class yesterday, speeding over Lake Gardone at the rate of 88.231 kilometers an hour, (54.824 miles per hour.)

RANGERS, FIREMEN SET FOR IMPORTANT FRAY TONIGHT

UANSA ELEVEN GETS TEST AT TARENTUM

By TOM BIRKS

The Tarentum Firemen, surprise entry in the Lightweight Conference, face their big test of the Conference campaign this evening as they battle the crack Rox Ranger eleven under the lights at Tarentum.

The contest is the second of the season between the two teams. They battled to a scoreless deadlock in the opening game of the race at McKees Rocks, thereby starting the Conference chase off with an upset, as the Rangers were top-heavy favorites to take the Allegheny Valley team.

RANGERS ON EDGE

The Rangers, however, are in prime condition for tonight's fray, Coach Toby Uansa had his team on edge for the game last Sunday with the Etna Sycamores, which was postponed when rain made the playing of the game impractical.

The Christy Park-Olympic battle was called off last evening when that heavy rain turned the gridiron into a quagmire. The game has been rescheduled for Sunday afternoon.

With the Olympics given permission to play the championship battle with Christy Park by Conference officials, the East Liberty Papales, original opponents of that day, will play West View at the Washington boulevard grounds.

Owner Charley Papale wants the East Liberty fans to see Kaiser, the former Wash-Jeff star, in action. Tony Sweet and Joe Morbito are working hard to give the East Liberty sportsman a winner, and the club has been practicing hard all week in preparation for the game.

ROONEYS FACE TEST

At Bellaire Sunday, the Rooneys will seek to keep their slate clean at the expense of the Eagles. Chris McCormick, for 10 years business manager for Art Rooney, is looking forward to the Wheeling trip. Chris originally started his career in Wheeling, managing a ball club. Chris is anxious to have the club to trim Bellaire, which is going to be quite a job.

According to advices from the Ohio town, Manager Andy Vusky is going to pack in a big crowd. Charley Tully has been telling the natives just what Jess Quatse can do on the line, and the fans are anxious to see the Pitt all-America star in action.

WILDCATS PREP FOR GOPHERS

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Northwestern's varsity returned to work yesterday with a spirit that forebodes a Minnesota "hard times" party Saturday.

Ollie Olson gave his best plunging exhibition of the year, ripping through for long runs to score two touchdowns against the freshmen.

Big Ten Briefs

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Satisfied that Illinois will attempt to make headway through the air, Coach Stagg drilled his Chicago team on pass defense yesterday in a long workout. Fullback Al Summers and Halfback Vince Shalin reported with injuries, Summers suffering with a twisted leg and Shalin with a split lip that required 10 stitches to close.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—After experimenting all week for faster and heavier linemen, Coach Bob Zuppke turned to the same group that has held down the forward wall positions all season, apparently satisfied he could find no better material. Petty is the only new man in the line, replacing Kowalski, who is injured, at guard.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Minnesota put on another defensive workout against Northwestern plays yesterday, making this apparently a more important task than adding to the attack, which showed improvement against Iowa.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The Wisconsin squad took a long workout on offense in preparation for the Ohio State game. Coach Doc Spears drove two sets of linemen and backfield players at high speed, devoting most attention to polishing off power plays.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Rain kept the University of Michigan football team in Yost Field House yesterday, and the place proved too small for Johnny Regeczi's punts. The Wolverines were drilled again against Princeton plays.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Sammy Drakulich, weighing only 132 pounds, may see plenty of service Saturday when Ohio State entertains Wisconsin. Drakulich yesterday was promoted to second choice for quarterback, replacing Marshall Oliphant, who suffered a sprained ankle in practice. Cramer will start at quarterback against Wisconsin.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Purdue reserves engaged in hard scrimmage with freshmen using New York U. plays yesterday while the first-string men looked on. Coach Noble Kizer still is building his offense around Roy Horstmann, fullback, and Paul Moss, pass-receiving end.

Irish League Football Scores

BELFAST, Ireland, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Football matches played in the Irish League yesterday resulted as follows:

Celtic 5, Newry 1.
Geltnoran 3, Derry 5.
Cliftonville 3, Bangor 6.
Glenavon 1, Linfield 2.
Ballymena 5, Portadown 1.

St. Vincent, Thiel Clash Tomorrow

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Athletic officials of St. Vincent College announced that the football game between the Saints and Thiel, originally scheduled to be played here Saturday, will be waged tomorrow afternoon.

PAT MURPHY WINS

The Rise of Joe Cronin

From High School Team to Pirates at 18 —Manager of Washington Senators at 26

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

FARMED TO EASTERN LEAGUE

The Pirates naturally recalled Joe Cronin and Eddie Montague after Johnstown had won the Mid-Atlantic League pennant. The Johnnies, by the way, were better than a class C outfit in view of the skill of the two Pirate rookies, coupled with the fact that the club had many more promising boys.

Another prominent member of the 1925 club at Johnstown was Jim Collins, who in recent years has risen to fame as a home-run king. This comparatively little slugger added a big punch to the Pittsburgh farm. Still another slugger was Mike Martineck, first baseman, who also played under a pirate option.

Joe Cronin

The Buccaneers were just about ready to clinch the National League pennant when Joe and Eddie pulled into Forbes Field on top of their successful run in Johnstown. The youngsters received a big welcome from the stars of the Pittsburgh club. The two boys worked out each day with their parent club until the season ended and then remained through the world series. And the Pittsburgh players gave Joe and Eddie some nice pocket money as their share of the world series pie.

STAR IN EASTERN LEAGUE

The season of 1926 found Cronin starring in the shortfield for the New Haven club of the Eastern League. Manager McKechnie allowed the youngster to go to the class A organization only after he was assured he could recall him on very short notice. Accordingly, a quick option was fastened to the exuberant lad as he was ordered to the circuit of New England.

The jump from class "C" to "A" held no fears for Sunny Joe; in fact, the swifter organization appeared to be a setup for the kid Pirate. Cronin was setting a dizzy pace in the league, his batting mark being .320 for 60-odd games when the Pirates sent out a distress call. Joe was back with the Buccos within a week after the call was made, but Glenn Wright then was just about the greatest shortstop in the sport, so Joe was assigned to a strange position—second base.

RECALLED BY PIRATES

Cronin's conduct around second base was of a satisfying nature as he took part in 38 games. His hitting card for the first real major league tryout was .267. Not the mark of a hard hitter, you will say, yet Joe was only 19 and his batting effort, therefore, should have been considered good. It might be mentioned that both majors have produced good infielders who batted but little better than Joe's mark throughout their careers.

An insight into the character of the ambitious San Francisco boy might be gleaned from an incident of his career as a Pirate. A disputed play at third base in a game at Forbes Field brought a wild scene. Players, umpires and fans were all excited over a particular decision which brought contrasting opinions and interpretations. Cronin, on the bench, had his idea of the situation, but, as he was only a "sub," he did not voice his views. After the contest, Joe mentioned his opinion to another rookie who spoke of it to newspapermen.

RETAINS MODESTY

In any event, Cronin's views were printed in one of the papers. The umpires read them and uttered some admiring words about the boy on the bench who had discerned the play better than any of the regulars or the umpires. Cronin's reaction to the unexpected publicity was interesting. Despite his aggressiveness and pleasant freshness, he had a natural tact that told him that perhaps a rookie should be seen rather than heard. When he met the writer of the article, he remarked:

"Gee, I wish you had not printed that—I'm just a punk kid and shouldn't be poppin' off like that."

Temple Loses Star Back for Tech Game

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—It is doubtful whether Leon Whittock, star quarterback of Temple University, will be able to play against Carnegie Tech in the game here tomorrow night.

Whittock, a senior, has starred in all of the Owls' four victories, but has been laid up in Temple Hospital since last Saturday with a badly bruised right leg, which developed into lymphangitis. His leg was hurt in one of the earlier games, but he neglected to report it to the trainers.

Body of Missing Man Found in Lake

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 27.—(INS.)—The body of Vincent Fern, 30, of South Scranton, missing for the past two weeks, was found in Lake Winola yesterday.

Authorities said Fern apparently was drowned when his canoe upset.

Northwestern Cuts Faculty Salaries

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 27.—(INS.)—Faced with a deficit of $400,000, Northwestern University today announced a salary reduction of 10 per cent to apply to all faculty members, administrative officials and employes.

GRINS From the GRID

By O. W. (Red) Severence

Southern Football Official. Written for Associated Press.

NO. 15

An ounce of psychology on the gridiron is worth more, in Dan McGugin's opinion, than a ton of brute force.

Dean of Southern coaches, the Vanderbilt leader loves quick-thinking elevens—smart quarterbacks. Here's his favorite yarn:

"In 1924, Vanderbilt played Minneapolis. On the preceding Saturday, Minnesota had decisively defeated Illinois, with the great Red Grange at the height of his development. It hardly was to be expected that Vanderbilt would make much of a showing.

"The general opinion was that Minnesota had one of the greatest lines in the history of football. I found on investigation that only 12 plays had been directed at the Minnesota line the entire season, our game being the last on Minnesota's schedule.

"On our way up to Minneapolis for the game, the players discussed the matter at length, and it was the best judgment of the team that the thing to do at a critical stage was to attack the Minnesota line.

Their idea was no line which had been attacked so little would be as good as one which had had to battle all season against onslaughts of its opponents. They felt that a violent attack against Minnesota line, if successful, would tend to shake the confidence of a line which had been conceded to be invulnerable.

"Late in the first quarter, we found ourselves with the ball on Minnesota's 28-yard line, and each man was conscious the opportunity had come. Each player put everything he had in the the plays that followed.

"In seven straight bucks by Ryan, our fullback, Vanderbilt swept across for a touchdown, gaining not less than three yards, and, I think, not more than five, on any one play.

"Upset by our psychology, Minnesota's great defense wilted, and we won 16-0."

Chapman Leads In Nemacolin Play

A. J. Chapman, of Wheeling, shot a fine 73 over the Nemacolin course yesterday for the best score of the day as pros and amateurs from all parts of the tri-state district gathered to honor Jim Devlin, Nemacolin pro. Paul (Toots) Erath, of Edgewood, had a 74, as did Andy Velican, of Waynesburg; Dave McKay, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, and Chuck Oneretto, of Schenley.

In a Democrat - Republican match, the Democrats won, 42 to 20. Following the golf, a dinner was held, at which Devlin was the honor guest.

Malcewicz Wins Three Mat Bouts

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Joe Malcewicz, Utica (N. Y.) wrestler, won three wrestling matches last night as he made up for the absence of Henri Deglane, heavyweight title claimant, who failed to turn up for the main match.

Malcewicz, who weighs 201, threw Charley Strack, 241, of Boston, in 30:33 of the semi-final, then took Deglane's place in the final and pinned Bibber McCoy, 202, of Boston, in 28:04. Strack challenged the winner so Malcewicz took him on again and won a fall in 4:55.

Ramey, Jarrell Capture Battles

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Wesley Ramey, Grand Rapids, outpointed Tommy Grogan, of Omaha, Neb., in a 10-round bout here last night. Ramey weighed 135½; Grogan 142. In a six-round preliminary, Pee Wee Jarrell, 145, Mishawaka, Ind., defeated Pete Petroskey, 146, Freemont, Mich.

Clarion High Coach Marries Teacher

CLARION, Pa., Oct. 27.—Announcement was made of the marriage of Nick Bogdan, football and basketball coach of Clarion High School, and Miss Rutl Hoffman, teacher in East Brady schools. The ceremony was performed at Edinboro October 22.

Fight Results

At New Castle—Frankie Bojarski defeated Mickey Duris, 10 rounds; Martin Toukamon defeated Young Terry, 6 rounds; Joe Boldin won by a technical knockout over Billy Mido, 3 rounds; Billy Frengel defeated Bearcat Wright, 4 rounds; Tom Farrow won by a technical knockout over Red Hutton, 1 round.

At Grand Rapids—Wesley Ramey defeated Tommy Grogan, 10 rounds; Pee Wee Jarrell defeated Pete Petroskey, 6 rounds.

At Oakland, Cal.—Young Tommy defeated Midget Wolgast, 10 rounds.

At Seattle—Freddie Steele defeated Tommy Herman, 6 rounds.

At Vincennes, Ind.—Pat Murphy defeated Garfield Rice, 10 rounds; Charles Gordon knocked out Harrold Farris, 5 rounds.

At San Francisco—John Henry Lewis defeated Lou Scozza, 10 rounds; Gilbert Attel defeated Mickey Evans, 8 rounds.

At Reno—Earl Wise defeated Tony Poloni, 10 rounds.

STAGG FAVORS IRISH OVER PANTHERS

STAGG'S SELECTIONS

Wisconsin over Ohio State.
Northwestern, Minnesota even.
Michigan over Princeton.
Purdue over New York U.
Indiana over Miss. A. & M.
Notre Dame over Pittsburgh.
Nebraska over Kansas State.
Chicago over Illinois.

By AMOS ALONZO STAGG
Head Coach, University of Chicago.

The Big Ten Conference presents the strange spectacle of seven defeated teams and three lone survivors, and the damage has been done in the short space of three weeks. Indiana, Northwestern, Ohio State, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa all have tasted defeat, Iowa three times, Illinois two, Indiana, Northwestern, Ohio and Minnesota once.

A. A. Stagg

To date, Michigan, Purdue and Chicago are winners, and Michigan and Purdue will remain so for at least another week, as both of these teams play outside the conference. This week Chicago alone, therefore, stands a chance of displacement. There are no games within the conference directly affecting Michigan and Purdue, but there are three games with a world of meaning to at least five teams, four of which are very powerful and have lost only one game, and may still be regarded as contenders for conference honors. At this moment, let no one read Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern nor Ohio out of the running.

The Northwestern - Minnesota game at Minneapolis, the Ohio State-Wisconsin game at Columbus and the Chicago-Illinois game at Chicago, therefore, take on major importance not alone to their respective partisans, but also in their effect upon the wheel of fortune.

Because of Chicago's 13-to-7 victory over Indiana last Saturday, the Chicago-Illinois game tomorrow is of dramatic interest. Last year Chicago won at Urbana, and with much the same team may properly be given a slight edge.

WISCONSIN FAVORED

Wisconsin goes to Columbus after two weeks of special preparation for this game. As I pointed out before the season opened, Wisconsin has splendid material and a gifted coach and was destined to have a very strong team. The Badgers games, to date, have supported my statement. It has yet to be demonstrated that any of the teams that it is still to play will beat Wisconsin and, if accomplished, it probably won't be by any more than one touchdown. Because of its strength and because of these two weeks of special preparation for the Ohio game, I favor Wisconsin's chances.

In her 6-7 game with Purdue, Wisconsin pulled the most spectacular play that I have heard of in Big Ten football this season when she scored a touchdown from the 36 yard line by a forward pass followed by a backward pass in which the runner got into the clear. Only failure to kick the goal prevented a tie score and Wisconsin being among the undefeated teams in the Conference.

Northwestern's notable tie of Purdue by the air route last Saturday in the last two minutes of play gives it a slight edge on paper over Minnesota.

Fritz Crisler is bringing his Princeton boys west to play Michigan at Ann Arbor. Coach Crisler is well acquainted with Michigan football through his observations in connection with the Minnesota-Michigan games of the past two years. Both he and his line coach, Tad Wieman, formerly coach at Michigan, are thoroughly familiar with Michigan strategy, which combines the best principles of sound football of 30 years ago with the most modern use of running and forward pass tactics. It will be a great achievement if Princeton is able to hold off the combination of kicking, running and forward passing strength of Michigan, and it is altogether too much to expect.

PITT FIGURES TO LOSE

Purdue plays an intersectional match with New York University at New York. With a good field the Dutch of New Amsterdam will be greatly amazed at the brilliance of the Purdue running attack, which, by all odds, is the most powerful and effective in the Big Ten Conference. In the three Conference games to date, it has produced something like 900 yards in actual yardage, but only three touchdowns. Sometime soon Purdue is likely to run wild in its scoring and it would not surprise me if it happened Saturday.

Indiana and Iowa are playing intersectional games. Indiana should win over Mississippi A. & M. at Bloomington, while Iowa will have a hard time with George Washington at Washington.

Notre Dame will have its first real test with Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.

Both teams undoubtedly have been eyeing this contest for some time. Notre Dame has led up to it through easy games, while Pittsburgh has had tight matches with the Army and Ohio State. It will be a terrifically hard fought game in which I favor Notre Dame's chances.

LOU SCOZZA BEATEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—(INS.)—John Henry Lewis, Negro light-heavyweight, today held a decision over Lou Scozza, of Buffalo, in a 10-round match. Lewis took five rounds, Scozza four, and one was even. Gilbert Attell defeated Mickey Evans in the semi-windup.

Yatsie Delivers Ultimatum to Panthers

The Pitt Panther's best friend and severest critic is George (Yatsie) Pasquarelli, No. 1 newsboy and the monarch of all he surveys from Forbes and Atwood. The Oakland hustler lost two nights' sleep as he "flivvered" his way to West Point, but everything was O. K.—Pitt won.

When the Panther prowls, Yatsie is in his glory, the players gather at his stand, read his papers gratis, have a great time. When the Panther flops, Yatsie is the meanest citizen of Oakland.

Bystanders near the Pasquarelli stop today saw a flock of Panthers on the receiving end of an impromptu pep talk from Pasquarelli. Here it is.

"Listen, you Italians—and you, too, Reider. The Irish are coming. I'm no Paul Revere, but I'm spreading the alarm all over the campus. And if you guys are as bad Saturday as you were against Ohio State, don't come around here Sunday morning to look at my papers. The Carnegie Free Library is just two blocks east."

RAY STEELE WINS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Ray Steele, 214, of Glendale, Cal., threw Fred Grubmeier, 202, of Iowa, with a body slam after 21 minutes 37 seconds of wrestling in the main bout at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

LITTLE GIVEN NEW CONTRACT BY COLUMBIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Simultaneous with the start of a special committee investigation into professionalism charges, Columbia authorities signed Lou Little, head football coach, to a new three-year contract, although official confirmation will be withheld until the end of the season.

This "vote of confidence" gesture toward the big leader who has revivified Columbia football leaked out as the committee, appointed by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, belatedly sought to run down charges published in the college paper last year and revived this fall that football men were favored in the allocation of jobs and alumni scholarships as well as by the faculty in classrooms.

The athletic office announced there would be no definite word forthcoming regarding Coach Little until after the close of the 1932 season. Little said he couldn't talk until the season is over.

Little is understood to have accepted a reduction of $3,500 yearly under his new contract calling for $15,000 annually, instead of the $18,500 agreement he received upon coming here from Georgetown three years ago. The Lions rolled over all but Cornell last fall and are a powerful, undefeated unit, so far this season.

BOOTH MAY COACH

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The rumblings at Yale over the worst start in the history of any Eli eleven do not affect Mal Stevens, young head coach. Anxious to devote all his time to his medical career, Stevens agreed reluctantly to remain this year at Yale. He has announced previously that he cannot return next fall.

Rather the Yale situation involves the usual alumni arguments over a de-emphasis program that has failed to bring victory. Through the remainder of the year there seems certain to be much conjecture as to the next Yale leader, the system of play, and the general attitude toward football.

Rainbow Club, of the North Side, has dates open for games abroad on Saturdays and Sundays. Lightweight teams call Fairfax 7970 and ask for Willie.

Hunk Says Irish About Ready to Start Clicking

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Coach Hunk Anderson insists he's not posing as a gridiron bogey man but, listen to what he says:

"I think the boys are about ready to start clicking." Hunk made that remark in discussing Notre Dame's chances of beating Pittsburgh Saturday.

All "the boys" have done so far is roll up a mere 177 points—almost one a minute.

INTERNATIONAL LOOP CONFAB CALLED

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Charles H. Knapp, president of the International Baseball League, called a meeting of league directors in New York tomorrow to thresh out problems facing the organization.

The future of two clubs, Toronto and Jersey City, is to be discussed and league executives probably will consider the player and salary limit proposed in the report of the executive committee of minor leagues.

Toronto's club, long in the doldrums, has passed into the hands of the receiver, but the league president is not pessimistic, Knapp said:

"I think it very likely something will be done for reorganization. I believe somebody in Toronto will come to the aid of the club."

Knapp said the Jersey City club is not in financial difficulties, but Brooklyn's recent decision not to avail itself of the option to purchase has created a problem for the owners of the club.

Albany, which enjoyed a very successful season, after the Reading, Pa., club was transplanted there, in all probability will continue to see International League baseball.

CARRIERS LEAD AS STOCKS TILT UP

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—The stock market tilted upward again today, but with most traders definitely on the sidelines, the list was unable to make important progress, Rails led the upturn.

The list again wobbled uncertainly in the early dealings, but managed to develop a somewhat better tone, after opening of the Chicago wheat market, where prices recovered modestly in the early trading. The bond market also took on a somewhat better complexion.

The action of commodity prices, it was felt in brokerage quarters, had done as much as anything to dampen speculative enthusiasm in the stock market. The recent slump in wheat, according to houses with middle western connections, had been reflected by an abrupt slackening of buying orders from western wires. Some quarters in Wall street, however, were inclined to take a somewhat more bullish attitude toward wheat, after its severe reaction of recent weeks. Copper remained a soft spot in commodities, dipping ⅛ cent in the domestic market to 5⅜ cents a pound. It was reported that another international conference of leading red metal producers might be held in New York within a few weeks to discuss the situation.

Rails were undoubtedly helped by the September reports of net operating revenues. New York Central made an unusual showing, with net operating income of $3,437,805, actually a large increase over the like month of last year, when net was $2,183,943. It was estimated that its net operating income, together with other income, would about cover its fixed charges. Pennsylvania reported net operating revenue for the month of $4,519,365, moderately under the $5,706,983 shown in September of last year.

Another earnings report of interest was that of Phillips Petroleum, which in the third quarter had net of 28 cents a share, against only 6 cents a share in the same quarter of 1931. The third quarter, however, was a little under the second. Corporate earnings generally, however, continued to make a rather sorry showing. Brokers said the appearance of the third quarter reports had undoubtedly been one of the factors tending to sober speculative sentiment. Bethlehem Steel was due to make its quarterly report after the close of the market.

IRON WORKERS GET RAISE

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Dow, Jones and Company reported today that iron bar wages in the Youngstown steel district will be advanced to $9.30 a ton for the November-December period.

This will represent an increase of 25 cents per ton over the prevailing wage rate for workers in Youngstown puddle mills, representing the first increase in the scale in four years. Union members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will be affected.

The bar iron wage scale is determined by prices of the product in months immediately preceding the period of which net scales are calculated. In September, the average bar iron sales price was $1.50 per 100 pounds against $1.45 in July and August, and this advance was followed by the upward readjustment in wages of bar iron workers, which, under an agreement with the workers, is adjusted on a month-to-month basis, depending upon basic iron prices.

New York Central Seeks Work Loan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP.)—Authorization to borrow $2,500,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation for repairing and restoring equipment was sought today by the New York Central Railroad in an application to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Under the plan of the carrier, 10,000 steel box cars and 3,000 auto box cars would be repaired at the East Buffalo and Indianapolis shops. It was calculated that employment would be given to 1,500 men for seven to eight months on a five-day week.

Steel Action Carries Great Encouragement

—By B. C. FORBES—

MYSTERIOUS ARE the ways of Wall street. It was gloomy yesterday morning, notwithstanding that one of the most encouraging events of recent months occurred over night, namely, the dividend decision of the powerful capitalists constituting the United States Steel Corporation board of directors. The logical thing would have been for the security markets to stage a cheerful celebration.

Mr. Forbes

HAD THE Steel directors not been better times coming, they assuredly would not have dipped $6,304,000 into the treasury to pay the full $1.75 quarterly rate.

The caliber of the directors will be readily recognized; here they are: Myron C. Taylor, J. P. Morgan, Thomas W. Lamont, Junius S. Morgan, Jr., George F. Baker, Walter S. Gifford, James A. Farrell, Sewell L. Avery, David F. Houston, Eugene J. Buffington, Thomas Morrison, Percival Roberts, Jr., William A. Irvin, William J. Filbert.

THE MORGAN influence is still very great. This invests the exhibition of confidence with special significance and encouragement, because of the Morgan dominance in so many other mighty corporations, industrial, railway, utility, etc. The list includes General Motors, and Wall street is assuming that that corporation will likewise take favorable dividend action next week.

This, however, is rather a rash assumption in view of the disappointing demand for automobiles, the poor showing which is certain to be made during the current quarter, and the extraordinarily heavy outlays now being incurred to produce new 1933 models.

HAD JUDGE GARY and the original J. P. Morgan been alive, they unquestionably would have voted to pay the Steel preferred dividend. As has been told here before, Mr. Morgan wept when one of his closest associates on the Steel board urged that the preferred dividend be stopped during the 1903-5 depression.

Both he and Judge Gary regarded this stock as an investment worthy of the public's utmost confidence.

SINCE MYRON C. TAYLOR took the helm five years ago, Steel preferred has been clothed with an additional investment element in that the two bond issues of the Steel Corporation, amounting to $271,462,000, have been retired. The preferred stockholders now number 61,657.

The probability is that Mr. Taylor received assurances when he recently called leading railway presidents into consultation, that they would shortly begin placing substantial orders for steel rails at the reduced price of $40 a ton.

How helpful revival of the steel industry would be to the country can be grasped when it is learned that, whereas the industry employed 900,000 workers, the total has fallen below 200,000.

"DUMPING" BY foreign steel manufacturers is blamed for part of the industry's present stagnation. Charles M. Schwab, as head of the American Iron and Steel Institute, has issued a plea that New York (and other centers) should stipulate that only American steel be used in all construction paid out of funds supplied by taxpayers. New York promises to comply.

ONE OF the steel corporation's most influential directors, a rock-ribbed Republican, replied, when I asked him how he felt about the business outlook.

"I cordially agree with what you said in your column about the unwisdom of Republican leaders or anyone else trying to scare the country about what might happen were Gov. Roosevelt elected President. I, of course, am for President Hoover. But I don't believe that, if elected, Gov. Roosevelt would prove inimical to business, as many are loudly proclaiming.

"Industry and business and securities have shown distinct, though not drastic recovery, since July 1, and I am hopeful that this trend will continue regardless of the election outcome. At the most, a Roosevelt victory might retard recovery, but nothing more."

THIS DEPRESSION, from a life-long, ardent Republican occupying one of the most responsible positions in America, is commended to partisan prophets of calamity.

Vigilant Mother Waits for Son When He Stays Late at Party

CHAPTER VII.

A few days later Nanna drew Lennox aside, making some signals for silence. From an apron pocket she produced a shining latchkey. She had had it made for him, from her own, she said. He took it in his hand, the little symbol of freedom, and turned it over in his slim palm. He frowned at it. It was not fitting that he should be compelled to receive it in this conspiratorial fashion. It was his by right.

Then he laughed suddenly, hugged Nanna to him, kissed her. Nanna said, tremulous with love and terror, "It's as much as my place is worth. But I'm only pensioned anyway, Master Lennox—with just the darning to do, the linen to look after. I've saved a little. I can live nicely with my sisters."

"I couldn't spare you," he assured her, gently. "And she'll never know you gave it to me."

He hated that "she'll never know." It seemed so far beneath his young dignity, to discuss his mother that way, even with Nanna.

Nanna watched him out of the house. It was only because he lived in that house that she stayed on, performing her small duties. But she had been there nearly 20 years and it would have gone hard with her to be uprooted.

LIKED AT SCHOOL

Lennox Sheldon, at a little past 19, was a subdued flame of a boy. He had broadened, he carried his height well, his dark hair as rebellious as ever, blue eyes looked out from under heavy brows. He was still shy, still withdrawn. He was well liked at Columbia, and not well understood. The boys had found him scribbling verse more than once. They had laughed, but were a little proud of him. He had not proven much of an athlete, yet was not too good a student to annoy his friends. And he was so—they couldn't find the suitable word—wistful, perhaps, fitted best yet it wasn't as soft as that—so shyly eager, then, to be a "good sport." He seemed to feel a lack in himself, he listened to their sagas or roaring prowess, with a little puzzled frown between his eyes.

He had a natural bent for science, a love of argument, of discussion. He had even approached his mother on the subject of his future—did she really think he would do well in the business? It ran itself, did it not, with Simmons as nominal head? But it was her business really. He didn't think he'd be any good in an office. Too muddleheaded.

What did he want to do? she had asked him. And he replied stumblingly that he wasn't quite sure as yet. Stay on, take degrees—something in the scientific line. He liked that.

SALLY GONE AWAY

Mrs. Sheldon smiled tolerantly. Young people took notions. Of course he would go into his father's business, the fall after his graduation. Sons did. It was expected of them.

His recreations were along very usual lines. Dances, summer outings, all that sort of thing. He was popular with girls, he got on well with them, mothers spoke of his beautiful manners.

He had encountered many goddesses since the days of Sally Morgan, but he had kissed the hand where others kissed the lips. Sally was quite lost to him. She had gone to England to live the year before he entered college. An aunt had taken her, after her mother's death. She had been brought out there, had married, in her first season, a very shining young blade of the old aristocracy.

But he did not forget Sally, the blonde curls dancing on her cheeks, the sweet mouth that had kissed him.

He had widened his circle of acquaintances, but Fred Van Alstyne was still his closest friend. Fred had elected for Columbia, too, really because of Lennox's entering. Fred was an admirable blond giant, he was fearful and wonderful on the football field, he was merry and gay-hearted. And he was unique in that Mrs. Sheldon approved of him.

Lennox did not visit around during the summer. Leaving Henrietta, aging rapidly, to run the house with Nanna and an under servant or two, Mrs. Sheldon would give the rest of her staff their vacations and go away with her son. They traveled everywhere—the continent, parts of the Orient, West to the coast. He was still, he reflected, the little boy pacing sedately beside his mother through the glamorous streets of strange cities, listening to her grave voice reading from guide books.

MOTHER MORE FORBIDDING

Now he was 19. Young in the youth of the century. He was fretted by dreams, repressed, living in separate worlds as if he were several different people. There was the son of his mother. There was the boy who went to the classrooms and laughed with his friends. There was a conventional person, quite adult, who attended teas and cotillions, who rode in the park with the young women of his acquaintance, a groom trotting watchfully behind them. And then there was that other self, moving unfettered in an enchanted world, a world in which the inarticulate became speech, the shyness daring. In this world Lennox rescued ladies in distress, fought magnificent battles with all oppressors, loved and was loved.

It was a world revealed to him by books, by music, by long, lonely hours of dreaming.

Louisa watched over his adolescence, his young manhood. She had aged very little. She was still erect, still dark and commanding and she had never by one nuance altered her manner toward him. If anything she was imperceptibly colder, and more forbidding. If anything she held him further away from her, as if she needed distance in order to retain perspective.

BETRAYED BY SPIRIT

Never for one moment was she unaware of him. She spent hours on her knees asking God to forgive her this idolatrous human love. She would rise, cramped, weary, to reprove her son for some small offense, in the sharp tones she had employed toward him 10 years earlier. Her life, her routine, her changelessness masked her effectually. Behind that mask she crouched, watchful, fiercely jealous, savagely single hearted. Her love for him was as it had always been, a fire builded in a house of ice, a torrential river which pursued its dark, unobstacled course underground. Her voice spoke to him coldly, she kept her hands from him, she controlled her features. Only her spirit betrayed her to herself. Her spirit hovered over him without pause, caressed him without cessation, spoke to him in broken urgency.

Shortly after Nanna had given him the latchkey, Lennox went to a studio party with a boy in his class. Fred was there also, as were half a dozen others. It was the newest thing in studios. The newest fashions in girls, in music, in food and drink were to be found there. Lennox met and was captivated by a very blonde young woman, who closely and consciously resembled the prevalent Gibson type. She confessed to being a minister's daughter, forced by circumstances to the unchancy life of the stage. Later her story differed, but her fascination held. Her name was Lily. Further deponent sayeth not. She asked him to call upon her, she gave him her card.

Dancing with her was an amazing experience. She danced perfectly, yet so charmingly dependent upon her partner's guidance. Her voice, attractively husky, told him a number of curious things; her eyes said rather more. At 2 in the morning he had kissed her.

He returned home, a little unsteady, a very little. He had not been drinking excessively. Something more than the wine had gone to his head, troubled his blood. For several hours he had been a Man, dominant, sure of himself, under the wide eyes of an admiring young thing with her fair hair piled high, the neck of her satin gown cut very low, and her sleeves like colored satin balloons.

He let himself into the house. Up the dim stairs he went, with caution. The house was so still that he heard the ticking of several clocks and placed them accurately. As he passed his mother's door, it opened and a light shone out.

"Come in here," she said, without further preliminary.

Lennox followed her in. "Sit down," she ordered, and he put his opera hat carefully on the floor. He wore an evening Inverness, dropped it to the back of a chair. He faced her, very clear-cut black and white in his dress clothes.

Synopsis

Mrs. Louisa Lennox Sheldon—first of the THREE WOMEN—is absorbed in the personal upbringing of her son, Lennox, whose father died when the boy was but 9. Mrs. Sheldon—aristocratic, stern, domineering—live in Victorian comfort in the New York City of the late 90's. Little Lennox pities the plight of elderly Cousin Henrietta who lives in the Sheldon home and functions as a maid-of-all-work. He wonders why the house has no "cozy corner" and is delighted when his mother takes him to Sally Martin's home where the children play the graphophone and dance. Mrs. Sheldon reluctantly permits Lennox to do so after reminding Mrs. Martin that it is the Sabbath. Lennox's mother is shocked when she sees him kiss Sally Martin.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Grantland Brings Madge a Record

Curiously enough, Edith's laugh and mocking comment had but one effect upon me, that of steeling me to composed indifference as to what Dicky thought of Hugh Grantland's impassioned adieu to me, which I was certain he had overheard.

"You are not de trop at all," I told him with a light little laugh. "But I'll give you the veranda, if you like. I was just going back anyway to my duties of hostess. You'll find it delightfully cool here after the dancing."

"So you recommend the moonlight, do you?" he asked. "Well, you ought to know, judging from the line we heard old Hughie handing out as we came up just now. Come on, Ede! I'm not as artistic a worker as the military, but I'll try my best to strike a properly romantic note."

"Oke by me, old dear," Edith said with another high pitched laugh, and I slipped away, feeling unaccountably dreary. Lillian's favorite maxim that what was "sauce for the goose was sauce for the gander," seemed suddenly to have been applied with what Dicky calls the "reverse English."

He did not keep Edith out on the veranda more than a minute or two, however, and when they came back I was mean enough to rejoice over the fact that she was distinctly displeased over something, which I guessed might be Dicky's failure to remain longer on the veranda.

HUGH CALLS

But for the rest of the evening, down to the very last strains of the last dance, one question repeated itself insistently in my brain. Had Dicky kissed Edith in that moonlight nook, where Hugh had begged me in vain for the favor?

Not until the next day did I get an answer to that question, late in the afternoon, when all the members of our house party had departed and Katie and Mrs. Ticer were putting the house in order again. I was in the living room arranging some fresh flowers when Katie came in from the hall.

"Dot Maj. Grantland, he out on side veranda," she said. "He say he vant see you von minute right avay queek."

Hugh was standing as I came to the door, and though I asked him to be seated he refused, with a formality strangely at variance with the look in his eyes.

"I cannot stay," he said, "I should not have come at all except that I have a message from Lee Chow, which he insisted must be delivered to you, and which he is not able to bring himself."

"Oh!" I said, with quick concern, "I hope coming to the party did not make him ill again."

"No, no," he assured me hastily, "he is not ill, only much fatigued, as might be expected from one in his condition. Indeed, he wanted to come and tell you this himself, but I would not permit him to do so.

RECORD OF CONVERSATION

"Inadvertently, Lee Chow overheard a conversation of which he thinks you should know. It was between Mr. Owen and Mr. Brixton and, though I feel like an eavesdropper, I really should have no compunction whatever in repeating the colloquy to you."

"You need have no qualms whatever in repeating anything those two men said to each other," I told him.

"Then," Hugh said gravely, "see what you make of this."

He drew from his pocket a sheet of typewritten paper and handed it to me.

"Lee Chow," he explained, "was so struck with the possible importance of the conversation that he took it down in a sort of individual shorthand that he employs, and I typed it from his dictation. Read it and see what you think of it."

The single sheet of paper which I took from his hand looked like a page from the manuscript of a play.

"Mr. Brixton and Mr. Owen talking in bedroom," it began, "not aware that a concealed ventilating pipe made words distinctly audible in next room."

"Mr. Brixton — well, what luck?"

"Mr. Owen — No luck at all (unprintable oath here, L. C.) That (unprintable word, L. C.) of a Graham woman has queered the game in some way. (Here he consigned Mrs. Graham to perdition.)"

I looked up at Hugh in astonishment. What did this mean?

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Ann Helfgott, official club reporter for the Enright Chapter, Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, breezes around and picks up a lot of interesting information about the members of her chapter. Here are some of the items she sent in yesterday:

We see where someone has been taking advantage of the Educator Maps given to club members. William Kennedy can name every state in the Union and can tell some interesting fact about each one. Smart boy! More of our members should study those tricky maps.

Louise Gerson, long a member of the club, wants to be a star dancer and win the plaudits of the public. She plans to go away to study and then hopes to return home in a big musical show as a featured performer.

Another member with dancing ambitions is Rita Margol. She has just decided to become a dancing instructress—and all of this since she started attending the club dancing school. So we do serve a laudable purpose!

Emma Jean Worth wants to apply Horace Greeley's advice to herself. She is going to be a country school teacher in the hills of the Golden West. She'll find that it isn't exactly like the story books, but every bit as romantic in its changed form.

Another member who excels at school is Ann Jackson. Her particular forte is in civics. She knows just why we have a government and what makes it go. She should tell a lot of people we could name—but won't!

We note that Bill Eiseman enjoys playing marbles. At least the expression in his eyes would indicate as much when he is participating in this good old American sport. He is quite proficient, too, as his competitors can attest.

Proof that the future of American business is secure. George Linnelli has already started making plans for the store he hopes to operate some day. He has it all figured out and says that he should make planty of profit.

An entertainer of note is Mary Catherine Quinn. She enjoys providing amusement for others and is highly successful. We wouldn't be at all surprised if she should become a great comedienne. Another Lady Peel!

Since Alvin Caplan announced his intention of becoming an aviator we hear that another of our friends is likewise airminded. It is Harold Leas and he has already started studying aero-mechanics. He's a deliberate youngster and should make good.

Blanche, Harold's sister, visualizes herself as a teacher. She prefers languages and especially French. Says that it is so romantic. Just imagine!

Next Saturday's costume parade at the Club Halloween Party will find diminutive Harold Wiggins as a bold, bad pirate of the high seas—cutlass and all! Even a big mustache to twist when he leers at his victims.

My, my, but our club has a lot of fliers! Irene Stein wants to be an aviatrix and make distance flights or trans-oceanic hops. Okay, big girl!

Ship ahoy! Mary Linnelli, one of our bashful maids, attended club Saturday morning attired in a smart sailor outfit.

We're getting wise, to all the costumes and should be able to name many of those costumed at the party next week.

Betty Siemon likes to munch candy and so does Dorothy Broudy. They were both on hand this morning armed with big candy suckers. Seventh heaven of delight!

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, date and year of your birth, school you attend to the secretary, Junior Komic Club, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed to you.

Congratulations to all the boys and girls who are members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club and who are celebrating their birthdays today.

HIGH LIFE IN NASHVILLE, MO.

(Nashville Item in the Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)

Sometime ago Mrs. Fannie Howerton's Sunday school class challenged the men's class for a contest, so they accepted. The loser was to stand treat. The contest went on for 12 months and when the time came to sum up the ladies was way ahead. So the men weren't in any hurry to pay. So last Wednesday night was set to have a social down at Crouch's, but the storm prevented us from having it. Some of the folks went down and made some cream anyway, so they decided to have the social Thursday night. There was quite a crowd out and several gallons of cream was made. Meredith had a fire made so they could warm by it. All left saying they all had a very pleasant time and they are wanting to challenge again.

DON'T VOTE FOR A HIGHBROW

"Highbrows," declares Congressman Frisby in a powerful plea to the voters, "disturb the delicate balance of government. They should and must be run out of high places. I ask as a personal favor that every voter at once send me $3.80 for a Frisby Cranial Meter, with which to take the measure of each and every candidate running for office. Confidentially, the angle of 75 degrees, from the bridge of the nose to the soft spot in the head, should prevail. No more. No less. This assures an easy-going, sociable and very agreeable candidate, if I do say so myself. Remember that 46 leading phrenologists have endorsed Frisby, and have souvenir cigars to prove it."

Roosevelt and the Navy

The Democratic Nominee Can Be Depended Upon to Maintain a Strong National Defense.

Today's observance of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday as Navy Day has a new meaning for the American people.

Theodore Roosevelt was not a "little Navy" man. His policy was at all times a powerful Navy. Out of that policy developed our historic policy of a Navy at all times "equal to the strongest."

That policy was established by Congress, reaffirmed by treaties and repeatedly indorsed by the American people at the polls. But under the Hoover administration our sound and patriotic policy has been scrapped in favor of a fatuous pacifism.

Under the Hoover administration, new naval construction has been halted, and thousands of skilled workmen have been added to the ranks of the jobless.

Foreign powers have been permitted to dictate the kind of ships we shall build for our own defense.

And with the American Navy sinking rapidly to third place among the naval powers of the world, the American people and their Congress have been grossly deceived as to our progressive decline in sea strength, and its hazardous effect upon foreign policies and upon the nation's safety.

This disgraceful chapter of neglect and naval deterioration will be ended next March, when the American people will have put another Roosevelt in the White House.

Ever since he entered public life as a young man, Franklin D. Roosevelt has emulated the example of his illustrious kinsman by urging upon his countrymen the imperative duty of maintaining a strong Navy as "the surest guarantee of peace."

Only the other day, in his eloquent address at Los Angeles, he said:

"I don't need to tell you, as former assistant secretary of the navy, that I thoroughly understand the great value of an adequate Navy toward commerce, not only in times of war but in times of peace."

Navy Day finds our people this year fully resolved to end the steady decline of the American Navy in both men and ships, and to begin its restoration to complete equality with the strongest foreign power in every class of combatant ships.

And during the next four years, in fulfillment of this high purpose, the American people will observe the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt as Navy Day with a new spirit and a new patriotism, under the quickening leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt as President and Commander-in-Chief.

Fulfill the Contract

The County's Delay in Purchasing the Town Hall Site Is Costly to the Taxpayers.

Losers in a fight, carried to the Supreme Court, to evade fulfillment of the contract to purchase the Schenley Farms site for the Town Hall, the County Commissioners have started new tactics in an effort to dodge their obligation.

But their hopes must have been chilled by Judge James R. Macfarlane's prompt decision in Common Pleas Court yesterday, overruling their plea to be allowed to ignore the agreement. They are given 15 days in which to show cause why they should not pay for the land.

The delay in completing the deal is costing the taxpayers of Allegheny County a pretty penny, for the Supreme Court directed that the county pay 6 per cent interest on the purchase price during the period in which it remains unpaid.

In view of the many reverses the County Commissioners have experienced in this matter, the sensible plan would be to drop the litigation, pay the money, and save the difference between 6 per cent and the interest on the bonds with which the property will be paid for. It would be the honorable course, too, for it is not a pretty thing to see the county trying to wriggle out of a contract whose validity has been upheld by the Supreme Court.

It may be out of the question to build the Town Hall now, but the county will not be able to do without one much longer if it is to continue to entertain such large bodies of people as turned out to hear Father James R. Cox at the Pitt Stadium and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Forbes Field.

We have been fortunate this year, thanks to an unprecedented drought, in having fair weather for our large outdoor meetings. But we cannot count on always having fair weather, and when it rains large gatherings will be impossible without the Town Hall, for Syria Mosque, our largest auditorium, seats only 3,850.

Local American Legion men are talking of inviting the Legion to hold its national convention in Pittsburgh in 1935. Can the Legionnaires be expected to hold their sessions in Forbes Field or the Stadium?

If Pittsburgh is to hold up its head in pride as a progressive city, it must have a Town Hall seating at least 15,000.

An Irresistible Tide

Alabama's Repeal of the Blue Law Portends Similar Action in Pennsylvania Soon.

The South believes in literal interpretation of religious doctrine and has made its laws conform. Witness the statutes in Tennessee and other southern states forbidding public institutions to teach the doctrine of evolution because, it is held, it conflicts with the Biblical story of the creation. Especially significant, therefore, is the action of the Alabama Legislature in repealing the Sabbath Blue Law over the veto of the Governor.

In legalizing Sunday movies, baseball, golf and tennis in its large cities the Alabama Legislature has yielded to an irresistible tide of public sentiment, which demands that people shall be allowed to enjoy innocent amusements on Sunday without interference by the police.

Alabama's action presages similar action in Pennsylvania, probably at the approaching session of the Legislature.

A Healthy Interest

The Public's Scrutiny of School Costs Will Tend to Check Extravagance.

The prospect now is that the city school tax rate will remain unchanged. The Board of Public Education has lopped $105,400 from the budget, but fears that if the millage were to be reduced it would end the year with a deficit, because of expected delinquencies in tax payments.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board apparently has failed, then, in its effort to save a little money for the taxpayers in this branch of the public business. Yet its efforts have not been wasted, for the Board of Education unquestionably will be more alert to check extravagance, now that its expenditures are being carefully scrutinized by the public.

AT SEA DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

AT SEA, Oct. 27.—In the smoking salon this afternoon some mug cracked the cultural glaze with a cheerful swing to ocean disasters. This loosens tongues for a fat crop of whoppers. But passes time. One slightly oiled Chicagoan claimed to have been on the Lusitania when she hit an iceberg on her maiden voyage.

According to his version, a bar steward was the real hero. He did more to calm the frightened than any other and went down with his ship. Water, he said, closed over one famous man and silenced his shrieks of terror. Another told of an unusual horror in the Indian Ocean.

He saw a Malay go suddenly berserk in a lifeboat, unsheath a dirk and slash three passengers to death. Emboldened, I told of crossing in the Olympic in a 75-mile constant gale. The bridge was actually swept away and I was fancying it up when my wife came along. And you know how it is!

A bright lady from Boston, with a rosy sweep of lips, who had been listening, said: "You gentlemen recall sea tragedies. May I relate something?" We were all ears. "This is my fifth voyage. On four of them I have had to don life belts and be taken off in lifeboats. I'm a terrible jinx."

Then flipping a cigaret end, yawned and walked off. Doubtless she was kidding, but people like that should not be allowed in smoking rooms. A woman's place is in the home! Later I passed her on deck. "I'll bet I broke up that meeting!" she jeered.

The regular captain is vacationing and a substitute is on the job. Not having seen the latter, I asked an under officer to describe the commandant. The prize grouch holds forth top deck, a dour curmudgeon with the face of a large placid pudding. A lady with Lillian Roth's berry-bright eyes and caught in the swirl of a cutting breeze, coquetted: "How does one keep out of this terrible wind?" He barked through the roar: "By staying in one's cabin!" That sort!

"That," he said, "was when all Americans were rich."

On this vessel, five years ago, our dining room steward—a blonde Phil Baker—made his first trip. He spoke only a few words of English. Now he's a deck chair steward with scarcely an accent. Said he: 'I picked it up reading American newspapers and listening to diners."

In the languor of an uneventful sea trip, inconsequentials at home loom with a startling importance. Last night during a sleepless stretch, gazing out a porthole at the rush of black obscurity, dazzled now and then by zig-zag stabs of lightning, I fretted about a desk-chair to be restuffed during my absence. I was in dark communion with grief over an awful realization the pleasant grooves from protracted sitting and which added so to the daily comfort, would be all ironed out.

A coffee-time story, supposed to be true, but I read it in a book, was of a bride crossing the Pacific on her honeymoon. Her husband pleaded a headache and left her with friends at a gala night. A few minutes later she quitted the party and in going through her corridor stiffened into a freeze of horror. She saw her husband's familiar figure turn into the cabin of a girl both met on board. She saw him draw the curtains, close and lock the door. After waiting an hour in her own cabin, she wiggled out a porthole. And, added the fibber: "She was one of my dearest friends:"

Nearing the juniper tang of New England shores, following weeks of duded-up foreign cooking, I find myself in the fell clutch of a baked bean fixation. They bring a souffle vanilla and I mince it gingerly, aching for a well-buttered and paprikaed spud at Dinty Moore's. And what a fool I could make of a double helping of marinated herring at Lindy's.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Here are 12 quotations from a woman's letter.

It was a long and, she thought, an unusual story of a wretched life—but it wasn't. Hundreds of letters like it come to this desk every day. I could have lifted those quotations from anyone's letter; from anyone's life; from my own life. For, sooner or later, we all say things like this. Sometimes we never say anything else.

"My life is so miserable."

"I am so undecided about everything. I never know just what I ought to do."

"If I could only make decisions and carry them through successfully, everything would be all right; but I can't."

"People take terrible advantage of me."

"My husband is openly unfaithful to me. He acts as if I didn't have any right."

"It isn't fair."

"I could sit down and cry, and cry, and cry."

"I keep thinking that things will change, somehow."

"Surely they can't go on like this forever."

"I feel so beaten. If I could only be filled with courage to face things."

"I envy people who have courage like that."

"I guess I'll just have to go on hoping."

Sounds familiar, doesn't it?

So often you've said such things yourself, sobbing and groping in a gray fog of bewilderment, not knowing what it was all about.

Yet, now that you see those same words on paper, they look very different, don't they? The story is so plain! You can see quite readily what it's all about. You want to tell the woman—

For, of course, it's perfectly plain that it is the woman's own fault. She's making her own tragedy.

"I NEVER KNOW WHAT TO DO."

"But why doesn't she?" you say. "It's up to her to know what to do. That's her business. Running her mind is her business. She can't expect other people to make up her mind for her!"

"PEOPLE TAKE ADVANTAGE OF ME."

"Of course they do!" you snort. "Such spinelessness! Why should people protect her if she won't protect herself. Why should her husband act as if she had rights, when she won't establish any?"

"IF I COULD ONLY BE FILLED WITH COURAGE!"

"Isn't that just like some people," you jeer. "Sitting around expecting someone else to supply them with a backbone. Envying other people because they have more character. Maybe she thinks they didn't work for their courage and good sense. She's lazy, that's all; too lazy to build a character for herself; and she's excusing it by a lot of self pity."

Yes, it's quite plain what ails this woman. You can see it in a glance, as you read her letter. And if she'd only follow your advice, her affairs would be fixed up in no time at all. That's what you're thinking, isn't it?

THEN WHY CAN'T YOU ANALYZE YOUR OWN PROBLEM AS QUICKLY? WHY CAN'T YOU SEE THAT IT'S UP TO YOU—AS IT'S UP TO HER—TO BOSS HER OWN LIFE AND DEFEND HER OWN RIGHTS?

WHY DON'T YOU FOLLOW YOUR OWN GOOD ADVICE?

Submitting to Mr. Ford Page From His History

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Henry Ford once admitted his ignorance of history and his inability to see any reason for it, anyway. The truth is Mr. Ford knows how to make automobiles and there are many things he does not know. But it seems a pity that he is not familiar with his own history. That, I am sure, Mr. Ford would think important.

If he knew anything about American history, the elemental meaning of what we started out to do in America when we attained our independence, he would know better than to assume the right to tell his employes how to vote. He might even find from an intelligent reading of our history that this sort of thing is un-American and altogether vicious and intolerable.

But, to get back to Mr. Ford's own history, of which he now is ignorant, he has just exhausted the superlatives on Mr. Hoover and the things he stands for—including the Grundy tariff. We wonder if Mr. Ford would enjoy reading what he said when it was pending, now that Mr. Hoover is complaining that the prohibitive act which has driven our best customers away and barred us from the markets of the world is not high enough.

Permit us, then, to give Mr. Ford a little lesson in the history of Mr. Ford.

'Who Wants Tariff!' Demanded Mr. Ford

On May 20, 1930, Mr. Ford told the Scripps-Howard press just what he thought of the Grundy act. It is juicy reading to put beside the speeches made in the last day or so by Mr. Ford's "miracle man" of the White House. For Mr. Ford really was outraged. This is what he said:

"I venture to predict that this bill is the last legislation of its kind anybody will ever try to get through Congress. The day when this country will stand for that sort of thing is past."

Now isn't that unfortunate, just now when Mr. Ford's idol is going to try to get something of the sort, only worse, "through Congress," regardless of whether "the country will stand for that sort of thing" or not?

Mr. Ford continued:

"Who wants this high tariff bill? We certainly don't. I think it would be highly educational to tell the public just who it is that does want it. The President does not want it. I am told that Congress does not want it. No up-to-date business man wants it. Who, then, is forcing it on the country?"

Grundy and Cohorts Demanded Tariff

Now this shows, as we have said, that, while Mr. Ford knows how to make automobiles, there are so many things he does not know that almost every schoolboy knows. At the time Mr. Ford was telling us "the President does not want it," it was the President who was using all the power of the presidential office to "force it on the country."

Hoover and Grundy!

Evidently Mr. Ford did not know about Grundy and his indignant reminder to the administration that he had "collected a million dollars from among his people for Mr. Hoover's election," and that, having bought something, his people were demanding the delivery of the goods.

Had Mr. Ford not been ignorant of the Grundy leadership, he would not have asked: "Who wants this high tariff?" He would have known.

Ford Knew Once, But Forgets Now

It was suggested that the Grundy prohibitive barrier against foreign trade would revive industry and cure unemployment. That is the sort of drivel that Mr. Hoover is now passing out despite the proof to the contrary. But in 1930 Mr. Ford apparently knew better, for he said:

"I say it will have precisely the reverse effect. It will stultify business and industry and increase unemployment. When you prevent your customers from purchasing your goods you are absolutely throwing men out of work."

Mere bosh, says Mr. Hoover; and "mere bosh," sycophantly echoes the Mr. Ford of 1932. It happens that it has stultified business and industry, destroyed our foreign markets and lost us billions in foreign trade, and thrown almost 3,000,000 men out of work. Everyone knows what Mr. Ford knew two years ago; but now that everyone knows it Mr. Ford prefers to plead ignorance.

Right, Mr. Ford! People Are Answering

Usually Mr. Ford seems stupendously ignorant when he ventures into fields other than his own of making automobiles, but strangely enough he really was intelligent in 1930. Thus he said:

"If Congress passes this bill, it will be iniquitous."

We thought so at the time, and now we know so, now that everyone but Mr. Ford and Mr. Hoover sees the effect. But the iniquity was almost prevented. Even Mr. Hoover's lobbying and blackjacking in the Senate could not prevent a notable refusal of Republicans to join in this "iniquitous" business, and the bill passed with a bare margin of two votes.

This "iniquitous" action was one of the few legislative triumphs of Mr. Ford's hero.

"The vast majority of the people are certainly opposed to it and will be hurt by it."

True, Mr. Ford—quite true! Most intelligent business men, most financiers, most publicists, three-fourths of the papers of all party persuasions and 1,000 leading economists were against it.

And everyone has been hurt by it.

But Mr. Hoover was for it, Mr. Ford, and he is for it now, and you are for him.

But, of course, you are a little rusty in your history of the Henry Ford of two years ago.

And Mr. Ford said more:

"It is just a final and belated effort on the part of a smal' group of men to have one last fruitful dig into the pockets of the masses."

Of course, it was a "smal' group"—not many—but Mr Grundy and his men were in it and Herbert Hoover carried their banner, and he carries it defiantly even now . . . But to continue with our history lesson for Mr Ford:

"And if it goes through, the people will assuredly be heard from."

Almost incredible is this wisdom from Mr. Ford, who is so seldom wise outside his limited sphere. They were "heard from" in 1930, and they will be "heard from" in 1932 on that, and also on Mr Ford's impudent attempt to vote his employes as though they were Chinese coolies in a stockade.

Ford Has Factories Beyond Tariff Range

But Mr. Ford was confident a such "iniquitous" thing would ever be "forced upon the people," for he continued:

"I do not for a moment doubt that the President will veto it the minute it gets on his desk."

And greater love hath no man, for everyone but Ford then knew Mr. Hoover was blackjacking the "iniquitous" measure through. So at times we are a bit dubious about accepting wisdom on public matters from Mr. Ford.

It is probable that Mr. Ford has concluded that while the "iniquitous" thing is injurious to the country, and knows it has stultified business and increased unemployment, it has not hurt that part of America known as Henry Ford. He has his branch factories beyond this American barrier against trade and thus is able to hold on to his foreign customers; and "cheap foreign labor" suits him perfectly. He may even "deliver it" in elections.

But, really, while "history is bunk," nothing is bunk that relates to Mr. Ford; and he really ought not fall down again on Mr. Ford's history.
